PRESIDENT DELIVERS HIS MESSAGE

Site For Federal Building Recommended To Engineer

SECOND, BUSH STREETS IS FIRST CHOICE

Committee Will Co-operate With Postmaster To Get Lowest Price Possible TO SPEND $250,000 Government Representative Suggests $50,000 For Purchase of Property

THE northwest corner of Second and Bush streets was recommended today by a special committee as the site for the proposed federal building in Santa Ana. The property belongs to the Vaughan estate and has not been submitted by the owner as a possible location for the building. The committee will co-operate with Postmaster T. E. Stephenson and W. A. Newman, engineer in charge of government buildings for the treasury department, in getting as low a price as possible on the holdings, and to present it to the government at a still lower price if financial co-operation can be had. The selection was made on the basis of the greatest convenience to the city and to the government. The committee was named at a meeting of representatives of the chamber of commerce, city council, planning commission and Santa Ana Realty board, the committee being composed of Col. S. H. Finley, Mayor Frank L. Purinton, City Councilman Homer C. Chaney, Planning Commissioner George Wells and J. P. Baumgartner. W. C. Jerome presided at the meeting and appointed the committee upon authorization by the conference. The selected property has a frontage of 200 feet on Bush street, extending from the Temple theater south to Second street, and 150 feet on Second street. In order to acquire the latter frontage on Second street it will be necessary to utilize the alley now running from Second to Third between Bush and Main streets, it was pointed out. Commenting at the conference, on the fact that in most communities free sites are given for a postoffice building, Newman said that he thought that possibly $50,000 would be available from the $250,000 appropriation for Santa Ana for use in the purchase of a site. The engineer suggested that in event the site finally chosen cannot be purchased.

RETRIAL NECESSARY IN GEM THEFT CASE

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 4.—(UP)—A retrial in the case of Harry (Toots) Grimes, charged with receiving stolen jewelry, was declared necessary when the jury emerged yesterday still hopelessly deadlocked. Judge Frank McDonough discharged the jury, and set the date of the new trial for January 8. On the last of the 41 ballots taken between Saturday afternoon and yesterday forenoon the jury was evenly divided as to the guilt of the young Denverite. Denver man about town, who was alleged to have given a "jewel shower" at a fashionable club following the $150,000 Salt Lake City gem robbery.

KING GEORGE PRESIDES OVER PRIVY COUNCIL

His Majesty Rallies and Signs Order Creating Royal Commission

By KEITH JONES (United Press Staff Correspondent) LONDON, Dec. 4.—King George VI. rallied sufficiently from his critical illness today to preside over a privy council and to sign an order-in-council creating a commission to carry on the royal functions while he is incapacitated. The Central News described the dramatic events of the morning at Buckingham palace, telling how the privy council was conducted to the king's bedroom, where its members remained about 10 minutes while the king signed the proclamation. The queen, although not a privy councillor, was present. It was said to have been the first time a privy council ever was held in the king's bedchamber. The king turned over his duties to a commission consisting of the queen, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chancellor and the Prime Minister. While His Majesty's condition still was a matter of concern, great optimism prevailed everywhere after the day's developments. His five physicians paid him an unexpected joint visit and issued a bulletin revealing that his fever had risen a little but that the slight improvement in his general condition was maintained. News of the appointment of the royal commission to act for the king was announced to an enthusiastic house of commons by Premier Stanley Baldwin. Meanwhile, the new archbishop of Canterbury, at his enthronement ceremonies in Canterbury cathedral, stirred a vast audience by announcing that the king had slept six hours during the night and adding, "although anxiety is not yet removed, we have good cause to be thankful." A crowd of 2000 watched the queen, accompanied by Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles, leave the palace in the morning to go motoring. It was noticed that the queen appeared brighter and less anxious than on previous occasions. Coupled with the fact that the queen did not leave the palace at all yesterday, it was taken as a good sign that the king was making progress.

GRAPE MEN SIGNING CONTRACTS FOR 1929

EXETER, Calif., Dec. 4.—(UP)—Signing by growers of contracts with the California Vineyardists' association for the marketing of next year's crop of Emperor grapes in Tulare county was going forward today, following an enthusiastic meeting here last night, at which Donald D. Conn, head of the association, explained in detail the marketing plan for 1929. Many of the 150 growers present signed contracts and efforts to obtain the signatures of 75 per cent of the vineyardists was being continued today.

S. F. BOOTLEG KING IN FEDERAL PRISON

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Joe Parente, known as San Francisco's "bootleg king," was back in McNeil's island federal prison today to stay until March, when he will return here to face trial on three rum running counts. Parente, who gained notoriety when he jumped a $40,000 bond after conviction in the Principio rum running case, was captured in Canada and sent to McNeil island. Last Wednesday he pleaded not guilty to the additional counts.

BRITTEN'S PLAN FOR ARMS CONFERENCE IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—The house naval affairs committee today unanimously supported Chairman Britten's proposal for a limitations of arms conference between the United States and Great Britain. It adopted a resolution by Representative Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, that the "committee reiterate its oft-expressed desire to extend the 5-5-3 ratio principle of the Washington agreement to all classes of naval ships." The resolution endorsing the arms limitation conference idea did not, however, carry with it actual endorsement of Britten's method of approaching premier Baldwin of England directly instead of through customary diplomatic channels. The endorsement resolution followed Britten's exposition of the Baldwin incident to the committee, together with disclosure of Baldwin's reply which Britten characterized as leaving the door open for a new conference. Representative Andrews, Republican, Massachusetts said adoption of the resolution would not impede the cruiser bill pending in the senate.

HOOVER VISITS PERU CAPITAL ON WEDNESDAY

President Elect Witnesses Boxing Match on Board Maryland Monday

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent) BOARD U. S. S. MARYLAND, Peru, Dec. 4.—President-elect Herbert Hoover spent much of his time today studying the history of Peru and Lima, its capital, which he will visit tomorrow. As the Maryland steamed southward along the Peruvian coast last night, Mr. Hoover spent the evening watching a boxing match. Roy Costner, a marine heavyweight, sparred several rounds with another heavyweight in preparation for the feature event of the week planned for Saturday when he will meet Bob Lambert, of Los Angeles. Lambert, a contender for navy heavyweight honors, once fought Jack Dempsey. Four other bouts and several vaudeville bills were furnished by the crew. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover sat on the quarter-deck and seemed to enjoy the performance. Special applause was won from the president-elect by the Maryland's "Al Jolson," Roddie Rodriguez, of New York City. Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Italy and South America, and Mrs. Hoover were guests of the ship's officers at dinner last night in the wardroom of the Maryland. Mrs. Hoover carried a notebook with her and several scraps of paper with various entries. There was some laughing debate among the officers as to what these were—for she delightfully referred to them during the meal and made frequent entries. Mrs. Hoover explained that she was busy cataloging the many gifts received in Ecuador during the call at Guayaquil. Mr. Hoover's mission of good will to Peru, which will begin as he steps ashore in Callao, port of Lima, tomorrow morning, comes four centuries after Pizarro came as a conqueror with fire and sword. Pizarro founded Lima, City of the Kings, in 1535. Much evidence of American influence will be found in this country.

QUAKE DEATH TOLL ESTIMATED AT 275

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 4.—(UP)—The death toll in the earthquake in Talca and Constitucion last week end mounted to an official total of 275 today. Relief was rushed to the stricken areas and communications were being restored rapidly. From Talquino came reports that inhabitants there believed the quake was caused by the activity of the Descabezado volcano. The mountain's plume of smoke is usually visible from the city, but there was no smoke and the tremors near the mountain said they heard heavy subterranean noises within the mountain. In Talca and Constitucion, health authorities found the greatest dangers exist in sanitary conditions. Common graves were dug for the bodies of the dead. Throughout the country, generous responses poured money into the fund established for the sufferers.

Liquor, Gambling Interests Blamed For 30 Shootings

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Evidence has been found linking at least 30 shootings, during the past two years, with activities of Philadelphia bootleg-gambling interests, it was revealed today by representatives of District Attorney John Monaghan's office. The revelation came after questioning of two men who, believed, played prominent parts in some of the more recent shootings. The chain of shootings, virtually all of a reprisal nature, according to the district attorney's representatives, was traced as far back as the murder of Joseph Zanchi and Vincent Cocozza on Memorial day, 1927.

NORTHCOTT IN CONFESSION OF FIVE MURDERS

Leads Officers to Desert In Effort to Locate Graves of Victims

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 4.—Casualty and almost without feeling, except for occasional outbursts of hysteria, Gordon Stewart Northcott led Riverside and Los Angeles officers through the Mojave desert today searching for places where he assertedly buried the bodies of youths he mistreated and then murdered. The young confessed slayer related details of nine murders and hinted at two others. Except for a two hour rest, Northcott and the officers kept to their hunt throughout the night and then returned again this morning. Northcott said he could not help but find the place where he buried the head of a young Mexican and the spot where bodies of other victims were interred. Sometime during the day, the searching group is scheduled to return here that Northcott may be

HOOPER MAY SEE BOLIVIA COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—President-elect Hoover may interrupt his southward progress aboard the battleship Maryland to receive a delegation from the government of Bolivia, according to dispatches received at the state department today. If the Bolivian delegation desires to see Hoover, the Maryland would stop for four hours either at Antofagasta, Chile, or at Molendo, Peru. It was understood, however, that no one would leave the Maryland between Callao, which is the port of Lima, capital of Peru, and Valparaiso, Chile.

Early Vote Is Hoped For By Bill Boosters

Both Sides Satisfied With Report of Commission And Its Findings

BULLETIN WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—A series of amendments to the Johnson Boulder dam bill were introduced in the senate today by Senator Phipps, Republican, Colorado. The amendment, Phipps announced, would carry out the recommendations of the Colorado river board of engineers. One would increase the amount authorized to $165,000,000 and another provided that the $25,000,000 for flood control would be repaid to the government from surplus revenues. BY EDWARD B. LOCKETT (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Armed with the engineers' report declaring the project feasible, proponents of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill today drew battle lines to bring the measure speedily to a vote. With the bitter taste of last season's filibuster still lingering, they served notice that when the senate settled down to grinding out legislation it would have to grind out Boulder dam first. "I shall call it up Wednesday at the latest," Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, co-author of the measure, declared today. "Some minor amendments will be necessary from the floor as a result of the engineers' report, however. I expect victory." Johnson and other supporters hoped to get action on the bill before Christmas holidays, and clear the senate calendar for other major legislation. Equally determined were the opponents of the measure, which would entail the expenditure of more than a hundred million dollars and provide a huge water reservoir for irrigation and power purposes. Both sides expressed satisfaction with the report of the special board of engineers appointed to examine sites and the feasibility of the dam. Johnson regarded it as highly favorable. Senator Smoot, of Utah, on the other hand, interpreted its suggested revisions as indicating the Swing-Johnson measure was unsound both economically and from an engineering standpoint. He fought it last session on the grounds

OFFICIAL HOPES TO AVOID SECOND TRIAL

STOCKTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Judge George F. Buck today had under consideration two pleas by which James Y. Coates, chairman of the San Joaquin county board of supervisors, hopes to escape another trial on charges of accepting bribes from a detective who posed as a rum runner. Coates, who was acquitted in a joint trial with Sheriff William H. Kieckhefer, pleaded "once in jeopardy" and "prior acquittal." Judge Buck said he would rule on the pleas before the start of the trial on December 10.

Former Official In Fresno Named On Fitts' Staff

FRESNO, Dec. 4.—(UP)—William E. Simpson, who for several years was city attorney of Fresno, was arranging his business affairs today preparatory to leaving for the south, where he will join the staff of Burton Fitts, district attorney of Los Angeles county. Simpson is to be employed as special counsel and may be called upon to participate in the prosecution of Asa Keyes, former district attorney, accused of irregularities in the conduct of his official duties.

Judge Guerin Takes Rap At Santa Ana

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(UP)—When pretty Parkie Arabelia Elizabeth Parker appeared in court today seeking an annulment of her marriage to Leland La Verne Parker, Superior Judge Walter Guerin knew instinctively she had been married in Santa Ana. "I have not read the complaint in this case but from looking at the plaintiff I deduce she was married in Santa Ana," the jurist stated. Griffith Jones, attorney for Mrs. Parker, could hardly believe his ears and wanted to know how the court guessed it. "The young lady's look led me to believe that she was under age," Judge Guerin explained. "I therefore deduced she was seeking an annulment. During my five years on the bench I have learned that the majority of couples who marry under age and then seek annulment were married in Santa Ana. That town seems to associate itself in mind with youthful marriages like Colorado does of the Grand Canyon." Mrs. Parker was granted an annulment.

M'NARY-HAUGEN BILL IS AGAIN BEFORE SENATE

Farm Relief Bill Without Equalization Fee Is Introduced Today

BY KENNETH G. CRAWFORD (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The old McNary-Haugen farm relief bill with the equalization fee removed and a few new provisions added was introduced in the senate today by Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon. It provides for creation of a federal farm board with a revolving fund of $300,000,000 to finance surplus crop disposal and to promote orderly marketing of agricultural products. The board would be authorized to loan money to stabilization corporations made up of co-operators and other farm organizations and to create advisory councils for each agricultural commodity handled by the corporations. The corporations, under this plan, would bear any losses in marketing their surpluses. Only the expense of running the machinery of the bill would be borne by the federal government. Under the old McNary-Haugen bill twice vetoed by President Coolidge, the government agency itself would have handled the surplus in times of emergency and where losses were incurred would have levied a fee from producers to reimburse the national treasury. The new bill is based on the theory that the stabilization corporations themselves can handle any surplus and that no emergency requiring government handling will arise. "Stabilization corporations are at heart of the plan," McNary said in a statement. "Through these corporations, owned and controlled by cooperative associations and other organizations of producers, the seasonal or year's total surpluses will be handled for the benefit of all producers, without putting on members of the cooperatives more than their fair share of the cost and responsibility in handling surplus crops. "This plan goes beyond the old idea of merely loaning money to co-operative marketing associations, the corporations are authorized to handle as much of the surplus as may be necessary to orderly marketing, whether the products handled are produced by members of the co-operatives or by others." The board, which the bill would empower to administer the plan, would have six members appointed by the president with the approval of the senate and the secretary of agriculture. Advisory councils would be composed of seven members selected by the board. The bill also would provide other methods of encouraging the co-operative movement. It could lend money to individual co-operatives and help provide price insurance to farmers.

WARNS CONGRESS NOT TO GO ON SPENDING SPREE; NATION IS PROSPEROUS

Never Have Times Been Better Says Coolidge In Final Address to Seventieth Congress Today

KELLOGG TREATY IS LAUDED

By GEORGE R. HOLMES (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—"No congress ever assembled has met with a more pleasing prospect than that which appears at the present time. The country can regard the present with satisfaction and anticipate the future with optimism." Thus plainly and simply, without any flourishes, did Calvin Coolidge sum up the state of the union today in his valedictory report to the congress that goes out of office with him three months hence.

Day In Congress

(By United Press) SENATE: Meets to hear President's message. HOUSE: Meets to hear president's message. Naval affairs committee meets to hear Prime Minister Baldwin's reply to Rep. Britten on a proposed limitations of arms conference. Appropriation subcommittee on war, state, justice, commerce and labor department bills meets. Interstate commerce committee hearing on railroad unification.

BOULDER STAND OF PRESIDENT IS FAVORABLE

Message of President, However, Causes Plenty of Consternation

BY PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—President Coolidge's annual message raised as much consternation in congress today as it had been a rhetorical bombshell. The private comment was more significant than the public statements of senators and congressmen but there was plenty of both indicating that the message would result in delaying definitely farm relief legislation until Mr. Coolidge retires March 4, so the next farm bill could be handled by his successor in the White House. It was considered significant too that the president avoided any reference to the historic Republican

LUMBER SCHOONER CRASHES INTO ROCK

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 4.—(INS)—With her steering apparatus and two air tanks damaged, the lumber schooner Samoa was attempting to make port early today after going on the rock at the entrance of Tillamook Bay, off the Oregon coast. The vessel, carrying a crew of 30 officers and men, has requested nearby ships to stand by in case aid is required.

Former Director Of Mints Marries Mrs. J. H. Cromwell

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Mrs. James H. R. Cromwell, the former Delphine Dodge, of Detroit, was married this afternoon to Raymond T. Baker, former director of mints. The ceremony was performed in the apartment of Mrs. Cromwell's mother, Mrs. Hugh Dillman, at the Ambassador hotel. The Rev. W. George Holmes performed the ceremony.

Stresses Economy

The president left one solemn warning with congress and the country. It was this: "Watch your spending." Time and again he returned to his favorite theme of economy. He admonished congress against going on any appropriation spree, and said if it did it meant a deficit and an unbalanced budget. "I am certain," he said, "that the congress would not pass and I should not feel warranted in approving legislation which would involve us in that financial disgrace." That was tantamount to saying that even if congress does exceed the speed limit on spending at this lame-duck session, he will apply the brakes with vetoes. Nowhere in the nearly 10,000 words that comprised this last annual message from Calvin Coolidge did he mention his own impending retirement, nor the administration that will succeed him after March 4. There was not even a hint, nor an indirect reference to the campaign and its momentous results. Mr. Coolidge merely rendered an account of his own stewardship, and accompanied it with some general observations about the future conduct of the business much as a chairman of a board of directors might do at any annual meeting. On his own account, Mr. Coolidge proposed no new legislation. For the most part he travelled over the same subjects and made the same recommendations in this, his final message, as he did in his previous messages on the opening of congress. He reported that the Pan-American conference at Havana last winter was successful; he told about sending the marines to Nicaragua, and how they established order and procured a fair presidential election; he said

She sent the cablegram to Curtis Melnitz, Berlin representative of United Artists, after Melnitz had informed her that Jamie was near death. Jamie Del Rio, a writer, became ill while traveling through Berlin recently. He was operated on and septic poisoning developed. He rallied somewhat today but doctors reported his condition most critical.

Birch Oil, County Compromise After 12-Year Battle

$300,000 TAX ASSESSMENT IS AGREED UPON

One of the longest and hardest fought court battles on taxes in the history of California, a lawsuit which has traveled from one court to another since 1916, came to an end today just as it was about to return to a superior court here for still another hearing.

Following a conference between Chief Deputy District Attorney L. L. Blodgett, representing Orange county, and Attorney L. A. West and Clyde Shoemaker, representing the Birch Oil company, it was announced that an agreement had been reached whereby the company's 1916 assessment on oil property in the county would be set at $300,000, a figure suggested by the county.

The company had proposed a $100,000 assessment in an attempt to compromise the controversy over an assessment of $800,000, made in 1916. The board of supervisors, before whom the matter rested at that time, refused to accept this figure and it was thought inevitable that the matter would be up for trial again. It was scheduled for a hearing today before Superior Judge E. J. Marks.

Several months ago the district court of appeals sent the matter back to Orange county for a new trial after ruling that the $800,000 assessment was too high.

The board of supervisors approved the settlement today, thus ending all litigation between the county and the Birch Oil company.

PRESIDENT IN SPEECH WARNS CONGRESSMEN

Chile and Peru were patching up their differences over Tacna-Arica; he declared, with obvious satisfaction, that relations with Mexico are better than they have been since the Madero revolution; he said recognition had been extended to the nationalist government in China; and that things were on the up there; he suggested that congress be generous in dealing with the Austrian and Greek debts; and finally he recommended the prompt ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty.

Praises Treaty

"The observance of this covenant, so simple and straightforward," he said of the Kellogg treaty; "Promises more for the peace of the world than any other agreement ever negotiated among the nations."

Then, turning to domestic affairs, he urged congress to pass the new cruiser bill, designed to overcome the navy's lack of fast, modern cruisers; said the world war veterans were being well cared for and warned against any much greater outlay of money on this score; said agriculture was getting better and that the government should continue to aid in such ways as it could without "going into business"; reported fine progress in the development of commercial aviation; proposed for the fifth straight year that congress do something about facilitating railroad consolidation; urged again that the government encourage highway development into the central American republics on the south; endorsed extension of the air mail service to that region, too; declared the heavy expenditures entailed in the Mississippi flood control work precluded any large appropriations for rivers and harbors work; and, after endorsing the Boulder dam development in general terms, left it to congress.

Going on, he said congress should do something about Muscle Shoals, but reiterated his opposition to the government trying to operate the plant; proposed some slight modification of the immigration laws; reported that wages for labor were notably higher; reported on the status of the federal building program throughout the country, dealt with a variety of smaller problems, and on prohibition had this to say:

"The country has duly adopted the eighteenth amendment. Those who object to it have the right to advocate its modification or repeal. Meantime, it is binding upon the national and state governments and all our inhabitants. The federal enforcement bureau is making every effort to prevent violations....Under the terms of the constitution, however, the obligation is equally on the states to exercise the power which they have through the executive, legislative, judicial and police branches of their governments in behalf of enforcement. The federal government is doing and will continue to do all it can in this direction and is entitled to the active cooperation of the states."

Warning Issued

He concluded with a warning to the country not to become slothful and selfish "in the midst of an era of prosperity more extensive and of peace more permanent than it was ever before experienced."

"Having reached this position," he said, "we should not fail to comprehend that it can easily be lost. We shall not be permitted to take our ease, but shall continue to be required to spend our days in unremitting toil. The actions of the government must command the confidence of the country. Without this, our prosperity would be lost. We must extend to other countries the largest measure of generosity, moderation and patience. In addition to dealing justly, we can well afford to walk humbly."

"The end of government is to keep open the opportunity for a more abundant life. Peace and prosperity are not finalities; they are only methods. It is too easy under their influence for a nation to become selfish and degenerate. This test has come to the United States. Our country has been provided with the resources with which it can enlarge its intellectual, moral and spiritual life. The issue is in the hands of the people. Our faith in man and God is the justification for the belief in our continuing success."

TWO ORANGE MEN HURT IN COLLISION

Two Orange men, Norman Wood and F. H. Johnson, were injured in an automobile accident at 7:45 a. m., today, near Anaheim, when their truck and a car driven by Byron Dahl, of Anaheim, collided at the intersection of Brookhurst avenue and Ball road.

Johnson, who lives at 181 North Center street, Orange, suffered serious head injuries and is in the Anaheim hospital. Wood was bruised, but was able to return to his home at 171 North Center street, Orange. Dahl, who lives at 504 West South street, Anaheim, was not injured, according to reports.

Both Wood and Johnson are employed by the McFadden-Dale Hardware company, of Santa Ana.

can tariff policy or to the revision upward proposed for the relief of agriculture. Some attributed his avoidance of the subject to the presence of President-elect Hoover in South America where the proposed agricultural tariff has been assailed bitterly as an effort to place an embargo on South American goods.

After conferring with President Coolidge at the White House to ascertain what the president meant by the suggestion to leave power in the Boulder dam project to development by private enterprise, Senator Johnson, author of the measure, said he interpreted the message as distinctly favorable to his bill.

The president's position on the naval cruiser bill had a bewildering effect upon sponsors of this legislative proposal. Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee refused comment on the president's request for elimination of the three year time limit proposed for building 15 new naval cruisers.

Warning of the president against additional appropriations was taken as a warning against any new "spending spree," rather than an effort to curtail the present legislative program.

The public comments follow:

Farm Relief

Norris, Republican, Nebraska: "He shows more plainly than he has ever shown before that he is opposed to any practical relief for the farmer. He is not willing to spend any federal money in this direction. The only thing the government will do is give them advice."

McNary, Repn., chairman of senate agriculture committee: "His reference to farm relief, I believe is covered by the new bill I introduced in the senate today."

Haugen, Repn., chairman house agriculture committee: "It is very good as far as it goes, but in the opinion of many, the tariff should be made effective to the farmer, which so far as is known, can only be done by the equalization fee method."

Naval Cruiser Building

Hale, Republican, chairman senate naval committee: "I am very much pleased with what the president had to say about building up the navy. The cruiser bill is most imperative legislation." (Refused comment on time limitation feature.)

Britten, Repn., chairman house naval committee: "His message is an announcement to the world that the American navy shall be second to none through strictly defensive and in no sense to be construed as militaristic or competitive."

Boulder Dam

Senator Johnson: "The president's message is distinctly favorable to our bill. Not only have we the past utterances of the president but now with a resume of the new engineering commission's report before him, the president definitely recommends our measure. Our opponents pretended to find some consolation in the statement in the measure that the electrical field should be left to private enterprise; but this cannot of course be construed to prohibit the state, the cities or political subdivisions from exercising their preferential rights of power. The federal waterpower act so provides for such preferential rights, our bill makes this plain; and nothing in the message in any way affects these rights."

"The senate bill accords the government the option of constructing a generating plant. This provision was inserted at the instance of the administration. It is the government's means of protection. With this provision, as I view it, the bill is not only satisfactory to, but is approved by the administration."

Smoot, Rep., chairman of Senate Finance Committee—"The president's warning against new expenditures must be followed if a balanced budget is to be maintained. It will not interfere with the regular legislative program but it should prevent any new ideas for new government expenses."

Norris—"The president is more liberal with the shipping trust (than with the farmers), and he speaks with praise of the ship subsidy law which authorizes the sale of government ships and the loaning of government money to ship owners. He speaks with a great deal of self-praise and satisfaction of the war his administration has carried on in Nicaragua. He points with satisfaction to the fact that the election held under the bayonets of our armed forces was a fair one, and adds that our government has already been invited to supervise the next election. He condemns congressional action on Muscle Shoals and says this great project must be sold or leased to private corporations, which everybody knows will mean the power trust. He utters no word of criticism against the power trust and the policies advocated in the message will be hailed with delight by that trust and all those who favor the turning over of the national resources to private corporations for private gain."

WHOLESALE ACCIDENTS

GREENVILLE, Tex., Dec. 4.—(UP)—Within one week Ernest Doan, 2 years old, lost a finger in a binder, lost a patch of scalp when kicked by a mule and escaped injury in an automobile accident while he was being hurried to the hospital after the mule's attack.

Institute Is Told Overproduction Of Oil Weakens Price

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Stressing in an address that overproduction of fuel oil in this country will weaken the price structure of this product, Axtell J. Byles, vice president of the American Petroleum institute, opened the annual meeting of the institute here today with a plea for rationalization of the production.

Byles cited statistics in the years 1926 and 1927 which, he said, indicated there was considerable overproduction. This resulted in drastic price cuts in those years and gave rise to a prolonged depression from which the industry is now attempting to emerge.

Byles stated he believed the solution of the problem lay in keeping fuel oil in the ground and not in storage, where it could be obtained whenever needed by current demands. This would ensure stabilization of the price.

EARLY VOTE IS HOPED FOR BY BILL BOOSTERS

the dam was unsafe and too expensive.

Senator Ashurst, (D) of Arizona, who last summer led the filibuster against Boulder dam, has not yet divulged the tactics he will adopt this session in the renewal of his fight against the measure. The group which he heads believes it has enough ammunition to defeat the measure, or at least to block action on it. They indicated a filibuster would not be resorted to unless it was seen the bill would carry in a vote. However, the desks of Ashurst and others were piled high with armfuls of reading matter relating to the project.

Smoot, in a statement after reading the engineers' report, pointed to an upward revision in the cost estimates of Boulder dam and to a paragraph declaring present plans for diversion of flood water of the Colorado river during construction imposed undue risk on workers and inhabitants living below in Boulder canyon.

"The report of this board of engineers sustains and confirms the main criticism against this project," he said.

DAM REPORT GETS SENATOR'S APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Senator Phipps, Republican, Colorado, said at the White House today he was highly pleased with the recommendations made by the engineering board of the Boulder dam project.

Phipps conferred with President Coolidge on the report, which he characterized as "very conservative."

While the engineers estimated a higher cost for the project, Phipps said, their figure was not insurmountable. He said he favored the Black canyon site, recommended by the board.

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, another caller at the White House, also discussed the Boulder dam project with the president, but declined to say what transpired at the conference.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—A 24-bottle man appeared in police court in Mansfield, Nottinghamshire. Charged with being drunk and disorderly, he told the court he would plead guilty to half the charge. "I had twenty-four bottles of strong beer," the defendant said, "but I was certainly not drunk."

ASTHMA-SERA ENDS ASTHMA

That's a broad statement, but it is one backed up by facts, and by letters from thousands upon thousands of men and women, now in our files. Some say they were cured in a week—some in a month—some longer—but all of them report the same thing.

ASTHMA STOPPED!

Asthma-Sera is the talk of the nation—wherever you find people afflicted with Asthma or Bronchitis, there you will find people who have used Asthma-Sera with highly satisfactory results—and there you will find people who will urge you to take Asthma-Sera and become, like they are, FOREVER FREE FROM ASTHMA.

And all it takes to find out the TRUE FACTS about this wonder remedy is the little effort required to tear out this ad and send with your name and address to M. S. Clark Bacon, agent for R. M. B. Laboratories, Inc., Dept. C-3, 247 North Record St., Los Angeles, Calif. Phone Angelus 1349.

HOOVER VISITS PERU CAPITAL ON WEDNESDAY

try whose president, Augusto B. Leguia, has followed a policy of close, friendly relations with the United States.

A United States naval mission has been in Peru for several years instructing the Peruvian navy. A member of this mission, Captain G. S. Abbott, is on board the escorting Peruvian cruiser "Almirante Grau."

The president-elect's study of Lima reveals it to be a modern city of 200,000 population with many evidences of the ancient Spanish occupation in the Moorish Plaza De Armas laid out by Pizarro.

Arriving at Callao with an escort of airplanes and naval craft, the Maryland will be ready for reception programs about 9 a. m., tomorrow.

The foreign minister of Peru and other officials will greet Mr. Hoover on board the battleship and the party will then make its way ashore where it will be received by the mayor of Callao.

Mr. Hoover will then be taken over the 10 miles of boulevard to Lima, going directly to the American embassy.

President Leguia, of Peru, will receive the United States president-elect at 11 a. m., and all will return to the embassy for a luncheon.

The mayor and municipal officials of Lima will accompany the Hoover party to a reception given by the American society at the Country club at 3:30 p. m., and the Engineers' club will hold a reception at 5 p. m.

The presidential palace will be the scene of a formal dinner at 8:30 p. m., followed by a reception. The party will return to the Maryland in time to depart for Chile at midnight—probably for Antofagasta.

COURT THROWS OUT DEMURRER TO INDICTMENT

Superior Judge H. G. Ames today denied bail to J. W. Montgomery, 55, special officer at the California Gun club, who pleaded not guilty to a double murder indictment by the Orange county grand jury, in which he is charged with murdering John D. Callcott, 40, and Orrie R. Mahon, 40, of Sunset Beach.

Montgomery is believed to be planning self defense as his justification for the killing. He said that Mahon and Callcott shot at him just before he killed them. In denying the motion for bail Judge Ames recalled that the grand jury examination record showed that "testimony as to the course of the bullet" which killed one of the men "indicated that the person was in a stooping position when shot."

Demurrer Overruled

The court heard Montgomery's plea to the two murder counts after he had overruled a demurrer to the grand jury indictment, filed by L. A. West and B. Z. McKinney, defendant's counsel.

Montgomery's trial was set for December 19, at 9:30 a. m., with Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett estimating that the hearing will require about two days.

In arguing on the demurrer today McKinney asserted that the indictment is not sufficient to accuse Montgomery of murder because it does not specify that the gun club man killed Callcott and Mahon with malice aforethought. He argued that the indictment is a recitation by the district attorney and not by the grand jury.

Blodgett referred to an amendment to the penal code which, he contended, made the indictment sufficient and legal. He also pointed out that the defendant was accused "by the grand jury by this indictment" that it was signed by B. V. Curry, the foreman and that it was presented in open court by the grand jury.

In ruling on the matter, Judge Ames stated that "criticism of the indictment by defendant's counsel appears to me to be unfounded." He pointed out that an amendment to section 951 of the penal code made it sufficient to allege that the crime of murder was committed. There was no merit, he pointed out, to the contention that the indictment was merely an indirect accusation through the district attorney.

In arguing that Montgomery should be admitted to bail, West declared that the transcript of the record of testimony before the grand jury showed that Montgomery was guilty only of justifiable homicide. The proof of the crime of murder was not evident and the presumption was not great, he alleged, and contended that although possibly a capital offense, it was admissible to bail.

Blodgett argued that Montgomery is guilty of a double murder in cold blood.

FLU SITUATION SHOWS SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

Slight improvement in the Orange county influenza situation was noted today with the announcement, by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, that 137 cases of the disease had been reported to his office in the last 24 hours. The largest number of cases was reported from Placentia, but this report included cases which covered the last 10 days and it is possible that many of them now have recovered, Dr. Sutherland pointed out.

By cities the reports were as follows:

Santa Ana, 20; Placentia, 60; Yorba Linda, 21; Brea, three; Orange, two; Anaheim, six; Fullerton, 15; Garden Grove, one; La Habra, one; Westminster, three; Costa Mesa, one.

Reports from Orange today indicated that the necessity of closing schools there had been averted to day when the attendance was on the increase.

Tustin high school is in operation again and attendance yesterday was 300. There were 16 pupils and one teacher absent. In Anaheim, Brea and Buena Park pupils were to report yesterday after short vacations. Santa Ana schools will remain closed until December 10.

Three deaths from "flu" were reported today from La Habra.

YEAR'S PROBATION IS GRANTED WOMAN

Josefina Elias, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of adultery and had asked probation, was granted it today by Superior Judge H. G. Ames. Pronouncement of judgment was suspended for one year.

The report of the probation department indicated that the woman had run away from her aged husband in order to escape his alleged cruel treatment. She is said to have found refuge with another man and his mother. The court ordered that she remain in the home of an Olive family. She is said to be seeking divorce. It is expected that she will marry the man who is said to have given her protection.

Big Game Is Aid To Cupid's Wiles

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—(UP)—If there is any discord in the household of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Levin the chances are 10 to 1 the sparks will fly each autumn at the time California meets Stanford in the annual "big game."

At this year's contest Miss Yetta Haber, Santa Cruz beauty prize winner, and Levin sat side by side, Miss Haber cheered lustily for California and Levin, a Stanford graduate, whooped for the Cardinals.

And when the historic battle ended in a 13 to 13 tie the couple left the stadium and were married.

Mexican Removed From Hospital To Jail For Quizzing

A Ruiz, Delhi Mexican, who was cut and bruised when his automobile turned over near Delhi, last Saturday night, was removed from the Orange County hospital to the county jail yesterday afternoon and is being held for investigation. Officers stated that they were of the opinion that Ruiz had been drinking. They may charge him with reckless driving.

SANTIAGO WILL DOUBLE ORANGE PACKING PLANT

Operating facilities of the Santiago Orange Growers' association will be doubled within the immediate future following unanimous action taken by its membership today in voting to incur an indebtedness not to exceed $175,000 for the construction of additions to its packing plant, pre-cooling rooms and ice plant at Orange.

Eighty per cent of the membership of the association, which is the oldest growers' organization in Orange county and one of the oldest in the state, was represented at the session. The association was established in 1932.

Enlargement of the association's plant is for the purpose of providing additional facilities for the present membership, it was emphasized. There is no intention now of taking in new members, it was stated. The association handles fruit from approximately 4000 acres whereas in 1924 the acreage was approximately 3000. This increase is represented by additional property acquired by members or new set acreage.

Ed Dierker, of Orange, is president of the association. C. F. Boyer, of Tustin, is vice-president and J. Roy Smith, San Juan Capistrano, is second vice-president. R. E. Gross, Orange, is secretary-manager. Directors, in addition to the officers, are H. A. Brown, E. E. Campbell, William Feldner and George Schnackenberg, all of Orange.

FIRESTONE IS HOST TO HUGE THROG TODAY

One thousand prominent residents of Southern California were guests today at the magnificent new Firestone tire factory at South Gate and heard talks by a number of leading industrial leaders.

Among those who spoke at the luncheon were Sherman Crandall, vice president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; R. F. McClellan, Los Angeles county supervisor; J. Bonelli, president of the Los Angeles city council; Capt. Robert Dollar, steamship magnate; Russell Firestone, vice president of the Western Firestone Tire company; J. W. Thomas, vice president of the parent company.

The plant has a capacity of 7500 tires and 9000 tubes daily and employs between 700 and 800 men.

On Wednesday, civic clubs will meet at luncheon at the new plant, and will be conducted on a tour of inspection. The following day will bring together the leading automobile dealers, operators and tire dealers of the district, who will also have an opportunity to see all departments of the factory in operation.

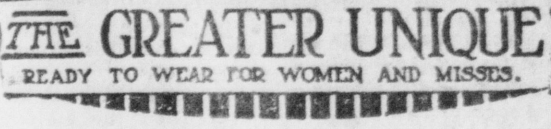

On Friday and Saturday, the concluding days of the program, Firestone branch managers from 10 western states and 23 branches and warehouses, together with the salesmen and dealers of the district, will gather with company officials in an important sales convention, to discuss the new Firestone plans and policies for 1929.

The opening of the new Firestone plant marks an epoch not only for the tire industry at large, but for the western motorist, who, through the economies effected by this great, new modern tire factory, at his door will naturally be able to get even better service and greater values than ever before.

Plant engineers and tire experts who have visited the new Firestone factory characterize it as a model of efficiency for the entire industry. All its equipment represents new achievements from both a mechanical and tire building standpoint. Visitors have been amazed at the quickness and exactness with which a Firestone tire, through its multitudinous operations and inspections, can be produced.

PROPOSED BAN ON OIL AT H. B. STRIKES SNAG

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 4.—Protests were heard at a meeting of the city council here last night against the creation of a residential zone in the city where the drilling of oil wells would be prohibited. The protests were the outcome of a resolution passed by members of the city council sitting in executive session about a week ago, favoring such a zone.

The resolution gave potential boundaries of the district as between Eleventh and First streets and provided for placing the resolution before the chamber of commerce, the city council and the Business Men's association to secure a sentiment regarding the proposed district. The resolution was passed at the executive session by a vote of four to one.

On a motion to adopt the resolution at last night's meeting of the council, a verbal protest was entered by C. W. Patrick, resident of the east side of the city. A number of residents from this part of the city were present and expressed their disapproval of the proposed measure. Following verbal protests a petition opposing such action, with 200 names attached, was presented to the council. The petition was one that was prepared last August.

The resolution to bring the matter to the attention of the chamber of commerce and the Business Men's association was passed over the protests by a vote of four to one. Mayor Bowen explained to those present that the resolution was not to force restrictions on any district and would not affect any of those present, none of whom lived in the proposed zone. He stated that the action had been started at the request of those living between Eleventh and First streets.

According to a report presented to the council, the chamber of commerce, anticipating the move of the council, passed a resolution at its meeting yesterday noon to make a complete canvass of the members of the chamber regarding their sentiments. A straw vote will be taken on the matter and the result reported to the council.

The resolution will be considered at a meeting of the Business Men's association at its meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The recommendations of both bodies will be brought before the city council for further action at an adjourned meeting the evening of December 17.

WILL LEAVES BROTHERS AND SISTERS NOTHING BUT LOVE

The will of the late John Dalton Flaughner, of Huntington Beach, who died November 14 at the age of 85, was filed for probate today. To three brothers and five sisters Flaughner left nothing but love and affection. The will, however, pointed out that all but two of them were dead.

Elsie Lillian Wilson, of Huntington Beach, a daughter of Flaughner's nephew, Chilton C. Wilson, of that city, was made sole heir to the property, which is valued at $2500.

In paragraphs devoted to each brother and sister, Flaughner pointed out that he believed most of them to be dead.

"I have intentionally omitted to provide for my brothers and sisters, their heirs and kin, including those now living and those hereafter born," Flaughner said in his will. One brother, Joseph, and one sister, Kittie, were believed to be living; the will said. All were left love and affection.

A. J. Thedieck, Huntington Beach attorney, and Bert W. Hardy, of Huntington Beach, were named as executors.

GIVEN 250 DAYS FOR WILD DRIVING

Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, Emory F. Crepeau, 35, of 1315 West Ninth street, Los Angeles, was sentenced to serve 250 days in the county jail or pay a fine of $250 in Judge D. L. McCharles Tustin court yesterday afternoon.

He had not paid the fine late today and was in the county jail. Crepeau, who is a title insurance company examiner, was arrested by Officers Adams and Craig on the state highway, near Tustin, Sunday night. He was driving his automobile while under the influence of liquor, according to a report made by the arresting officers.

Editor Register: I read the letter of Mr. Robert Speed. Also the verse in question of Tom's. I vote for Tom. He may be an iconoclast but I like his trenchant wit. Anyhow, I am not squeamish.

It is just possible that the loss of state funds based on average daily attendance was the impelling motive for closing the schools. Possibly also the boards felt the crowds in picture shows and stores were even a more potent source of the flu than school classes (with modern ventilation.)

Many children had already recovered from the flu and their parents were sorry to see school close, thereby extending the term farther into the summer.

I happen to be a parent, a high school trustee and a victim of the flu, notwithstanding all of which I want to state that I surely enjoy his satire and humor.

Yours,
WINTHROP BOWEN.

The annual membership drive of the Orange County Farm bureau was launched at an enthusiastic dinner meeting last night at the fair grounds and today chairman of farm center committees are canvassing this section in an effort to boost the membership to the 2000 mark.

John Ragan, of Villa Park, was chairman of the session.

Louis Livingston, western representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker. He was followed by John Osterman, president of the Orange County Farm bureau, and by Norman M. Blaney, secretary. Blaney outlined the year's activities and projects planned for the future. INVESTMENT IN Y. M. C. A. DRAWS HIGH DIVIDENDS

"I have made many investments in my life, but none that ever gave me more satisfaction, or paid higher dividends, than the investment that I made in this Y. M. C. A. building," said N. H. Leonard, of Santa Ana, in a short address at the Y. M. C. A. meeting last night. "It pays dividends in what it does for boys and young men, in building character that will stand for the right."

Leonard spoke on the need for conservation of our natural resources, particularly in view of the increasing demands on the water supply, and quoted the statement of the forest rangers to the effect that 85 per cent of the forest fires are caused directly or indirectly by the carelessness of smokers.

State Secretary Harry O. Hill, of Los Angeles, made a short report on the recent meeting of the national council, in Chicago, describing especially the great dinner held in honor of Dr. John R. Mott on the occasion of his retirement from the general secretaryship of the national council of the Y. M. C. A., in which Dr. Mott was highly honored by a host of notables.

First reading was given to an amendment to the constitution of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., providing for a change in the method of electing directors. Under the constitution as it now stands, 15 directors are elected each year for a term of one year. The amendment provides for the election of five men each year for a term of three years.

The new plan of "co-operative" memberships was presented and plans for a general membership campaign to be conducted in January, were discussed.

The next general Y. M. C. A. meeting will be held on the third Tuesday in January and will be the annual meeting of the association.

Napoleon Bonaparte's career, with its thundering battle climaxes, its stormy loves, dreams of empire and "topless towers" of ambition, will occupy The Everyready Hour tonight on the NBC network, re-broadcast by KFI. The program will open at 6 p. m. coast time.

Lionel Atwill, flanked by a cast of professional talent, which will include Selena Royle and Rosaline Greene, will enact the role of the great Corsican. Selena Royle will play the part of Marie, Countess Walewska and Rosaline Greene will be Josephine, Bonaparte's first bride.

Within the space of an hour the necessarily condensed dialogue will unfold like a kaleidoscope the whole colorful drama of the mighty Emperor of the French.

RESPONSE TO INTERFERENCE DRIVE GROWING

BY THE RADIO EDITOR

Interference again was the all-absorbing topic of discussion, yesterday noon, when the Radio Dealers' association of Santa Ana met for luncheon in the Home cafe—and the dealers were quite enthusiastic over the effort now underway to eliminate the noise.

The committee on membership reported that the dealers in Santa Ana were showing a pleasing response to the drive to make them members of the Radio Trades Association of Southern California for such a step, they realize, will enable them to obtain the co-operation of the association and its engineer toward elimination of interference here.

The interference committee reported that it expects to complete, within the next few days, an interference detector radio receiver with which it will make a survey of the city. When this survey is completed, the questionnaires submitted to the Radio Editor of The Register will be checked against the map prepared by the committee and concrete action will be taken.

The letters of complaint, or questionnaires, have started to come in a little faster, now, but the response still is too light to be of much assistance. We must have those questionnaires, fans, if we are to make any headway in this campaign—so don't delay further. If you are troubled with interference let's hear about your trouble. Surely it is worth your while to take but a couple of minutes to fill out the questionnaire if it will mean improved radio reception.

Another thing, fans—of those who have submitted the questionnaire, very few have taken the trouble to send us a log of hours during which interference is worse. We also need that log, so if it is at all possible let us have that along with the questionnaire.

Bridge By Radio For Fans Tonight

The next game in the series of Bridge by Radio will be put on the air tonight over KPLA, starting at 8 o'clock—so, you bridge fans, arrange your affairs accordingly.

These play-by-play bridge broadcasts are proving quite popular throughout the country. We are told, so it won't be long now before trumping your partner's ace will be quite passe.

Take No Chances With Flu and Grip; Check All Colds

Local People Warned of Danger in Neglecting Colds

While there is no cause for serious alarm over the flu, at the present time, health authorities say that extra precaution should be taken to check every cold at the very start.

The safe and effective way to do this is to rub the throat and chest at bedtime with Vicks Vapo-Rub.

Vicks brings relief in two ways: (1) Its ingredients, vaporized by the warmth of the body are inhaled direct to the infected air-passages.

(2) It acts through the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" all tightness and pain.

Also snuff Vicks up the nose when going into crowded places. Many cases of flu start from germs being breathed in. Vicks will help keep the air-passages in condition to throw off these germ attacks—Adv.

FROST REPORTS ARE BROADCAST NIGHTLY BY KHJ

Since Jack Frost, the hoary visitor from the icy north, refuses to miss any one spot in the world in his meanderings, Uncle Sam has formed a detailed super-service organization through the department of agriculture especially for Southern California, to make accurate forecasts of a possible visitation of king winter's pal to the land of oranges, lemons, and grapefruit.

Since the time of year has come when such a visit might happen any night, the government weather bureau, through Floyd Young, meteorologist, with headquarters in Pomona, broadcasts frost reports every night over KHJ at 7:55 o'clock.

This is the fourth year that KHJ has been rendering this service to the fruit growers of California. This year, however, instead of going on at 8 o'clock, the reports are going on at 7:55 o'clock. The weather forecasts are gathered from 15 different points by the Pomona headquarters and then relayed to KHJ each night. The station releases the name of every district given on the government forecast chart and quotes the temperature forecast for each district. In case of danger of frost is imminent, citrus growers and owners of ornamental plants of any kind have ample opportunity to "smudge" and take other precautionary measures.

Full Text Of President's Message To 70th Congress

SUMS UP STATE OF UNION TO CONGRESS

CALVIN COOLIDGE

To the Congress of the United States:

No Congress of the United States ever assembled, on surveying the state of the Union, has met with a more pleasing prospect than that which appears at the present time. In the domestic field there is tranquility and contentment, harmonious relations between management and wage earner, freedom from industrial strife, and the highest record of years of prosperity. In the foreign field there is peace, the good will which comes from mutual understanding, and the knowledge that the problems which a short time ago appeared so ominous are yielding to the touch of manifest friendship. The great wealth created by our enterprise and industry, and saved by our economy, has had the widest distribution among our own people, and has gone out in a steady stream to serve the charity and the business of the world. The requirements of existence have passed beyond the standard of necessity into the region of luxury. Enlarging production is consumed by an increasing demand at home and an expanding commerce abroad. The country can regard the present with satisfaction and anticipate the future with optimism.

The main source of these unexampled blessings lies in the integrity and character of the American people. They have had great faith, which they have supplemented with mighty works. They have been able to put trust in each other and trust in their Government. Their candor in dealing with foreign governments has commanded respect and confidence. Yet these remarkable powers would have been exerted almost in vain without the constant co-operation and careful administration of the Federal Government.

We have been coming into a period which may be fairly characterized as a conservation of our national resources. Wastefulness in public business and private enterprise has been displaced by constructive economy. This has been accomplished by bringing our domestic and foreign relations more and more under a reign of law. A rule of force has been giving way to a rule of reason. We have substituted for the vicious circle of increasing expenditures, increasing tax rates, and diminishing profits the charmed circle of diminishing expenditures, diminishing tax rates, and increasing profits.

Four times we have made a drastic revision of our internal revenue system, abolishing many taxes and substantially reducing almost all others. Each time the resulting stimulation to business has so increased taxable incomes and profits that a surplus has been produced. One-third of the national debt has been paid, while the other two-thirds have been refunded at lower rates, and the savings of interest and constant economies have enabled us to repeat the satisfying process of more tax reductions. Under this sound and healthful encouragement the national income has increased nearly 50 per cent, until it is estimated to stand well over $90,000,000. It has been a method which has performed the seeming miracle of leaving a much greater percentage of earnings in the hands of the taxpayers with scarcely any diminution of the Government revenue. That is constructive economy in the highest degree. It is the corner stone of prosperity. It should not fail to be continued.

This action began by the application of economy to public expenditure. If it is to be permanent, it must be made so by the repeated application of economy. There is no surplus on which to base further tax revision at this time. Last June the estimates showed a threatened deficit for the current fiscal year of $94,000,000. Under my direction the departments began saving all they could out of their present appropriations. The last tax reduction brought an encouraging improvement in business, beginning early in October, which will also increase our revenue. The combination of economy and good times now indicates a surplus of about $70,000,000. This is a margin of less than 1 per cent on our expenditures, and makes it obvious that the Treasury is in no condition to undertake increases in expenditures to be made before June 30. It is necessary therefore during the present session to refrain from new appropriations for immediate outlay, or if such are absolutely required to provide for them by new revenue; otherwise, we shall reach the end of the year with the unthinkable result of an unbalanced budget. For the first time during my term of office we face that contingency. I am certain that the Congress would not pass and I should not feel warranted in approving legislation which would involve us in that financial disgrace.

On the whole the finances of the Government are most satisfactory. Last year the national debt was reduced about $900,000,000. The refunding and retirement of the second and third Liberty loans have just been brought to a successful conclusion, which will save about $75,000,000 a year in interest. The unpaid balance has been arranged in maturities convenient for carrying out our permanent debt-paying program.

The enormous savings made have not been at the expense of any legitimate public needs. The Government plan has been kept up and many improvements are being made while its service is fully manned and the general efficiency of operation has increased. We have been enabled to undertake many new enterprises. Among these are the adjusted compensation of the veterans of the World War, which is costing us $112,000,000 a year; amortizing our liability to the civil service retirement funds, $20,000,000; increase of expenditures for rivers and harbors including flood control, $43,000,000; public buildings, $47,000,000. In 1928 we spent $50,000,000 in the adjustment of war claims and alien property. These are examples of a large list of items.

FOREIGN RELATIONS
When we turn from our domestic affairs to our foreign relations, we likewise perceive peace and progress. The Sixth International Conference of American States was held at Habana last winter. It contributed to a better understanding and co-operation among the nations. Eleven important conventions were signed and 71 resolutions passed. Pursuant to the plan then adopted, this Government has invited the other 20 nations of this hemisphere to a conference on conciliation and arbitration, which meets in Washington on December 10. All the nations have accepted and the expectation is justified that important progress will be made in methods for resolving international differences by means of arbitration.

During the year we have signed 11 new arbitration treaties, and 22 more are under negotiation.

Nicaragua
When a destructive and bloody revolution broke out in Nicaragua, at the earnest and repeated entreaties of its Government I dispatched our Marine forces there to protect the lives and interests of our citizens. To compose the contending parties, I sent there Col. Henry L. Stimson, former Secretary of War and now Governor General of the Philippine Islands, who secured an agreement that warfare should cease, a national election should be held and peace should be restored. Both parties conscientiously carried out this agreement, with the exception of a few bandits who later modestly surrendered. President Diaz appointed Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, United States Army, president of the election board, which included also one member of each political party.

A free and fair election has been held and has worked out so successfully that both parties have joined in requesting like co-operation from this country, at the election four years hence, to which I have refrained from making any commitments, although our country must be gratified at such an exhibition of success and appreciation. Nicaragua is regaining its prosperity and has taken a long step in the direction of peaceful self-government.

TACNA-ARICA
The long-standing differences between Chile and Peru have been sufficiently composed so that diplomatic relations have been resumed by the exchange of ambassadors. Negotiations are hopefully proceeding as this is written for the final adjustment of the differences over their disputed territory.

MEXICO

Our relations with Mexico are on a more satisfactory basis than at any time since their revolution. Many misunderstandings have been resolved and the most frank and friendly negotiations promise a final adjustment of all unsettled questions. It is exceedingly gratifying that Ambassador Morrow has been able to bring our two neighboring countries, which have so many interests in common, to a position of confidence in each other and respect for mutual sovereign rights.

CHINA

The situation in China which a few months ago was so threatening as to call for the dispatch of a large additional force has been much composed. The Nationalist government has established itself over the country and promulgated a new organic law announcing a program intended to promote the political and economic welfare of its peoples. We have recognized this government, encouraged its progress, and have negotiated a treaty restoring to China complete tariff autonomy and guaranteeing our citizens against discriminations. Our trade in that quarter is increasing and our forces are being reduced.

GREEK AND AUSTRIAN DEBTS

Pending before the congress is a recommendation for the settlement of the Greek debt and the Austrian debt. Both of these are comparatively small and our country can afford to be generous. The rehabilitation of these countries awaits their settlement. There would also be advantages to our trade. We could scarcely afford to be the only nation that refuses the relief which Austria seeks. The congress has already granted Austria a long-time moratorium, which it is understood will be waived and immediate payments begun on her debt on the same basis which we have extended to other countries.

PEACE TREATY

One of the most important treaties ever laid before the senate of the United States will be that which the 15 nations recently signed at Paris, and to which 44 other nations have declared their intention to adhere, renouncing war as a national policy and agreeing to resort only to peaceful means for the adjustment of international differences. It is the most solemn declaration against war, the positive adherence to peace, that it is possible for sovereign nations to make. It does not supersede our inalienable sovereign right and duty of national defense or undertake to commit us before the event to any mode of action which the congress might decide to be wise if ever the treaty should be broken. But it is a new standard in the world around which can rally the informed and enlightened opinion of nations to prevent their governments from being forced into hostile action by the temporary outbreak of international animosities. The observance of this covenant, so simple and so straightforward, promises more for the peace of the world than any other agreement ever negotiated among the nations.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

The first duty of our government to its own citizens and foremost within its borders is the preservation of order. Unless and until that duty is met a government is not even eligible for recognition among the family of nations. The advancement of world civilization likewise is dependent upon that order among the people of different countries which we term peace. To insure our citizens against the infringement of their legal rights at home and abroad, to preserve order, liberty, and peace by making the law supreme, we have an army and a navy.

Both of these are organized for defensive purposes. Our army could not be much reduced, but does not need to be increased. Such new housing and repairs as are necessary are under way and the five-year program in aviation is being put into effect in both branches of our service.

Our navy, according to generally accepted standards, is deficient in cruisers. We have 10 comparatively new vessels, 22 that are old, and eight to be built. It is evident that renewals and replacements must be provided. This matter was thoroughly canvassed at the last session of the congress and does not need restatement. The bill before the senate with the elimination of the time clause should be passed. We have no intention of competing with any other country. This building program is for necessary replacements and to meet our needs for defense.

The cost of national defense is stupendous. It has increased $118,000,000 in the past four years. The estimated expenditure for 1930 is $668,000,000. While this is made up of many items it is, after all, mostly dependent upon numbers. Our defensive needs do not call for any increase in the number of men in the army or the navy. We have reached the limit of what we ought to expend for that purpose.

I wish to repeat again for the benefit of the timid and the suspicious that this country is neither militaristic nor imperialistic. Many people at home and abroad, who constantly make this charge, are the same ones who are even more solicitous to have us extend assistance to foreign countries. When such assistance is granted, the inevitable result is that we have foreign interests. For us to refuse of such interests would be in derogation of the sovereignty of this nation. Our largest foreign interests are in the British Empire, France and Italy. Because we are constantly solicitous for those interests, I doubt if anyone would suppose that those countries feel we harbor toward them any militaristic or imperialistic design. As for smaller countries, we certainly do not want any of them. We are more anxious than they are to have their sovereignty respected. Our entire influence is in behalf of their independence. Cuba stands as a witness to our adherence to this principle.

The position of this government relative to the limitation of armaments, the results already secured, and the developments up to the present time are so well known to the congress that they do not require any restatement.

VETERANS

The magnitude of our present system of veteran relief is without precedent, and the results have been far-reaching. For years a service pension has been granted to the survivors of the Spanish-American war. At the time we entered the World War, however, congress departed from the usual pension system followed by our government. Eleven years have elapsed since our laws were first enacted, initiating a system of compensation, rehabilitation, hospitalization, and insurance for the disabled of the World War and their dependents. The administration of all the laws concerning relief has been a difficult task, but it can safely be stated that these measures have omitted nothing in their desire to deal generously and humanely. We should continue to foster this system and provide all the facilities necessary for adequate care. It is the conception of our government that the pension roll is an honor roll. It should include all those who are justly entitled to its benefits, but exclude all others.

Annual expenditures for all forms of veterans' relief now approximate $75,000,000, and are increasing from year to year. It is doubtful if the peak of expenditures will be reached even under present legislation for some time yet to come. Further amendments to the existing law will be suggested by the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and other like organizations, and it may be necessary for administrative purposes, or in order to remove some existing inequalities in the present law, to make further changes. I am sure that such recommendation as may be submitted to the congress will receive your careful consideration. But because of the vast expenditure now being made each year, with every assurance that it will increase, and because of the great liberality of the existing law, the proposal of any additional legislation dealing with this subject should receive most searching scrutiny from the congress.

You are familiar with the suggestion that the various public agencies now dealing with matters of veterans' relief be consolidated in one government department. Some advantages to this plan seem apparent, especially in the simplification of administration and in the opportunity of bringing about a greater uniformity in the application of veterans' relief. I recommend that a survey be made by the proper committees of congress dealing with this subject, in order to determine whether legislation to secure this consolidation is desirable.

AGRICULTURE

The past year has been marked by notable though not uniform improvement in agriculture. The general purchasing power of farm products and the volume of production have advanced. This means not only further progress in overcoming the price disparity into which agriculture was plunged in 1920-21, but also increased efficiency on the part of farmers and a well-grounded confidence in the future of agriculture.

The livestock industry has attained the best balance for many years and is prospering conspicuously. Dairymen, beef producers, and poultrymen are receiving substantially larger returns than last year. Cotton, although lower in price than at this time last year, was produced in greater volume, and the prospect for cotton income is favorable. But progress is never uniform in a vast and highly diversified agriculture or industry. Cash grains, hay, tobacco, and potatoes will bring somewhat smaller returns this year than last. Present indications are, however, that the gross farm income will be somewhat larger than in the crop year 1927-28, when the total was $12,253,000,000. The corresponding figure for 1926-27 was $12,127,000,000, and in 1925-26, $12,670,000,000. Still better results would have been secured this year had there not been an undue increase in the production of certain crops. This is particularly true of potatoes, which have sold at an unremunerative price, or at a loss, as a direct result of over-expansion of acreage.

The present status of agriculture, although greatly improved over that of a few years ago, speaks the need of further improvement, which calls for continued effort of farmers themselves, encouraged and assisted by wise public policy. The government has been, and must continue to be, alive to the needs of agriculture.

In the past eight years more constructive legislation of direct benefit to agriculture has been adopted than during any other period. The Department of Agriculture has been broadened and reorganized to insure greater efficiency. The department is laying greater stress on the economic and business phases of agriculture. It is lending every possible assistance to cooperative marketing associations. Regulatory and research work have been segregated in order that each field may be served more effectively.

I can not too strongly commend, in the field of fact finding, the research work of the Department of Agriculture and the state experiment stations. The department now receives annually $4,000,000 more for research than in 1921. In addition, the funds paid to the states for experimentation purposes under the Purnell Act constitute an annual increase of federal payments to state agricultural experiment stations of $2,400,000 over the amount appro-riated in 1921. The program of support for research may wisely be continued and expanded. Since 1921 we have appropriated nearly an additional $2,000,000 for extension work, and this sum is to be increased next year under authorization by the Capper-Ketcham Act.

THE SURPLUS PROBLEM

While these developments in fundamental research, regulation, and dissemination of agricultural information are of distinct help to agriculture, additional effort is needed. The surplus problem demands attention. As emphasized in my last message, the government should assume no responsibility in normal times for crop surplus clearly due to overextended acreage. The government should, however, provide reliable information as a guide to private effort; and in this connection fundamental research on a prospective supply and demand, as a guide to production and marketing, should be encouraged. Expenditure of public funds to bring in more new land should have most searching scrutiny, so long as our farmers face unsatisfactory prices for crops and livestock produced on land already under cultivation.

Every proper effort should be made to put land to uses for which it is adapted. The reforestation of land best suited for timber production is progressing and should be encouraged, and to this end the forest taxation inquiry was instituted to afford a practical guide for public policy. Improvement has been made in grazing regulation in the forest reserves, not only to protect the ranges, but to preserve the soil from erosion. Similar action is urgently needed to protect other public lands which are now overgrazed and rapidly eroding.

Temporary expedients, though sometimes capable of appeasing the demands of the moment, can not permanently solve the surplus problem and might seriously aggravate it. Hence putting the government directly into business, subsidies, and price fixing, and the alluring promises of political action as a substitute for private initiative, should be avoided.

The government should aid in promoting orderly marketing and in handling surpluses clearly due to weather and seasonal conditions. As a beginning there should be created a federal farm board consisting of able and experienced men empowered to advise producers' associations in establishing central agencies or stabilization corporations to handle surpluses, to seek more economical means of merchandising, and to aid the producer in securing returns according to the quality of his product. A revolving loan fund should be provided for the necessary financing until these agencies shall have developed means of financing their operations through regularly constituted credit institutions. Such a bill should carry authority for raising the money, by loans or otherwise, necessary to meet the expense, as the treasury has no surplus.

Agriculture has lagged behind industry in achieving that unity of effort which modern economic life demands. The cooperative movement, which is gradually building the needed organization, is in harmony with public interest and therefore merits public encouragement.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE STATES

Important phases of public policy related to agriculture lie within the sphere of the states. While successive reductions in federal taxes have relieved most farmers of direct taxes to the national government, state and local levies have become a serious burden. This problem needs immediate and thorough study with a view to correction at the earliest possible moment. It will have to be made largely by the states themselves.

COMMERCE

It is desirable that the government continue its helpful attitude toward American business. The activities of the Department of Commerce have contributed largely to the present satisfactory position in our international trade, which has reached about $9,000,000,000 annually. There should be no slackening of effort in that direction. It is also important that the department's assistance to domestic commerce be continued. There is probably no way in which the government can aid sound economic progress more effectively than by cooperating with our business men to reduce wastes in distribution.

COMMERCIAL AERONAUTICS

Continued progress in civil aviation is most gratifying. Demands for airplanes and motors have taxed both the industry and the licensing and inspection service of the Department of Commerce to their capacity. While the compulsory licensing provisions of the air commerce act apply only to equipment and personnel engaged in interstate and foreign commerce, a federal license may be procured by anyone possessing the necessary qualifications. State legislation, local airport regulations, and insurance requirements make such a license practically indispensable. This results in uniformity of regulation and increased safety in operation, which are essential to aeronautical development. Over 17,000 young men and women have now applied for federal air-pilot's licenses or permits. More than 80 per cent of them applied during the past year.

Our national airway system exceeds 14,000 miles in length and has 7500 miles lighted for night operations. Provision has been made for lighting 4000 miles more during the current fiscal year and equipping an equal mileage with radio facilities. Three-quarters of our people are now served by these routes. With the rapid growth of air mail, express, and passenger service, this new transportation medium is daily becoming a more important factor in commerce. It is noteworthy that this has taken place without government subsidies. Commercial passenger flights operating on schedule have reached 13,000 miles per day.

During the next fortnight this nation will entertain the nations of the world in a celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first successful airplane flight. The credit for this epoch-making achievement belongs to a citizen of our own country, Orville Wright.

CUBAN PARCEL POST

I desire to repeat my recommendation of an earlier message, that congress enact the legislation necessary to make permanent the Parcel Post Convention with Cuba, both as a facility to American commerce and as a measure of equity to Cuba in the one class of goods which that country can send here by parcel post without detriment to our own trade.

"MAINE" BATTLESHIP MEMORIAL

When I attended the Pan-American Conference at Habana, the president of Cuba showed me a marble statue made from the original memorial that was overthrown by a storm after it was erected on the Cuban shore to the memory of the men who perished in the destruction of the battleship Maine. As a testimony of friendship and appreciation of the Cuban government and people he most generously offered to present this to the United States, and I assured him of my pleasure in accepting it. There is no location in the White House for placing so large and heavy a structure, and I therefore urge the congress to provide by law for some locality, where it can be set up.

RAILROADS

In previous annual messages I have suggested the enactment of laws to promote railroad consolidation with the view of increasing the efficiency of transportation and lessening its cost to the public. While consolidations can and should be made under the present law until it is changed, yet the provisions of the act of 1920 have not been found fully adequate to meet the needs of other methods of consolidation. Amendments designed to remedy these defects have been considered at length by the respective committees of congress and a bill was reported out late in the last session which I understand has the approval in principle of the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is to be hoped that this legislation may be enacted at an early date.

Experience has shown that the Interstate Commerce law requires definition and clarification in several other respects, some of which have been pointed out by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its annual reports to the congress. It will promote the public interest to have the congress give early consideration to the recommendations there made.

MERCHANT MARINE

The cost of maintaining the United States government merchant fleet has been steadily reduced. We have established American flag lines in foreign trade where they had never before existed as a means of promoting commerce and as a naval auxiliary. There have been sold to private American capital for operation within the past few years 14 of these lines which, under the encouragement of the recent legislation passed by the congress, give promise of continued successful operation. Additional legislation from time to time may be necessary to promote future advancement under private control.

Through the cooperation of the Post Office Department and the Shipping Board long-term contracts are being made with American steamship lines for carrying mail, which already promise the construction of 15 to 20 new vessels and the gradual reestablishment of the American merchant marine as a private enterprise. No action of the national government has been so beneficial to our shipping. The cost is being absorbed to a considerable extent by the disposal of unprofitable lines operated by the Shipping Board, for which the new law has made a market. Meanwhile it should be our policy to maintain necessary strategic lines under government operation until they can be transferred to private capital.

INTER-AMERICAN HIGHWAY

In my message last year I expressed the view that we should lend our encouragement for more good roads to all the principal points on this hemisphere south of the Rio Grande. My view has not changed. The Pan American Union has recently endorsed it. In some of the countries to the south a great deal of progress is being made in road building. In others engineering features are often exacting and financing difficult. As these countries enter upon programs for road building, we should be ready to contribute from our abundant experience to make their task easier of accomplishment. I prefer not to go into what will be accomplished this end. We already furnish military and naval advisors, and following this precedent we could draw competent men from these same sources and from the Department of Agriculture.

We should provide our southern neighbors, if they request it, with such engineer advisors for the construction of roads and bridges. Private interests should look with favor upon all reasonable loans sought by these countries to open main lines of travel. Such assistance should be given given especially to any project for a highway designed to connect all the countries on this hemisphere and thus facilitate intercourse and closer relations among them.

AIR MAIL SERVICE

The friendly relations and the extensive commercial intercourse with the Western Hemisphere by the south of us are being further cemented by the establishment and extension of air-mail routes. We shall soon have one from Key West, Fla., over Cuba, Haiti, and Santo Domingo to San Juan, P. R., where it will connect with another route to Trinidad. There will be another route from Key West to the Canal Zone, where connection will be made with a route across the northern coast of South America to Buenos Aires. This will give a circle around the Caribbean under our own control. Additional connections will be made at Colon with a route running down the west coast of South America as far as Concepcion, Chile, and with the French air mail at Paramaribo running down the eastern coast of South America. The air service already spans our continent, with laterals running to Mexico and Canada, and covering a daily flight of over 28,000 miles, with an average cargo of 15,000 pounds.

WATERWAYS

Our river and harbor improvements are proceeding with vigor. In the past few years we have increased the appropriation for this regular work $28,000,000, besides what is to be expended on flood control. The total appropriation for this year was over $91,000,000. The Ohio river is almost ready for opening; work on the Mississippi and other rivers is under way. In accordance with the Mississippi flood law, army engineers are making investigations and surveys on other streams throughout the country with a view to flood control, navigation, waterpower, and irrigation. Our large lines are being operated under generous appropriations, and negotiations are developing relative to the St. Lawrence waterway. To secure the largest benefits from all these waterways joint rates must be established with the railroads, preferably by agreement, but otherwise as a result of congressional action.

We have recently passed several river and harbor bills. The work ordered by the congress, not yet completed, will cost about $243,000,000, besides the hundreds of millions to be spent on the Mississippi flood way. Until we can see our way out of this expense no further river and harbor legislation should be passed, as expenditures to put it into effect would be four or five years away.

IRRIGATION OF ARID LANDS

For many years the federal government has been committed to the wise policy of reclamation and irrigation. While it has met with some failures due to unwise selection of projects and lack of thorough soil surveys, so that they could not be placed on a sound business basis, on the whole the service has been of such incalculable benefit in so many states that no one would advocate its abandonment. The program in which we are already committed, providing for the construction of new projects authorized by congress and the completion of old projects, will tax the resources of the reclamation fund over a period of years. The high cost of improving and equipping farms adds to the difficulty of securing settlers for vacant farms on federal projects.

Readjustments authorized by the reclamation relief act of May 25, 1926, have given more favorable terms of repayment to settlers. These new financial arrangements and the general prosperity on irrigation projects have resulted in increased collections by the Department of the Interior of charges due the reclamation fund. Nevertheless, the demand for still smaller yearly payments on these projects continues. These conditions should have consideration in connection with any proposed new projects.

COLORADO RIVER

For several years the congress has considered the erection of a dam on the Colorado river for flood-control, irrigation, and domestic water purposes, all of which may properly be considered as government functions. There would be an incidental creation of water power which could be used for generating electricity. As private enterprise can very well fill this field, there is no need for the government to go into it. It is unfortunate that the states interested in this water have been unable to agree among themselves. Nevertheless, any legislation should give every possible safeguard to the present and prospective rights of each of them.

The congress will have before it the detailed report of a special board appointed to consider the engineering and economic feasibility of this project. From the short summary which I have seen of it, I judge they consider the engineering problems can be met at somewhat increased cost over previous estimates. They prefer the Black Canyon site. On the economic features they are not so clear and appear to base their conclusions on many conditions which can not be established with certainty. So far as I can judge, however, from the summary, their conclusions appear sufficiently favorable that I should like to recommend that I measure which will protect the rights of the states, discharge the necessary government functions, and leave the electrical field to private enterprise.

MUSCLE SHOALS

The development of other methods of producing nitrates will render this plant less important for that purpose than formerly. But we have it, and I am told it still provides a practical method of making nitrates for national defense and farm fertilizers. By dividing the property into two component parts of power and nitrates, the latter would be possible to dispose of the power, reserving the right to any concern that wished to make nitrates to use any power that might be needed for that purpose. Such a disposition of the power plant can be made that will return in rental about $2,000,000 per year. If the congress would grant the secretary of war authority to lease the nitrates plant on such terms as would insure the largest production of nitrates, the entire property could begin to function. Such a division, I am aware, has never seemed to appeal to the congress. I should like to see an approval of this plan, and authority to lease the nitrates plant for the production of nitrates.

I wish to avoid building another dam at public expense. Future operators should provide for that themselves. But if they were to be required to repay the cost of such dam with the prevailing commercial rates for interest, this difficulty will be considerably lessened. Nor do I think this property should be made a vehicle for putting the United States government indiscriminately into the private and retail field of distribution and nitrate sales.

CONSERVATION

The practical application of economy to the resources of the country calls for conservation. This does not mean that every resource should not be developed to its full degree, but it means that none of them should be wasted. We have a conservation board working on our oil problem. This is of the utmost importance to the future well-being of our people in this age of oil-burning engines and the general application of gasoline to transportation. The secretary of the interior should not be compelled to lease oil lands of the Osage Indians when the market is depressed and the future supply is in jeopardy.

While the area of lands remaining in public ownership is small, compared with the vast area in private ownership, the natural resources of those in public ownership are of immense present and future value. This is particularly true as to minerals and water power. The proper bureaus have been classifying these resources to the end that they may be conserved. Appropriate estimates are being submitted, in the Budget, for the further prosecution of this important work.

IMMIGRATION

The policy of restrictive immigration should be maintained. Authority should be granted the secretary of labor to give immediate preference to learned professions and experts essential to new industries. The reuniting of families should be expedited. Our immigration and naturalization laws might well be codified.

WAGE EARNER

In its economic life our country has rejected the long accepted law of limitation of the wage fund, which led to pessimism and despair because it was the doctrine of perpetual poverty, and has substituted for it the American conception that the only limit to profits and wages is production, which is the doctrine of optimism and hope because it leads to prosperity. Here and there the councils of labor are still darkened by the theory that only by limiting individual production can there be any assurance of permanent employment for increasing numbers, but in general, management and wage earner alike have become emancipated from this doom and have entered a new era in industrial thought which has unleashed the productive capacity of the individual worker with an increasing scale of wages and profits, the end of which is not yet. The application of this theory accounts for our widening distribution of wealth. No discovery ever did more to increase the happiness and prosperity of the people.

Since 1922 increasing production has increased wages in general 12.9 per cent, while in certain selected trades they have run as high as 34.9 per cent and 38 per cent. Even in the boot and shoe shops the increase is over 5 per cent and in woolen mills 8.4 per cent, although these industries have not prospered like others. As the rise in living costs in this period is negligible, these figures represent real wage increases.

The cause of constructive economy requires the government should cooperate with private interests to eliminate the waste arising from industrial accidents. This item, with all that has been done to reduce it, still reaches enormous proportions with great suffering to the workman and great loss to the country.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN

The federal government should continue its solicitous care for the 8,500,000 women wage earners and its efforts in behalf of public health, which is reducing infant mortality and improving the bodily and mental condition of our citizens.

CIVIL SERVICE

The most marked change made in the civil service of the government in the past eight years relates to the increase in salaries. The board of actuaries on the retirement act shows by its report that July 1, 1921, the average salary of the 330,047 employees subject to the act was $1307, while on June 30, 1927, the average salary of the corresponding 405,263 was $1969. This was an increase in six years of nearly 53 per cent.

On top of this was the generous increase made at the last session of the congress generally applicable to federal employees and another bill increasing the pay in certain branches of the Postal Service beyond the large increase which was made three years ago. This raised the average level from $1969 to $2092, making an increase in seven years of over 63 per cent. While it is well known that in the upper brackets the pay in the federal service is much smaller than in private employment, in the lower brackets, ranging well up over $3000, it is much higher. It is higher not only in actual money paid, but in privileges granted, a vacation of 30 actual working days, or 5 weeks each year, with additional time running in some departments as high as 30 days for sick leave and the generous provisions of the retirement act. No other body of public servants ever occupied such a fortunate position.

EDUCATION

Through the Bureau of Education of the Department of the Interior the federal government, acting in an informative and advisory capacity, has rendered valuable service. While this province belongs peculiarly to the states, yet the promotion of education and efficiency in educational methods is a general responsibility of the federal government. A survey of negro colleges and universities in the United States has just been completed by the Bureau of Education through funds provided by the institutions themselves and through private sources. The present status of negro higher education was determined and recommendations were made for its advancement. This was one of the numerous cooperative undertakings of the bureau. Following the invitation of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, the Bureau of Education now has under way the survey of agricultural colleges, authorized by congress. The purpose of the survey is to ascertain the accomplishments, the status, and the future objectives of this type of educational training. It is now proposed to undertake a survey of secondary schools, which educators insist is timely and essential.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

We have laid out a public building program for the District of Columbia and the country at large running into hundreds of millions of dollars. Three important structures and one annex are already under way and one addition has been completed in the city of Washington. In the country sites have been acquired, many buildings are in course of construction, and some are already completed. Plans for all this work are being prepared in order that it may be carried forward as rapidly as possible. This is the greatest building program ever assumed by this nation. It contemplates structures of utility and beauty. When it reaches completion the people will be well served and the federal city will be supplied with the most beautiful and stately public buildings which adorn any capital in the world.

THE AMERICAN INDIAN

The administration of Indian affairs has been receiving intensive study for several years. The Department of the Interior has been able to provide better supervision of health, education, and industrial advancement for this native race through additional funds provided by the congress. The present cooperative arrangement existing between the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Public Health Service should be extended. The government's responsibility to the American Indian has been acknowledged by annual increases in appropriations to fulfill its obligations to them and to hasten the time when federal supervision of their affairs may be properly and safely terminated. The movement in congress and in some of the state legislatures for extending responsibility in Indian affairs to states should be encouraged. A complete participation by the Indian in our economic life is the end to be desired.

THE NEGRO

For 65 years now our negro population has been under the peculiar care and solicitude of the national government. The progress which they have made in education and the professions, in wealth and in the arts of civilization, affords one of the most remarkable incidents in this period of world history. They have demonstrated their ability to partake of the advantage of our institutions and to benefit by a free and more and more independent existence. Whatever doubt there may have been of their capacity to assume the status granted to them by the constitution of this Union is being rapidly dissipated. Their cooperation in the life of the nation is constantly enlarging.

Exploiting the Negro problem for political ends is being abandoned by those states in which their percentage of population is largest. Every encouragement should be extended for the development of the race. The colored people have been the victims of the crime of lynching, which has in late years somewhat decreased. Some parts of the South already have wholesome laws for its restraint and punishment. Their example might well be followed by other states, and by such immediate remedial legislation as the federal government can extend under the constitution.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Under the guidance of Governor General Stimson, the economic and political conditions of the Philippine Islands have been raised to a standard never before surpassed. The cooperation between his administration and the people of the islands is complete and harmonious. It would be an advantage if relief from double taxation could be granted by the congress to our citizens doing business in the islands.

PORTO RICO

Due to the terrific storm that swept Porto Rico last September, the people of that island suffered large losses. The Red Cross and the War Department went to their rescue. The property loss is being retrieved. Sugar, tobacco, citrus fruit, and coffee, all suffered damage. The first three can largely look after themselves. The coffee growers will need some assistance, which should be extended strictly on a business basis, and only after most careful investigation. The people of Porto Rico are not asking for charity.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

It is desirable that all the legal activities of the government be consolidated under the supervision of the attorney general. In 1870 it was felt necessary to create the Department of Justice for this purpose. During the intervening period, either through legislation creating law offices or departmental action, additional legal positions not under the supervision

Two Santa Anans, six Alhambrans and one each from Glendale, Whittier and San Diego were selected on the All-Coast Preparatory league football team for 1928, announced today. Alvin Reboin, quarterback, and Warren ("Red") Cooke, end, were named from this city on the first team while Roger Hearn, end, and Curtis Yoeul, center but who is put down as a guard, were recommended for second team honors.

The teams were picked by Eddie West, sports editor of The Register, who co-operated with sports writers in San Diego, Glendale, Alhambra, Pasadena and Long Beach in an effort to make this year's selections thoroughly official instead of merely the personal opinions of one person. In virtually every case the nominees coincided so that for 1928 the All-League team is much more official than ever before.

PUGILISTIC POT BOILS AS MANY MATCHES MADE

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The pugilistic pot was boiling with renewed activity today as a result of some of the upsets that took place on boxing "Black Friday" last week.

Articles were to be signed today for a bout at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 18 between Leo Lomskid, light-heavyweight of Aberdeen, Wash., and James J. Braddock, the slender Jersey City scrapper who snapped "Tuffy" Griffith's long string of victories on Friday night.

Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, who was the victim of another upset on Friday when he was outpointed by Jim Maloney in Boston, has accepted terms for a bout at the Garden on December 21 against either Maloney or Con O'Kelly, the imported Irish heavyweight.

Griffith also has been matched for a bout on the 21st. It is expected that Nando Tassil, of Italy, will be pitted against the sensational Sioux City, Iowa, fighter.

Lathrop-Willard 'Big Game' Will Be Played Friday

The annual "Big Game" between Frances E. Willard and Julia C. Lathrop junior high schools for the football championship of Santa Ana junior high schools will be held Friday instead of Wednesday, officials of the institutions announced today.

The contest will be held at Poly field which is too wet from yesterday's rain to permit a game tomorrow.

Center, Mielziner—Carnegie Tech.
Right guard, Spidel—Washington State college.
Right tackle, Lusky—Yanderbilt.
Right end, Rosenzweig, Carnegie Tech.
Quarterback, Levinson—Northwestern.
Right halfback, Behr—Wisconsin.

RATE GILLETTE AS FORMIDABLE CHAVEZ RIVAL

Zenaydo Chavez will bring his championship belt to the Orange County Athletic club tomorrow night.

Maybe Chavez will take it home. Then again he may not. For Chavez will tangle with Frenchie Gillette in the main spot for the amateur junior welterweight title of the Pacific Coast. Chavez won the belt on the opening night of the Orange County Athletic club. This is the first time he has defended it.

Gillette is said to be one of the cleverest amateur boxers on the Pacific Coast and is managed by Jack Costello, managing director of the Deauville Beach club at Santa Monica. Costello has turned down many offers for his protégé to go into the professional class. Among those who have been turned down are Wildcat Murrell, Battling Graham and Chet Gleason, all described as worthy boys.

The semi-windup will be between Tony Moreno of Placentia and Nish Negretta of Long Beach.

A wrestling match between Don Hill of Los Angeles and Rube Shaffer, Venice life-guard, will be a diversion from the usual full card of fighting.

The prelims are: Babe Orasco vs Pat Gomez; Bob Douglas vs Zipp Montana; Morrie Nathan vs Ned Herman and Jesse Ayala vs Leonard Bennett.

Saunders Played In Game Injured

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Russ Saunders, star fullback of the University of Southern California football squad, played in the Trojan-Notre Dame game despite a badly injured knee. It was revealed today when he entered a hospital. Saunders suffered the injury more than two weeks ago. He will be confined to the hospital for several days.

The delegates rated Cooke, the young Santa Ana pugilist, as the outstanding end of the season and "Curly" Graham, the Alhambra captain, as the outstanding line-man. The votes for Seixas, Alhambra end; Carter, Glendale guard; Melsheimer, Alhambra guard; and Schutte, San Diego center, also was unanimous.

The Santa Ana representative had not seen Schutte in action but fell in line with the others who described Schutte as a remarkably adept offensive and defensive player who could play any place in the line and do a good job of it.

There was some difference of opinion on the rating of the second team men and the voters determined to select their own eleven to suit themselves.

Hearn, the Santa Ana captain,

NAVY MAY PLAY U. S. C. INSTEAD OF NOTRE DAME

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Well-grounded reports were current here today that Notre Dame has decided to drop the University of Southern California from its 1929 schedule and that the Trojans will arrange to meet the Navy in place of the Irish.

The reports grew out of a preliminary meeting of a scattered handful of Pacific Coast conference athletic officials, who are gathered here to attend the annual schedule-making meeting, opening Thursday.

It was said at the meeting that Knute Rockne desires to scratch U. S. C. from his schedule next year in order to permit a comparatively easy season for his team. The prospective halt in football relations between the two schools, it was pointed out on behalf of the Trojan officials, will not be the product of any ill feeling.

The recent journey of Gwynn Wilson, graduate manager of Southern California, to Annapolis, strengthened the possibility of a 1929 intercollegiate clash between the Naval academy team and the Trojans.

It was reliably reported that Wilson laid the groundwork at Annapolis for negotiations looking toward an agreement.

If negotiations prove successful, the game will be played in the Los Angeles Coliseum toward the end of the coming season.

BELGIAN CHAMP LOSES
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 4.—Willy Michel, featherweight champion of Belgium making his American debut here last night, dropped a slow, uninteresting 10 round bout to Harry Forbes, of Chicago. Forbes had the edge in the in-fighting, which characterized the go.

Kid Chocolate put an end to Jackie Schweitzer's victory streak recently after Schweitzer had won 29 fights in a row.

Suzanne On Way To Pay West Visit

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis star, was speeding west on the Los Angeles Limited of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad today with the world still in the dark about her matrimonial plans, if any.

Suzanne spent yesterday in Chicago—where and how remained a mystery. She left the Twentieth Century at a suburban station with Thaddeus A. Winter of Pasadena, Calif.

Mrs. Lenglen was sought for questioning whether she and Winter were married or were contemplating marriage. It was not learned whether Winter accompanied the tennis star west.

BASEBALL MEN WOULD BARTER WITH HUGGINS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 4.—Everybody had done approximately nothing with great perseverance for the last 24 hours, so they retired to the lounge this morning for a much needed rest while awaiting the arrival of the early morning train, bearing the mail, the milk and Miller Huggins.

The latter, sole proprietor of the only fountain pen in baseball that starts writing spontaneously and without reluctance, was expected to inject the spice of life into the impending convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues.

It is men like Mr. Huggins who make life worth the tremendous effort involved in living it. He isn't satisfied with a world's championship ball club that won its title in the minimum number of four games with a maximum number.

BASEBALL OFFICIALS SET TO NEGOTIATE ON SPRING TRAINING CAMP, HOWEVER

The Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast league want a $3000 guarantee to train at the Orange County Fair grounds next spring. This they have asked of the Orange County Fair board, directing body of the Orange County Fair association which has indicated its willingness to promote the baseball venture if proper financial arrangements can be made.

Roy Mack, secretary of the Portland club, has answered the Fair board's query and stated in his would expect $3000.

communication that the Beavers S. W. Stanley, secretary of the board, said that this was considerable over what the organization had offered in their previous negotiations with Mack and that it was more than the board could afford to pay.

Stanley said, however, that Mack has left the way open for further negotiations and that he felt that there still was a chance to get somewhere. Mack admitted, Stanley said, that the Beavers are anxious to return to the Fair grounds, especially now that the Pacific Coast league has voted to allow pre-season exhibition games between league clubs which would allow Portland and Seattle, which will train at San Clemente, to mix on frequent occasions.

"What we think we can afford and what they think is the least they can come here for, represents considerable difference," Stanley said, "but we feel that Portland will see that we cannot afford to put out $3000 for the proposition and will be converted to our way of thinking."

"We want them but they need us worse than we need them."

There is talk of forming a new Class D league in Louisiana and Arkansas this year, composed of Pine Bluff and El Dorado in Arkansas and Monroe, Alexandria, Lake Charles and Baton Rouge in Louisiana.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Michigan won its three big games with field goals....Even the Yale boys admit that Yale had an awful dumb team....Lassman and Grant of N. Y. U. are the greatest pair of tackles in the country....And Minnesota has a swell pair of ends in Haycraft and Tanner....Kris of the varsity team was elected president of the senior class at Ohio State....Cleveland wants Yale to open the new municipal stadium against Western Reserve in 1930....The Big Ten coaches say that Gordon is the best lineman at Illinois....And that Nowack isn't so hot....Harry Mendel, the big bke ballyhoo man, is the new press agent at the Garden....The crop of individual talent in the Western conference was the poorest since the war....Fesler, the Ohio State end, was the best....And the east wasn't loaded down with star linemen....And the coast lacked its usual big squad of candidates for the big team.

PADDOCK STORY DISCOUNTED BY ROSES OFFICIAL

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 4.—Charley Paddock, famous sprinter, who told reporters here last week that he was a member of the Tournament of Roses committee which selects the two football teams for the annual East-West game at Pasadena, has no connection with the committee, Leslie B. Henry, chairman of the committee, said in a telegram received by the Detroit News.

After University of Detroit defeated Georgetown, 33 to 13, last Saturday, Paddock gave newspapermen copies of a telegram which he said he sent to Henry suggesting that Detroit be selected as the Eastern team for the classic.

Mayor John C. Lodge, in a telegram to Henry suggested that the Titans be considered and he also received a reply stating any representation that the outcome of the Georgetown-Detroit game was unauthorized. Before the game Paddock said if Detroit defeated Georgetown by three touchdowns the Detroiters would have a "splendid" chance to be selected.

Paddock's telegram to Henry suggested that if Georgia Tech already had been selected as the Eastern representative Detroit was willing to play a post-season game with the Southern team at Atlanta December 15.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT GEORGIA TECH COACH

the speech. He said:

His Men Idolize Him

"At the end of the 1925 season folks met me on the street and asked—'Alex, what was the matter with your team this year?' This year they meet me on the street and say, 'Alex, didn't we have a great team!'"

Alexander is worshiped by his men. They know he is a square-shooter and that every man will get his just deserts. He is a hard driver on the field. In teaching the fundamentals of tackling and blocking, we don't believe he has a superior.

He can put the iron in his men's cravens. The Jackets are the sturdiest crew in the south. They seem to be immune from injuries. In the recent hard game against Vanderbilt eleven Tech men fought practically the entire four quarters. At the end not one of them was breathing hard. They hadn't taken time out a single time. The fine physical condition of Tech's football players are always a source of wonder to outsiders.

Coach Alexander is a graduate of Tech. He never was any great shakes as a football player, but he scrubbed manfully for four years and he got in a few games and won his letter. He became assistant coach to John Heisman and succeeded him to the head role when Heisman went to Pennsylvania to coach.

Coach Alexander is a bachelor and has absolutely no interest in the female of the species, except those of his own family. For years he and Kid Clay, head coach of the Tech baseball team, and freshman football coach, occupied bachelor quarters together and it was thought that neither would ever marry. But finally Dan Cupid got the kid. But the boy with the bow has a tougher job in Alex.

TICKETS SOLD FOR J. C. GRID DINNER

Tickets have gone on sale for the Santa Ana Junior college football banquet, an affair at which Howard Jones, noted coach of U. S. C. is to speak. The banquet is to be held December 13 at 6:30 p. m., in the cafeteria of the local college.

Jess Hibbs, Don Williams, "Jeff" Cravath and Aubrey Devine are also expected to be in attendance and make short talks, according to Lyles McNairy, athletic commissioner, who is in charge. Attendance is limited to the football team and men of the college. One hundred places will be set, 50 being reserved for the local team and guests.

The football banquet is sponsored annually by the Associated Women Students of the college. This year the event will be under the leadership of Janet Wilson, president.

Tickets are being sold by members of the Junior Lions and Bachelors club.

wears off. They come eventually to abide by the hardened theory of the battlefield that "it won't get you unless your name is written on it."

The strange way in which fate plays its pranks. Steve Hanagan points out, was illustrated recently when Norman Batten and Earl DeVore, two daring automobile race drivers, who had escaped a dozen invitations of death on the track, were drowned when the Vestris went down.

In the 1927 Indianapolis race, Batten was saved by a quick-acting brain from being burned to death. His car burst into flames when he was turning into the home stretch. He tried to free himself from the car and found that he couldn't get out. He then opened the throttle at 100 miles an hour and drove the car off the track so that he would not imperil the lives of the other drivers. He was pulled out of the flaming car, but was badly burned and was in the hospital for months.

In the race this year DeVore crashed into a retaining wall in the path of 10 speeding cars, but he backed out and continued to drive until he was ordered off the track with a broken gas line.

BIG MEN SAY BIG THINGS

In awarding an All-America position for fine sportsmanship, the name of Lou Little, the Georgetown varsity coach, should be placed on the top of the list.

Little's Georgetown team defeated New York University, one of the strongest teams in the country, by a score of 7 to 2. The victory was scored by a touchdown resulting from a recovered fumble, although New York had outplayed Georgetown in every department of the game.

Little could have crowded, because he had a very good team that had beaten a team reputed to be the strongest in the country. But he didn't crowd.

Talking to newspapermen immediately after the game Little said:

"I hope you fellows will forget about this game when you are making your final rating of the teams. New York University has the greatest team in the country. It is much superior to our team, and I would suggest that you throw this victory of ours clear out of your reckoning."

CAN'T SOCK THEIR BROTHERS

Fraternity politics are again messing up the Yale football team, according to reports from the New Haven campus. Yale certainly did not have a successful season, and the reasons are being discussed with an attempt at privacy.

But the student papers have given some tips on the situation with the charge that the players were not in condition for several games because they had stayed up too late the night previous in the pursuit of fraternity activities.

When the coach of any college team is a graduate of the school and a big fraternity man himself he simply can't be as hard on the boys as a successful coach has to be when outside influences are at work on the squad.

Oregon Coach III,
Taken From Train

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Paul Schisler, coach of the Oregon State football team that defeated New York University in New York last Thursday, is ill of influenza in St. Luke's hospital here today. Attending physicians said his condition was not alarming.

He was taken from the train here Sunday for treatment. The rest of the squad returned home.

PLAYER DRAFT ROW OPENS AT TORONTO MEET

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 4.—A battle which may bring about a new alignment in organized baseball was on in Toronto today.

The question of the universal draft, whereby players from leagues now exempt from selection may be taken up by the majors, was placed before the delegates to the annual meeting of the National association.

When representatives of 30 minor leagues enter the congress, they will have to vote on propositions which radically change the present order of things. The major leagues are well represented at Toronto, with President Heydler of the National League and President Barnard of the American on hand, and their influence already is making itself felt.

The universal draft, which means that ball players from Class AA leagues can be selected by the majors, just as players in lower categories of baseball, was the one subject of conversation in the crowded lobbies of the King Edward hotel. Opponents of the plan were outnumbered, but were vigorous in their declarations that if any such scheme were carried out there would be a break in the ranks of the National association, which at present embraces all 80 of the minor leagues.

Withdrawal of the three Class AA leagues—the International, Pacific Coast and American association—is a certainty, members of those groups declare, if any move is made at the Toronto meeting to force on them the universal draft.

These leagues are prepared to draw away from the National association and form an organization of their own before they will give up the rights to players which they enjoy now.

The National association itself is not scheduled to go into session until tomorrow which leaves considerable time for lobbying.

The first drive against the opposition to the draft was made when certain elements within the International league attempted to oust John Conway Toole as president. Toole represents the group of Class AA clubs which feel that the universal draft constitutes an encroachment on their rights. It proved so difficult, this business of ousting, that Toole's opponents gave up in despair and did not even bring the matter up at the annual meeting.

Cards Would Quit 'Big Game' Fire

PALO ALTO, Calif., Dec. 4.—

The students of Stanford University as well as faculty members are figuring in dollars and cents the advisability of abolishing the annual bonfire at the "Big Game" rally.

Bills which poured in after this year's celebration caused the pondering. The first bonfire was prematurely burned and tools left near the pile were consumed. When the second one was built lumber yards were looted. Various firms presented bills totaling $1200.

Tod Morgan Held Even By Zorilla

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, still had his title intact today, although he was held to a 10-round draw last night by Santiago Zorilla, San Blas Indian fighter. Neither fighter inflicted any serious damage and the bout was marred by considerable clinching.

Many of the ringersiders thought Morgan was entitled to the decision, but the local battle did not inspire much enthusiasm one way or another.

NEWPORT BUILDING PERMITS INCREASE

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 4.—Building permits here last month were more than $10,000 greater than permits for the same month in 1927, it was reported today by Eugene Fenelon, building inspector. Permits last month aggregated $38,965 while for November, 1927, permits amounted to $28,535.

Several houses including one $10,000 residence for Lido Isle, and several smaller homes on the new island subdivision did much to boost the building total during November, Fenelon reported.

Winner!

The artist friend who advised lovely Dorothy Gray, 254 West 12th St., New York City, to enter two recent beauty contests, is probably saying, "I told you so." She won both of them and a movie engagement into the bargain. Two bad pictures can't show the loveliness of her skin and the gleaming beauty of her dark brown hair, points which, the judges say, swayed their decisions.

"When I consider how people admire my hair now and how different it was not long ago," says Miss Gray, "I can't help telling about it. Dandruff had nearly ruined my hair. It had gotten stringy, dull and was falling out. My scalp was terribly uncomfortable. Then a friend told me start using this method of caring for the hair which is all the rage among New York girls. Now, I just put a little Danderuff on my brush each time I use it. Since I have been doing this regularly, all dandruff has disappeared; my scalp has become perfectly comfortable and healthy; my hair has stopped falling out and has become soft, gleamy and pretty."

Danderuff quickly removes that oily film from your hair, restores its natural color, gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy to dress and keeps it in place. It stops dandruff. It isn't oily and doesn't show. At all drug stores, 35c. A delicately fragrant toilet necessity for the well-groomed girl.—Adv.

COAST VIADUCT SEEN BY BEACH CITY ENGINEER

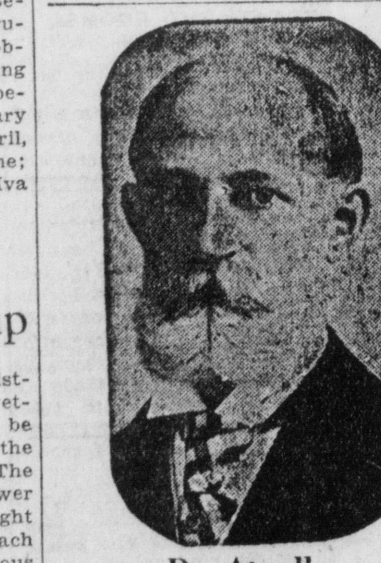

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 4.—A plan for the construction of a viaduct over the coast highway at Newport boulevard leading into Newport Beach may be worked out in the near future, according to a report made last night by City Engineer R. L. Patterson to the city council. The attention of the city officials was directed to the need of a viaduct at the crossing by directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

City Councilman Paul Ellsworth and Patterson comprise a special committee on the viaduct matter. Patterson reported that he had gone over the ground with County Highway Superintendent Nat Neff and that he believed a plan could be worked out by the city and county which could be presented to state highway officials.

Construction of a sign directing traffic leaving Newport Beach and Balboa was urged by Ellsworth. The sign would be erected just east of Twenty-first street in Newport Beach and would direct persons desiring to go to Huntington Beach, Long Beach and other western coast cities to take the Central avenue route out of town. This would assist in eliminating traffic congestion at the Arches crossing, it was declared by Ellsworth.

A proposal to pave a wide intersection across the Pacific Electric tracks at the point where the crossing must be made is also under consideration by the committee, it was reported.

Elimination of a dangerous crossing at Cypress and Bay avenues in Balboa was discussed by the council. Patterson reported that property sufficient to remedy the matter could be secured from the owners for $1500. He intimated, however, that a lower price might be secured. No action was taken.

Property owners in the vicinity of South Main street and Chestnut avenue will have the opportunity, at the meeting of the city council, next Monday night, of presenting protests to the establishment, by H. G. Andrews, of an oil station on the property of J. E. Parsons at the southeast corner of these two streets.

The planning commission has recommended to the council that the application for a permit to establish an oil station on the corner be granted on condition that certain changes in the plans be made. The important changes were the substitution of a 35-foot cut in the curb to permit entrance from Main street for two 30-foot cuts, location of the station 15 feet from the present property line and moving of an iron cream stand on the corner five feet back on the lot. Parsons and Andrews agreed to the recommended changes and an order was made for posting the property giving notice of the hearing of protests Monday night.

Application of L. A. Lindsay for permission to operate a popcorn stand at his residence at 1313 East Third street, was referred to the city manager with power to act.

Permission was given Bert E. Dawson to establish a merchant's patrol here and the resignation of Dawson as a member of the police force was accepted. L. H. Nicholson and Ray Glidden were appointed to the police force.

Property of C. F. Millen, at 1223 North Ross street, was ordered posted for a hearing of protests against Millen's application for changing the property from

Want Corners At Bush And Tenth Streets Rounded

Following recommendations by the city planning commission, made at its session in the council chambers, yesterday afternoon, the city council last night directed City Engineer Clyde Jenken to make investigations as to the probable cost of rounding corners at Bush and Tenth streets that will eliminate some of the dangers at the corner because of the jog in Bush street at this intersection.

It is proposed to cut the northwest corner, taking property owned by Fred Rafferty, and the southeast corner. It was pointed out that traffic is increasing on Bush street and that the situation at the intersection is menacing.

Jenken submitted a map showing new curb lines on the two corners, but he had not completed his plan at the point of figuring out the probable radius.

The single resident to the bungalow court zone.

The request of Schmid and Long for a change in the zoning of a lot in the 1400 block on Cypress avenue was granted. The property is changed from the single residence to the duplex zone.

Steele Finley was the only contractor submitting a bid for paving South Birch street, from Fairview to Wilshire, and award of the contract was deferred for one week. Finley's offer was $17,642.

Finley was granted permission to circulate a petition for paving on Grand avenue, from First to Fourth street. A petition for paving the same section was rejected a few months ago, when a protest, purporting to carry the signatures of the owners of 75 per cent of the frontage, was presented. Investigations in the last week revealed that 50 per cent of the street frontage was represented by property owners whose lots face on Second and Third streets.

UNFAIR DEALING IS CHARGED IN GARBAGE SALE

That the city has concluded a contract for the sale to Dr. C. E. Price of the garbage of Santa Ana for the next 10 years for $63,000 was revealed at the meeting of the city council, last night, when Charles Duneen, of Long Beach, appeared before the board and virtually demanded that the city body submit such a contract to public bids.

It was disclosed that Duneen and Beckley, who are said to have the contract for the garbage gathered in Long Beach, had submitted a private proposition to City Manager W. G. Knox, in which the Long Beach firm offered to pay the city $63,000 in 10 years for garbage collections delivered at the hog ranch on city property southwest of the city.

According to declarations by Mayor F. L. Purinton, Dr. Price made the same offer at a conference meeting and was assured of the contract if he signed on the dotted line. Official approval was given the contract last night.

Duneen declared his belief that there has been a "leak" in his negotiations with the city, for he asserted that Dr. Price had called him by phone and told him that he would meet the price offered by the Long Beach firm.

When Duneen insisted on a public call for bids for the city garbage and became a little heated in "flings" at the council that carried insinuations of unfair dealing, the mayor told him that the city's dealings with Dr. Price had been entirely satisfactory and that the matter was a closed incident because Dr. Price had signed the contract.

The new contract becomes effective next October. Under its provisions Dr. Price will pay $5400 annually for two and a half years, $6000 annually for the next period of two and a half years, $6600 annually for the third period of the same duration and $7200 a year for the final two and a half years. Price now is paying $2700 a year for the city collections.

CHILDREN MAKE OWN MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Proving that there is a great deal of ingenuity among grammar school students in this city, Mrs. Frances Hunt Beeson, supervisor of music in Santa Ana schools, told of the many original musical instruments which have been devised by the students in an address yesterday noon at the luncheon meeting of the Business and Professional Women. As examples, Mrs. Beeson exhibited a number of clever instruments, made from reeds, a sardine can, coconut shells, cigar boxes and other odds and ends.

Mrs. Beeson declared that these instruments may be played and that in many schools there are hands made up of the children who made their own instruments.

Preceding Mrs. Beeson's talk, Mrs. John Tessmann, president of the club, who, with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby, spent the holidays in Death Valley, gave an entertaining account of the trip. She described the famous salt wells which are situated near Ryan and told of the peculiar formation of the earth in that vicinity.

Mrs. Tessmann asked members to co-operate as much as possible with those who are in charge of the Christmas seal campaign, as the money is sorely needed for the health camp in Santiago canyon. This year marks the first time the camp, which is under the direction of Mrs. Amelia Meagher, has been kept open during the winter months.

The program committee for the coming month includes Miss Hazel Bemis, chairman; Mrs. Clara Cooke, Miss Lulu Blackburn, Mrs. Minnie Mayhill and Miss Mabel Larrick.

Police News

Y. Ybarra, charged with disturbing the peace, was fined $50 by Judge J. F. Talbot in police court yesterday. He was accused of driving his family out of the house into the rain Sunday night. Unable to pay the fine, Ybarra was committed to the county jail.

M. R. Allen, Santa Ana, was fined $2 yesterday on an overtime parking charge and Albert Paine, Santa Ana, was fined $2 on a charge of parking his machine on a downtown street between 2 and 5 a. m., in violation of a city ordinance.

Three men, found asleep in box cars here last night, were arrested and are being held in the county jail as vagrants. They gave the names of Frank Toscano, 20, Joe Comatio, 20, and Henry Parisean, 21.

Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, S. Saragoza, Delhi, was fined $250 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday. He was arrested Sunday night after the automobile he was driving had collided with another machine near First and McClay streets. Saragoza was booked in the county jail on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

HELP THEM—BUY SEALS

A big sale of Christmas seals in Orange county will make it possible for the Orange County Tuberculosis association to continue its program of health building for boys and girls in the health camp in Santiago canyon. Note the rugged appearance of these three boys, who are keenly interested in the pet rabbits kept at the camp.

10 SANTA ANA BOYS ATTEND Y. CONFERENCE

Ten boys and four men represented the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. at the twenty-fifth annual older boys' conference, which was held in Whittier over the week end.

About 250 delegates were registered for the conference, the number being smaller than usual, because of the limited accommodations available for their meetings and entertainment.

Aviation as a prototype of life furnished the theme of the conference and provided the subjects for the addresses by various noted speakers.

Harry L. Kingman, of Berkeley, formerly, a member of the New York Yankees, was a popular speaker, both because of his notable record in athletics and because of the inspiring quality of his talks. President Walter Dexter, of Whittier college, was another outstanding speaker on the program, which included discussion groups, conferences, personal interviews, recreational features and other features which always are attractive to the boys.

Several cities issued invitations for the 1929 conference, with the Hollywood Y. M. C. A. appearing to be the most likely contender for the honor of entertaining the meeting. The conference is held each year in the Thanksgiving holiday season.

AUTO PLUNGES INTO CREEK BUT CHILD UNHURT

Gordon Otis, 6-year-old son of William Otis Jr., 419 West Nineteenth street, will have something to tell his playmates about as the result of being carried part way over a 35-foot embankment in a runaway car at about 6:30 last night.

The family car, a new sedan, was standing on the top of the bank of Santiago creek, near the North Main street bridge. Gordon's mother and brother, William, were purchasing groceries in the camp ground store while he stayed in the car. Gordon was in the front seat but climbed over the seat to the back of the car. In so doing, he kicked the car out of gear and it rolled forward over the bank. Gordon jumped out of the open door half-way down the bank, an escaped injury.

After hitting the mud and water in the creek bed, the automobile coasted across the stream and climbed a sand bank, leaving the rear wheels submerged in the water. By a mere stroke of luck the front wheels did not swerve or the car would have overturned. A flat tire and a bent front axle were the damage. A tow car extricated the car.

WORK DONE BY ASSOCIATION IS HIGHLY PRAISED

Urging that Santa Ana residents be liberal in responding to the plea of the Orange County Tuberculosis association in its sales of Christmas seals, the Santa Ana city council today had issued the following appeal, the signature of J. L. McBride being absent by reason of the fact that illness prevented his attendance at the meeting of the city council last night:

"In recognition of the splendid work being done by the Orange County Tuberculosis association in building up and training the undernourished children in the health camp in the Santiago canyon, the city council hereby indorses the Christmas health seal sale of this organization and urges the residents of this city to give their generous support to the campaign as one of the finest contributions they can make toward the welfare of the city."

Colony Fretting Under Paris Rule

BORDEAUX, France, Dec. 4.—France's colonial empire would be promptly sold to the United States or anybody else willing to buy it at a reasonable price if the inhabitants of Southwestern France had their way.

Public opinion is so resolutely hostile to French external expansion that a meeting of the union of economic associations of the southwest recently voted, almost unanimously, a resolution demanding that the importation of colonial produce be formally prohibited and that France take steps to get rid of her colonies.

U. S. C. FOOTBALL STAR IS TO WED LONG BEACH GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Prince of 642 North Parton street, are announcing the engagement of their grandson, Don Williams, University of Southern California football star, and Miss Floy Malcome, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Malcome of Long Beach.

The wedding of the young people will take place in February following Mr. Williams' graduation from the university, at the Long Beach home of Miss Malcome and will be the culmination of a romance which started some time ago at the University of Southern California where both were students.

They will make their home in Los Angeles where Mr. Williams will be assistant secretary of the U. S. C. alumni association. The young man is well known in Santa Ana where he has lived most of his life with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Prince. He was one of the most popular athletes ever to attend the local high school and he has continued his fine record throughout his four years in college.

He is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Prince of 725 South Ross street, and of Mrs. Ross Howe of Tustin.

Another nice way is to core and peel the apple, cut in thinner rounds, dip in flour, and drop into fritter batter, then into deep fat until the apple is cooked soft. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. If any one has a different way I would be happy to have them send it to me for publication.

TODAY'S RECIPE
WELSH RABBIT
1 tablespoon butter
1-2 pound diced cheese
Seasonings to taste of cayenne, paprika, tobacco, Worcestershire, horseradish and mustard.
1-3 cup hot milk
1 egg slightly beaten
Buttered toast or crackers
If a highly seasoned rabbit is desired many of the seasonings mentioned might be used in small proportion, otherwise use salt, pepper, paprika and one-half teaspoonful of dry mustard.

Put the butter and cheese to melt in a double boiler; when the cheese begins to soften add whatever seasonings you wish to use and keep chopping and mixing the cheese until it is quite soft.

Have the milk warmed, add a little of it to the cheese and keep stirring. Continue until the cheese and milk are all in and the mixture is creamy; add the egg, well beaten, cook for two minutes and serve on buttered toast or crisp crackers.

A little experimentation will soon decide for you what flavors you wish to use in Welsh Rabbit. The cooking heat is very important. At no time must it be a violent heat that will boil the water because the cheese—this is one of the reasons for curdling. A tiny pinch of soda added to the milk prevents such mishaps and will not spoil the flavor.

There are six small portions in this recipe, with calories totalling 1200, mostly proteins. Allowing a slice of buttered toast to each portion the individual total is around 270. Welsh Rabbit is a fine meat substitute.

A CAFETERIA PARTY MENU is the subject of the current leaflet. The menu and recipes are suitable for an informal home party, for the large church suppers, or the recipes can be used SINGLY for ordinary home use. In each case the recipes are planned for 10 people and may be increased or decreased as needed.

The main thing is: every recipe is usable and it will be to YOUR interest to send in a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a free copy this week.

TOMORROW we will have German stew for dinner. This is an open-baked meal and directions will also be given for an oven-baked dessert.

ANN MEREDITH.

She had some amusing comment to make upon the many places of interest she visited abroad and her descriptions of customs peculiar to various countries was particularly interesting.

Preceding Mrs. Spurgeon's address, a delicious luncheon was served at card tables which were decorated for the occasion in the green and red of the Christmas season, bouquets of gay holly being used to center each table.

It was announced that the next meeting would take place Monday at the home of Mrs. Emrys White, North Broadway. The meeting date was moved up a week in order not to interfere with the Ebell meeting on December 17 when Ruth Bryan Owens will speak.

WILL SPEAK AT EBELL

Ruth Bryan Owens, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, and herself a famous politician, will speak at the Santa Ana Ebell club Monday afternoon, December 17. Mrs. Owens is the first woman to be elected to Congress from the Old South.

Santa Ana Ebells women are looking forward to the afternoon of Monday, December 17, when Ruth Bryan Owens, famous woman politician, will be in this city to speak at the Ebells club. Mrs. Owens, the daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, will be on the Pacific coast but a short time and Santa Ana Ebells society considers that it is very fortunate to be able to have her speak here.

Mrs. Owens was elected congresswoman from Florida in the recent elections by an overwhelming majority and is the first congresswoman ever to be elected from the Old South.

She has had one of the most interesting careers of any American woman, having lived abroad for more than a decade, visiting in strange and out of the way places over all of the world.

Mrs. Owens was prominent in war work during the World war when she served as a nurse for a time in Egypt in the British Voluntary Aid detachment. While in Egypt she did a great deal towards organizing concerts for the rest camps and war hospitals in that country.

Later she returned to Europe where she was co-secretary and treasurer with Mrs. Herbert Hoover on the Economic Relief commission.

While living in England, Mrs. Owens founded the community center for factory workers in Wollwich, London.

Following the death of her husband, Major Reginald Owens of the British Royal Engineers, Mrs. Owens returned to the United States where she established her residence in Miami, Florida.

In a very short time she was interesting herself in the civic life of the community and she was soon elected president of the community council and civic club of Miami. She was also elected to the board of regents of Miami university.

Becoming interested in state politics and finally national governmental problems, Mrs. Owens ran for congresswoman two years ago but was defeated. Running again in November, she was elected with an overwhelming majority.

The subject of her talk at Ebells has not been announced yet, according to Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth who is chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Chenoweth stated that the address probably would not be on politics.

been planned by the Worthys for the day at Huntington Beach in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Worthy, but illness of the young son of the hosts changed the plans.

Miss Vanona Worthy entertained as her guests Friday, Miss Katherine Thomas, a friend from Huntington Beach.

Ed L. Hansley, who has been ill and under a physician's care, is reported as somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. John McKenzie were hosts at a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day. Mr. and Mrs. John T. McKenzie, who are for the time being staying in the home of John McKenzie; their children, a cousin, William McKenzie; J. E. Miller, all of Midway City, and Mr. McKenzie's sister, Miss Ethel McKenzie, and Mr. Bow of Long Beach, with Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie and son, John McKenzie Jr., formed the dinner group.

Gifts are of two kinds. There are, of course, the usual little remembrances. For these, there is perhaps still plenty of time before Christmas.

But the other kind of gift, the gift which most express the deepest sentiments of affection or esteem, should be considered now! No last minute choice will do.

What, for this gift, will compare with a Gruen-Guild Watch? Think how admirably it will serve the purpose! At once an article of daily use and a lasting possession, it will be cherished for many years to come.

Consider Now The One Important Gift You Will Give This Christmas

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The deer who pulled the Tinymites to where they'd see some brand new sights, went quickly over the ground. He was as fleet as he could be. Now, just imagine how it feels to travel in a boat on wheels. The Tinymites bumped around so much that they could hardly see.

"Just think," cried Scouty. "My, how grand. We're bound for Santa's nice Toy Land. I wonder how far off it is, and when we will arrive." Poor Clowny answered, with a frown, "Who cares about that? Please sit down. This little boat is tipping so, we're lucky we're alive."

The other laughed and Copy cried. "Why, I'm enjoying this fine ride. I guess this morning you got out the wrong side of the bed. What fun is it to act so cross? What matters if we tip and toss. Please tell the deer to pick up speed." But Clowny shook his head.

"Oh, no," said he, "I've had enough. I think this trip is much too rough. Here! Someone take the reins awhile. My arms are all tired out. But, make sure that you hang on tight, or we will flip and drop from sight. If that should happen, we won't know what it's all about."

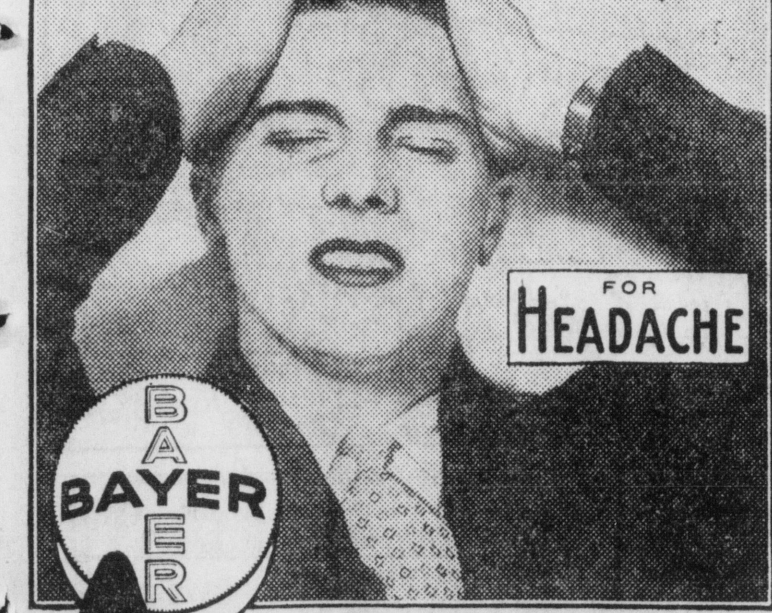

This made the others laugh in glee. Then Carpy shouted, "Mercy me! I'll do the driving gladly. I can show you how it's done." He took the reins in hand, and then the boat went bumpy-bump again. "Ha, ha," laughed Scouty. "Hang on to the boat. Gee, this is fun."

Thus, on they went, over hill and dale until the light of day grew pale. Soon Scouty saw the moon, and cried, "Let's ride all through the night. I'm sure there's not a thing to fear. We'll all sneak naps till morn is here." And so they carried out his plan, and things worked out all right.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

About the question of sleeping and keeping children warm and covered in cold winter nights, there is much to be said.

Like everything else, it is up to our own good judgment, for homes are different, children are different, weather is different—and climate, too, plays a great part.

There exists a certain popular idea about "hardening" children. That is, not allowing them to become accustomed to too many bed-clothes at night, and shoving up all the windows regardless of cold and wind.

I've seen parents do this who wouldn't have thought of sleeping men," as Maurice Mindus puts it in an article in "Asia."

"They, too, may do whatever work they are fitted to perform, whether in the teaching or medical or engineering professions or in industry. Neither a school board nor a factory manager nor anyone in charge of hiring workers has a right to refuse a woman applicant a position just because she is married or even because she is enciente."

"In industries, such as the textile, in which women predominate, a network of nurseries has been established to make possible the proper care of babies during work hours."

"This state of affairs naturally raises the question whether the Russian woman, under the burden of her new privileges and responsibilities, is not becoming too independent, too aggressive, too ambitious, too intelligent, and thereby debasing and perhaps killing romance."

"And is the Russian woman really a happier human being because of her new equalities? The new social scheme may eventually bring to Russian women a great rapture, but it will not be without the cost of a great agony."

The question, too, for women everywhere—not merely those of Russia.

in such rooms themselves. I have gone into bedrooms at night where there were sleeping children, when it was all I could do to endure the cold with my street wraps on.

The coldest days and nights of the year are ahead of us now. We face three or four months of our bitterest weather.

A wise mother is going to think this thing out now.

First of all, there should be plenty of warm, light bed-clothes. This is important. Heavy bed-clothes are not always warm, and they are never healthful. Blankets should be made of wool. Comforts may be cotton-filled, but cotton is likely to lump in places, leaving other parts thin or entirely empty between the chintz covers. The ideal comfort is wool, or fleece filled. Elder-down is ideal but very expensive.

Nightgowns should be loose and warm. For winter they should be made of soft, fleecy material, such as outing flannel or the flexible knitted fabrics made for the purpose. Ready-made sleeping garments with feet, for children, cannot well be improved upon.

For little babies, sleeping bags are very practical. These can be made of small blankets folded double and sewed up the sides. Snappers can be put at the top, covering the shoulders, allowing enough space for the head. This is better than a draw-string. There should be plenty of room to kick about inside the bag.

Blankets should be fastened to the bed if children toss. Tapes can be sewed on the corners and tied to the bars at the side.

The air of the room should be fresh and cold, but never bitter and never blowing on the bed or around the head. Attractive bedroom screens may be made cheaply by covering a clothes-horse with cretonne. The sides and head of open beds should be lined.

There is something else to be remembered, however. Not all winter nights are bitter. You can't fix up a child for below-zero weather and expect him to be comfortable on a night registering 40 above. Don't keep him too hot on such nights.

This is where the question of judgment comes in. Consider your house, rooms, location of beds, and your climate.

AT THE THEATERS

WEST COAST WALKER

A remarkable demonstration of the emotional power of Al Jolson is furnished in "The Singing Fool," the new production in which he is presented by Warner Bros.

Though Jolson's stormily dramatic rendition of popular ballads has undoubtedly been an important factor in causing the public to acclaim him as the world's favorite entertainer, he has always been considered first and foremost as a comedian.

And yet, "The Singing Fool" is not a comedy—having few comedy moments—and no element of comedy action whatever. It is a drama of the most intense pathos—a moving story of the utmost emotional depth, in which Al, though gay and light-hearted in the beginning, is brought at length to the depths of despair.

Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" comes to the Walker theater today for a run of five days.

WEST END

The feature picture on the program of the West End theater is "Women Who Dare," starring Helene Chadwick. In her supporting cast are Charles Delaney, Frank Beale, Jack Richardson, Henry A. Barrows, James Quinn, James Fitzgerald, Grace Elliott, Margaret McWade.

The story is an adaptation by Adrian Johnson of one of Langdon McCormick's masterpieces; the production was under the supervision of Harry Chandler. It tells of a rich man's daughter who is determined to leave her easy, purposeless life and help in the alleviation of distress. She takes the non de plume of "Stella Vance" and by a series of articles contributed to a newspaper she brings down an avalanche of criticism on the oppressors of the poor. Unknown to Stella, her father is one of the worst oppressors.

Having braved her father's wrath she carries on her campaign to its ultimate conclusion, braving all most unbelievable danger in so doing. Therein lies the gist of the descriptive scenes.

YOST BROADWAY

One of the best balanced casts of the year is seen in the First National Picture "The Crash," which is showing at the Yost Broadway theater tonight.

The star of the picture is Milton Sills, one of the most popular luminaries on the screen. A few of his more recent pictures include

"The Barker," "The Hawk's Nest," "Burning Daylight," "Framed" and "The Sea Tiger."

Thelma Todd, who plays the leading feminine supporting role, is claimed by many to be the most beautiful blonde in the movies. After winning a beauty contest less than two years ago, she was drafted from her position as school teacher in the East to come to Hollywood. She met with almost instant success and was advanced to featured roles after her work in "Vamping Venus," a First National picture starring Charlie Murray.

William Demarest, the heavy of "The Crash," was for a number of years one of the most popular of vaudeville stars. He was recently seen in "The Butter and Egg Man," in support of Jack Mulhall. Wade Boteler, another member of "The Crash" cast, has been in pictures for 15 years, while Sylvia Ashton has been playing "mother" roles for almost that length of time.

"The Crash" was directed by Edward Cline

WEST END

Once again has the Tiffany-Stahl company made a picture that is fine film entertainment. Their newest production "The Tragedy of Youth" was shown here for the first time yesterday at the West End theater and there is no doubt in the mind of the reviewer that this company has come to the forefront rapidly with pictures that are worthwhile and of fine quality.

"The Tragedy of Youth" was directed by George Archibald and has in the cast of players

ELIMINATION OF PHONE TOLLS IN COUNTY IS SEEN

The possibility of dividing Orange county into two telephone zones and eliminating city-to-city toll charges within the new areas is being considered today by a committee of seven men, appointed Saturday at a general telephone conference in Ketchikan, Alaska, at which J. J. Deuel, head of the law and utility department of the California Farm Bureau federation, brought the situation to the attention of 25 representative citizens.

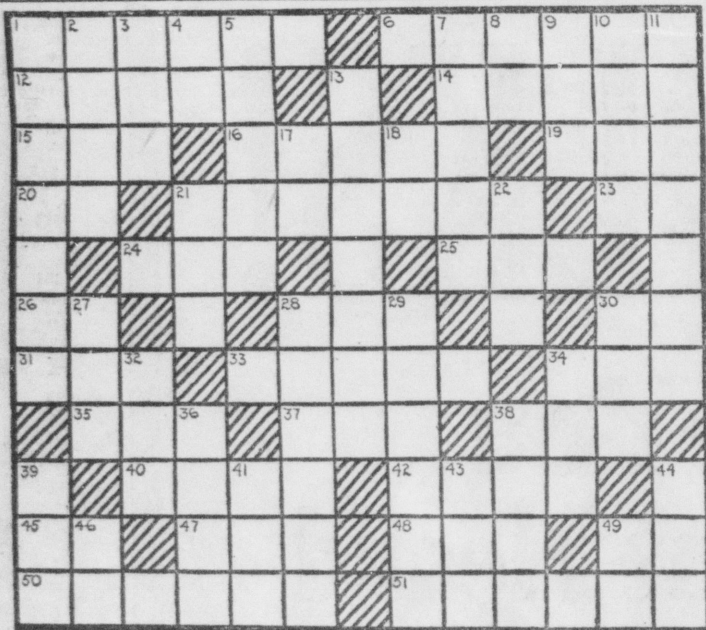

The committee will work on the question with telephone company officials and with the railroad commission. At Saturday's session the general opinion seemed to favor removing the identity of smaller communities would not be lost by the move.

J. W. Crill, of Garden Grove, was made chairman of the committee. Other members are Thomas Pickering, secretary of the Placencia Chamber of Commerce; H. E. Warner, Yorba Linda; V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Chamber of Commerce; S. S. Twombly, Fullerton; John Osterman, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, and George Macleod, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce and of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county.

Engineers Rhodes and Fry, of the telephone division of the railroad commission, were present at the Saturday session. Earl Morrow, district manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, also attended and outlined the basis of rate schedule making.

of the attorney general have been provided until there are now over $10. Such a condition is as harmful to the interest of the government now as it was in 1870, and should be corrected by appropriate legislation.

SPECIAL GOVERNMENT COUNSEL

In order to prosecute the oil cases, I suggested and the congress enacted a law providing for the appointment of two special counsel. They have pursued their work with signal ability, recovering all the leased lands besides nearly $30,000,000 in money, and nearly $17,000,000 in other property. They find themselves hampered by a statute, which the attorney general construes as applying to them, prohibiting their appearing for private clients before any department. For this reason, one has been compelled to resign. No good result is secured by the application of this rule to these counsel, and as Mr. Roberts has consented to take reappointment if the rule is abrogated, I recommend the passage of an amendment to the law creating their office exempting them from the general rule against taking other cases involving the government.

PROHIBITION

The country has duly adopted the eighteenth amendment. Those who object to it have the right to advocate its modification or repeal. Meantime, it is binding upon the national and state governments and all our inhabitants. The federal enforcement bureau is making every effort to prevent violations, especially through smuggling, manufacture, and transportation, and to prosecute generally all violations for which it can secure evidence. It is bound to continue this policy. Under the terms of the constitution, however, the obligation is equally on the states to exercise the power which they have through the executive, legislative, judicial, and police branches of their governments in behalf of enforcement. The federal government is doing all it can in this direction and is entitled to the active cooperation of the states.

CONCLUSION

The country is in the midst of an era of prosperity more extensive and of peace more permanent than it has ever before experienced. But, having reached this position, we should not fail to comprehend that it can easily be lost. It needs more effort for its support than the less exalted places of the world. We shall not be permitted to take our ease, but shall continue to be required to spend our days in unremitting toil. The action of the government must command the confidence of the country. Without this, our prosperity would be lost. We must extend to other countries the largest measure of generosity, moderation, and patience. In addition to dealing justly, we can well afford to walk humbly.

The end of government is to keep open the opportunity for a more abundant life. Peace and prosperity are not finalities; they are only methods. It is too easy under their influence for a nation to become selfish and degenerate. This test has come to the United States. Our country has been provided with the resources with which it can enlarge its intellectual, moral, and spiritual life. The issue is in the hands of the people. Our faith in man and God is the justification for the belief in our continuing success.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

POST OFFICE SITE CHOSEN BY COMMITTEE

chased for that sum of money that local interests raise the difference between the $50,000 and the price quoted.

In discussing the location requirements for a postoffice building, J. P. Baumgartner developed the point as to whether consideration should be given to the residence district or to the business district. It was pointed out by Stephenson and Newman that foot delivery is the big item of cost in efficient postoffice service to the public, and stress was given to the point that the building should be in a location where the footman would not have to waste too much time in getting to and from his route. It was brought out that four men make three daily deliveries of mail in the business district, while 16 men make two deliveries in the residential district. It was pointed out by Stephenson that the bulk of the mail deposited in Santa Ana was done by the business houses and that deposits in Santa Ana was done by the mercantile firms. Location of the building at a point some distance from the center of the business district would be of great inconvenience to this class of patrons of the postoffice, it was asserted.

Discussing building customs of the department, Newman said that the government would like to have a site of sufficient size to leave at least 40 feet around the building for beautification, and in presenting this idea, he commented on the fact that the government does not carry insurance. He said, however, that it was possible a 10-foot set back around the building would be sufficient.

"We want to build a structure that will be an ornament to the city and one in which the citizens will take pride," the engineer said, in a suggestion that local interests should contribute something to the site costs so as to leave enough money in the appropriation fund to pay the costs of erection of an attractive building.

Sites at the corner of Third and Bush, Second and Bush and Second and Spurgeon were properties mentioned at the conference. Stephenson revealed, after mention of these corners by others, that a lot 150x200 on the southwest corner of Spurgeon and Bush had been offered at $32,000 while a site of the same size at the southeast corner of Bush and Second had been presented at $37,500.

Expressing his satisfaction at the steady and consistent growth of the city as observed in statistics of the schools, public utilities and postoffice, Newman said that the structure built at this time should be designed to take care of the business of the postoffice for the next 15 years, and in making this declaration he intimated his confidence in the future by stating that it should be at least twice the size of a building that would meet requirements of those attending the meeting were Mayor F. L. Purinton, Councilmen Stanley Goode and H. C. Chaney, Col. S. H. Finley, J. P. Baumgartner, L. G. Swales, T. E. Stephenson, W. A. Newman, C. H. Chapman, J. C. NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Whoever feels the call of adventure for its own sake will be fascinated by "John Cameron's Odyssey," transcribed by Andrew Farrell. In this remarkable book we are carried back to the days when life was raw and primitive, when every day was full of excitement. This was the life of sailors and ships and unknown ports before steam clipped the wings of the clipper ship.

According to Captain Cameron, no Scot is contented unless he is putting something on paper. From this urge in himself has come a great tale of adventure. From misty notebooks, from diaries stained with sea water, from old papers a quarter of a century old, John Cameron has set down the strange happenings of his life.

This life had its beginning in Scotland, where the call of the sea came when he was 12 years old. At the end of this roving, we find him far away in old Japan, after his last voyage.

Rich With Adventure The years lying between were rich with adventure. Storms, murderous fights, sudden death, thrilling wrecks, months on a deserted island, savage chiefs, cannibals, heathen rites, Spanish dogs, dusky damsels, roques, gentlemen—all crowd these pages. The exotic scenery of the south seas makes a colorful background. The swift events makes a breathless narrative.

In reading "John Cameron's Odyssey," we take passage to the far ends of the earth for glorious adventure.

We find adventure of an entirely different sort in "Jubilee Jim" by Robert H. Fuller. This is the intimate story of Jim Fisk, profiteer, speculator, showman, deplorable human scamp. With the rest of the profiteer pirates of Wall Street he speculated in war supplies, steamships, contraband cotton. He played with railroads, he helped Gould corner gold.

Jubilee Jim could never tolerate the commonplace. His every act was done with a flourish in the grand manner, whether he was driving French ballet girls up Fifth avenue, leading his famous Fifth regiment, filling the self-made post of Admiral of the Fall River Line with pomp and circumstance, swindling old Commodore Vanderbilt of $7,000,000, treading the primrose path with Jose Mansfield, or meeting death from a bullet fired by a bosom friend as his rival in love. Straight through to this dramatic murder he spun out the flashy melodrama of his life.

Gay, Thrilling Book Robert H. Fuller has presented the facts of this amazing career with the unflinching gusto that marked Jim Fisk's manner of living. It is a gorgeous book, a picture, a thrilling book. It gives a glimpse of the glided age that shows it with all its tinsel splendor. Anyone with a sense of humor will appreciate this laughter provoking lithograph of the American scene.

In "Whither Mankind" edited by Charles A. Beard, we are embarked on the greatest adventure of all—that of searching into the destinies of civilization. The thinkers of the world are wondering about the outcome of the systems built up in the various countries. The names of many of these inquirers from every land come to mind: Hu Hung Ming and Hu Shih in China; Gandhi and Tagore in India; Yuku Tsurumi and the late Arishima in Japan; Ferrero and Croce in Italy; Spengler and Kaysersling in Germany; Fabre-Luce, Demanogon, and Georges Batault in France; Wells, Chesterton, Belloc, Shaw, and Dean Inge in England; Unamuno in Spain; Trotsky in Russia; Ugarte in Argentina.

The present discussion about civilization is most pertinent, but such confusion reigns among those engaged in inquiries, that it seems worth while to take stock, clarify, and specifications, and to invite those who talk with facility about it to deliver a bill of particulars. Such is the purpose of the present book.

Important Questions The questions discussed by thinking men of various nations are those having to do with the state of our civilization. What is meant intrinsically by the contrast between Western and Oriental civilization? What is the "west" that is threatened with a decline? What does a decline imply in terms of population, economy, art, government, literature, and life in general? Is that assumption supported by data, or is it a mere hypothesis born of temperament and certain psychological situations induced by outward events such as defeats, disappointments and adversities in general? If the decline is really imminent can anything be done about it? If not, must philosophy despair and assume that the universe is meaningless, that the force which carries nations to high pinnacles will shortly bankrupt itself?

Such a book as this is truly challenging for us to study the forces of our civilization, that we may evolve a more perfect life.

arraigned in the death of the Mexican, now identified as Alvin Gothea.

In making a written admission of the slaying of Gothea, Northcott said the victim came from an orphanage home in San Diego county. Officers were prone not to believe this origin.

Northcott wrote the confession only after Deputy District Attorney Redwine promised to bring him to Riverside today to permit him to plead guilty to the murder of Gothea.

Of the nine or eleven murders, Northcott purported to have knowledge of, he credited five to himself.

After writing the admission concerning Gothea he confessed orally to killing Walter Collins, Lewis Winslow, a boy named Richard West and an unidentified youth. He attributed one slaying to his father, Cyrus Northcott and still another to Sanford Clark.

Clark, a nephew of Northcott and responsible for the revelations which led to the investigation of the murder farm, was accused of the murder of Nelson Winslow.

Northcott refused to divulge the names of other purported victims and alternately claimed nine and then eleven youths were done to death on his Riverside county chicken farm.

During the search of the desert for the remains of the skull of the Mexican youth Northcott told of his slaying of the various youths but never after he made them say their prayers "so they would be right with God."

"I never tortured them—I liked them too well," Northcott is said to have told officers at one time.

Later he said both he and young Clark loved all the murder ranch victims.

In his amazing confession Northcott is said to have exclaimed: "If you ever get certain members of my family to talk, you will hear one of the wildest tales you ever listened to. Believe me, officers, that chicken ranch was a regular butcher shop."

He charged his father with complicity in the crimes, according to officers.

Mrs. Louisa Northcott, the confessed slayer's mother, now in Canada, is under indictment for complicity in the slaying of 9 year old Walter Collins.

BOULDER DAM ENGINEERS REPORT

The report of the Board of Engineers and geologists who were appointed to investigate the Boulder Dam project has been made. This report re-establishes the claim of those who have been pushing the Swing-Johnson bill as being absolutely valid. They favor the Black Canyon site over the Boulder Canyon site for the reasons of rock formation, and the fact that a greater volume of water can be retained back of the same height of dam than can be in the Boulder Canyon.

Nothing could be clearer than their statement that they believe it is feasible. The only place in which they differ is in the amount of money which this will cost. Quoting their own language: "The board is of the opinion that it is feasible from an engineering standpoint to build a dam across the Colorado River at Black Canyon that will safely impound water to an elevation of 550 feet above low water." This is the gist, substance, and practically all that is necessary from their report from an engineering angle.

They said in regard to the expense: "The cost, however, will be greater than that contemplated in the project authorized in HR5773." In this they refer to the action of the House of Representatives which has passed the Legislature.

The engineers' report then proceeds to describe how this dam should be built for the largest measure of protection, and says that this protection can be afforded by building it on conservative if not ultra-conservative lines. They discuss the specifications technically, and point out what in their judgment are the safety factors, and to which attention should be given.

In regard to a power house, their statement is: "While a power house must be fitted to a particular site and its equipment must be designed and selected for the particular conditions which obtain at such site, the entire installation will nevertheless be largely standard, and offers no particular difficulties."

Taking up the matter of the all-American Canal and discussing it in its various phases, they conclude in respect to this, although it is clear that difficulties are presented by the drifting sands, it is the opinion of the board that it is feasible to construct, maintain, and successfully operate the canal. To overcome all these difficulties would affect the cost which has been allowed for in the estimates. They make the estimate of the total cost at $165,000,000, an increase of $40,000,000.

They gather together their general conclusion in the following statement: "A dam of 550 feet above low water, across the Colorado River at Black Canyon, impounding 26,000,000 acre feet of water, will be adequate, in the opinion of the board, to regulate the flow of the lower Colorado, so as to control ordinary floods; to improve the present navigation possibilities; and to store and deliver the available water for reclamation of public lands and for other beneficial uses within the United States."

In respect to the objection that silt would fill the basin, which has been made by various persons, their conclusion in respect to this is well worth bringing out. They say: "When due allowances are made for distribution in the various reserve portions of the reservoir it appears that approximately three-fourths of the effective reserve capacity for irrigation and power will still be available at the end of the first fifty-year period, and that a slightly larger proportion of the flood reserve capacity will still be available."

Their final statement upon the matter of power should remove all question of doubt in the minds of every honest man for while the board admits that they will probably be unable to meet the entire cost, if they include the canal in the cost, from the income on power in 50 years, it unquestionably will be met in an additional number of years, or in eliminating that portion of expense due to the canal from the total estimate. On this their report says: "Based on the foregoing and the shortage of power which will occur at low flow, the board is of the opinion that if the Boulder Canyon project is completed and put in operation, carrying as it does the costs of flood-protection works and the All-American canal, it will be impossible to meet operation, maintenance, interest and sufficient sinking fund to retire the cost of the project within a fifty-year period."

"(4) It is obvious that the power which can be generated from Boulder Dam is a valuable resource. If the income from storage can be reasonably increased and the capital investment reduced by the cost of the All-American canal together with a reduction for all or a part of the cost property chargeable to flood protection it would be possible to amortize the remaining cost with the income from power."

We have brought out above the salient conclusions bearing upon the controversial items, and we submit that the differences between the conclusions arrived at by these engineers, and the conclusions insisted upon by those who are favoring the Swing-Johnson Bill are no more than the differences between any groups of honest men investigating the same project separately and coming to favorable conclusions in respect to it. It is feasible, safe, needed, and the power generated will pay for it. The opposition to it has not one solitary defense in the light of this report.

"CONFESSIONS" OF A JANITOR

What janitors do know isn't worth knowing, and what janitors DO know is well worth knowing. For here is what a janitor of the high school plant in Santa Ana, who has been on the same job for twenty years, has to say:

Modern youth are not as bad as painted by some people.

The youth of today are much better than those of yesterday.

The present system of student government would have caused a revolution in school if presented long ago.

Girls and boys of 1928 are more polite, more considerate and more studious than those of 1908 by a big margin.

In the old days assembly programs were dull, stiff and extremely formal. Contrast this with the modern programs, alive with music, plays and news reels.

It is hoped that the janitor is right in his conclusions. In some ways a janitor is in a better position to know than are members of the faculty. The faculty sees the students at their best, while the janitor sees them at their worst.

It is our opinion that the janitor is eminently better qualified as a judge of youth, and to pass upon the morals, the industry and character of high school students than are many outsiders who deal in generalities and theories about the questionable activities and idleness of the young people of today.

ADVICE TO CONGRESS

The President's message will, as all messages do, meet with the varying degrees of approval and disapproval depending upon one's viewpoint.

He speaks with satisfaction on foreign relations and calls attention to the 11 new arbitration treaties and the 22 more under negotiation.

He calls attention to the fair and free election which has been held in Nicaragua, and that both sides are satisfied now. He is pleased over the situation in Mexico due very largely to the work of Ambassador Morrow. He calls attention to the increased trade in China, almost as a result of our recognition of the government and of our treaty with it.

His statement on national defense is almost in contrast with his address on Armistice Day. He says the navy bill should be passed, but he adds: "We have no intention of competing with any other country. This building program is for necessary replacements and to meet our needs for defense."

We will not attempt here to discuss all phases of the message. He does discuss the surplus from the farm problem and condemns subsidies and price fixing as alluring promises of political action, and as a substitute for private initiative which should be avoided. He says that the government should continue its helpful attitude toward American business in the interest of commerce.

On the matter which is uppermost in the minds probably of more people in this section of the country is that of the damming of the Colorado River. On this the President is not perfectly clear. He says that such a dam for purposes of flood-control, irrigation, and domestic water purposes, may properly be considered as public functions, but that the power department is a private enterprise and there is no need for the government to go into it. Senator Johnson in commenting on this, declares that this is a declaration for his bill inasmuch as the Secretary of the Interior has the power to lease the power from the dam. Yet, before Senator Johnson saw the President he was in the dark concerning the meaning of this, and very evidently construed it as against his bill. We believe the public will so construe it.

The power interests of this country are opposed to the distribution and use by the public of hydro-electric power generated anywhere. The President is evidently with them. One of the main objects of establishing in the law the right for municipalities to the use of the power generated on the Colorado River is to meet the enormous expense which this enterprise will entail. Whether the President is for it or against it could be made very clear by the use of a single sentence, yet we are left in doubt and we should say that in the light of the engineers' report, the President took a position of opposition as strongly as he could. We will have to admit that in spite of the word from Senator Johnson, we are keenly disappointed. Senator Johnson is evidently making the best of a bad situation.

The message covers almost every one of our national problems, and as the President's attitude upon them has been well known, there will be little surprise afforded by any part of it.

Saying a Good Word For the Chorus Girl

San Francisco Chronicle
That libelous old myth that chorus girls are beautiful but dumb has at last been exploded. Not the beautiful part, of course. That has become more and more a self-evident fact with the progressive uplifting of the stage. But dumb? Not at all. That allegation has been an injustice to the young women who earn their modest livings by supplying the raw material for the Ziegfeld-Carroll industry of glorifying the American girl.

A New York psychologist has submitted a large number of Broadway beauties to a mental test and finds that they outrank business men—probably Broadway butter and egg men—and college graduates who were submitted to the same yardstick. Some of the beauties were found "in the range of genius."

However, the doctor's tests should not have been needed. There are a lot of college men hanging around New York who could have supplied the information. And the fathers of these young gentlemen, taking a squint at their remittance stubs, would have added their evidence and have sworn to it or at it.

With Football Money

Oakland Tribune
What might be timely is reference to a new item which tells of the participation of University of California students in a program for improvements on the campus, of their turning over $100,000 as first payment toward a fund of $1,500,000 which will be used in place of money which otherwise might be asked from the taxpayers.

The Big Game draws huge receipts, but the money is not squandered. Football's popularity as a college sport, makes no man rich. As the students at Berkeley and Palo Alto are spending the money received, football is providing recreation to all students, better facilities, and better buildings. If one may figure the price of a Big Game ticket, then in the light of a tax, he will concede—unless he helped make a scalper rich—that he received the full value of money paid out.

Still There May Be Something In a Name

San Francisco Chronicle
The Washington correspondent who points to three women headed for the House of Representatives, Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois, Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida and Ruth Pratt of New York, thinks there is some occult power in the name Ruth. So there is. But why cite the three candidates? Any St. Louis baseball fan could have told the correspondent there is too much power in the name Ruth. But the St. Louis folk use an adjective much more expressive than "occult" and much less pretty. However, politicians who are always superstitious, may take it as a good omen for the three Ruths at that.

More Truth Than Poetry
By James J. Montague

OUTSIDE LOOKING IN
The market may suddenly rise
Or as suddenly crumble and break—
If prices should leap to the skies
Not a single red cent would I make;
If a turn of the tide came about
And everything tumbled keropt!
In the midst of a general rout
Not a single red cent would I drop.

I glance at the market reports
Then turn with an aviler eye
To the murders, the movies and sports
Which have some little thrills to supply.
No interest I take in the news
That the ticker brings clickingly in;
I haven't a dollar to lose
And I haven't a dollar to win.

My friends may exultingly cry
Or despairingly rock to and fro
When some stock has attained a new high
Or has sagged to another new low.
But I have no tremor of dread
Lest the market may suddenly break,
For, as I have already said,
I haven't a penny at stake.

Without any fluttering heart
I follow my prosaic trade
And take not a thought for the mart
Where fortunes are shattered or made.
Running chances is most indiscreet
And gambling is risky and rash.
But the reason I'm not in the Street
Is because I have not got the cash!

Dr. Frank Crane's Friendly Talk
By Dr. Frank Crane

MEDIOCRITY
About the worst thing you can call anybody is to say he is mediocre. Most of us do not object, in fact we are rather flattered, if any one should term us a villain, a rascal or a dangerous fellow. But to say that we are mediocre is unpardonable.

Yet, why?
To paraphrase a phrase of Lincoln's, "The Lord must love mediocre people, for he made so many of them."

Most of the work of the world is done by the unfit.
If a horse is perfect in every respect, a thoroughbred and flawless, he is kept for breeding purposes. The burdens of the world are drawn by poor creatures with sore shoulders and rough coats. If only horses worked who had nothing the matter with them there would be little work done by horses.

Mothering is about the best business in the world, but how many women are qualified to be perfect mothers? Most of them are mediocre. Doubtless love makes up for a lot of lack of intelligence.

All of us are fond of abusing the physicians. Very rarely do you find one that is entirely satisfactory. The bulk of the work done by doctors is done by the mediocre ones.

The ordinary run of lawyers is far from satisfactory. And people think that the average preacher is dull.

Ask any housewife what is her main difficulty and she will tell you it is to get a competent servant. And ask the manager of any large department store or other establishment employing many people what is his most disheartening problem. He will tell you it is to get satisfactory help.

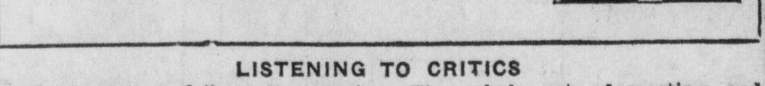

It is not that we expect perfection or extraordinary genius, or expect every man to be the hundredth man. We only want him to earn the wages he receives. As Kipling puts it:
"Creation's cry goes up
From age to cheated age,
Give us the men who do the work
For which they get the wage."

This is not a piece of pessimism, a diatribe against humanity. It is simply calling your attention to the fact that you do not have to be a genius or have exceptional talent to be extraordinary, you simply have honestly and faithfully and competently to do the thing you are paid for doing.

Of such there are, alas, too few!

Thoughts On Modern Life

LISTENING TO CRITICS

The success or failure of a man's career—whether as a private in the ranks or as an officer at headquarters—may well be determined by the way he reacts to criticism. Be immune to unjust criticism. Be inspired by just criticism. Be immune to unjust criticism. Be inspired by just criticism.

James Alexander, in his "Thought-Control in Everyday Life," tells this story of Ole Bull, the distinguished Norwegian violinist: Early in his career as an artist, Ole Bull read a relentless and ruthless criticism of his playing. He did not allow it to cloud his day. He gave careful consideration to the several points of the criticism. And then he went to the publisher of the paper and asked to see the author of the criticism.

"If you want the responsible person," the publisher replied, "I am he."

"No!" said Ole Bull. "I have not come to call the writer to account, but to thank him. He has shown me my faults, and he must now show me how to rid myself of them."

This anecdote tells its story without commentary.

OUR CHILDREN
By ANGELO PATRI

GOOD HUMOR

A good humored mother, father or teacher is a heaven-sent blessing. Good humor will carry a child over a hard place with less difficulty than if all the educational science were applied full force in the one spot.

Good humor prevents hard places. When Buddy gets up wrong foot first and puckers up his forehead and draws down the corners of his mouth his mother's good humor comes to the fore and she ignores the rising storm, lends a hand to the hard buttons and brings out the gayest washing and the smelliest soap and promises cheerily that breakfast will be something good. Bubble glowers suspiciously for a moment, catches the infection of mother's good humor and gets down to business.

If mother hadn't been so good humored, if Buddy's drooping spirits had been met with answering depths instead of cheerful tidings of a joyous world there would have been no end of trouble. Tears and complainings and scoldings and punishments and a sorry start for the day would have been the order.

A good humored teacher is worth a score of sternly-dutied duty-dealing ones. She can do with a class what the grim-faced, iron-souled teacher can never do. She can smile off a naughty lad's mischief; she can joke off another's black mood. She can lay the sharp side of her tongue against the mis-conduct of a wilful youngster and hold him to her with hooks of steel.

One morning we were preparing for company, very important company it was too. An ex-president of the United States was coming to visit the school. We wanted to be just as nearly immaculate and just as highly polished as we could possibly be and live. And it was at the crucial moment, just when the visitors entered the big front door that Jones, our mascot of ill luck, dropped a trayful of pans filled to the brim with water, on the drawing room floor.

The class gasped. The unlucky Jones stood fixed in the pool of water gazing hopelessly at his teacher. She smiled, a broad and rapidly spreading smile. Then she laughed. "Jones, you're all wet," she said.

SECOND ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SECTION

PEOPLE'S PAPER FOR ALL ORANGE COUNTY
Santa Ana Daily Evening Register

SANTA ANA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1928

PLANS MADE OVER COUNTY FOR HOLIDAY

Out of Door Trees Will Be Decorated in Several Towns Reports Reveal

PROGRAMS PLANNED

Will Be Feature in Many Cities — Orange Plaza Will Be Well Lighted

WHEN Christmas stars twinkle down on Orange county folk in a few short weeks, they will see below them hundreds of other twinkling lights which will decorate the hundreds of out of door Christmas trees which are being planned for this vicinity.

Business districts in several towns including those of Orange, Fullerton, Huntington Beach and Anaheim will show streets lined with colored lights or with gaily decorated Christmas trees. With the early fall of the December evenings the trees will be aglow with countless vivid lights twinkling back at the bright stars overhead.

Huntington Beach will have its municipal Christmas tree and Main street will be strung with colored lights. Orange merchants plan to line the street of that center at the plaza with Christmas trees. The great five-point pine at the eastern entrance of the plaza will be lighted every night of the holiday period.

In Anaheim an elaborate program of street decorating has been outlined and trees about 10 feet in height will be used in front of the business places. Several trees in the city park will be strung with lights and a committee from the Kiwanis club are making plans for the big tree which will be placed on the stage of the Greek theater.

Fullerton is said to be planning to duplicate the usual holiday dress donned in other years when trees gaily decked, have nodded to each other across the wide streets of that city.

In Tustin Fred Schendenman has decorated a lovely cypress in front of his home in Main street for a number of years. The tree has attracted the attention of many passersby, and this year it is said a number of other residents of Tustin are planning to follow the example set by Schendenman.

LEGION AU'ILIARY WILL AID VETERANS

Disabled veterans of Ward three at the San Fernando hospital will be given a Christmas party by the members of the Orange County council of the American Legion Auxiliary sometime shortly before Christmas.

The party will be the third one given this ward by the council. During the afternoon games will be played and a program will be given by the visitors. Checks will be presented to all veterans without compensation.

LOCAL MERCHANTS ARE WELL FORTIFIED FOR CHRISTMAS

STORES ARE PREPARING FOR TRADE

SHIPMENTS ARRIVE

Variety of Goods on Hand Make It Unnecessary to Shop in Los Angeles

NEVER in Santa Ana's history have Santa Ana merchants been so well supplied with Christmas goods to meet the demands of their customers as they are this year.

In quantity of goods, in variety and in prices, the local merchants stand ready to serve their public.

Windows are already filled with holiday articles. Shelves are crowded. Every show case presents its wealth of gifts.

Shipments have been coming in from all over the world. One not familiar with the art of buying would be surprised were he to make inquiry as to the field from which purchases are made by Santa Ana stores. Many purchases are made direct from China, Japan and Europe. This week a Santa Ana store received a shipment of Checo-Slovak jewelry. It has already been unpacked, priced and put on display.

A few years ago there might have been legitimate complaint that Santa Ana stores were not well enough stocked with goods to meet the needs of the local buyers. There might then have been some reason for going to a larger city. Today there can be no advantage gained by going to Los Angeles.

"In addition to the fact that Santa Ana stores are amply supplied with goods," said a Santa Ana merchant, "the customer should keep in mind that back of every purchase is the reputation of the store and the merchant. We are just as anxious to give good goods and good service at Christmas as we are the rest of the year, and we are always ready to make adjustments."

It was pointed out that the buyer who goes to a big city and makes purchases gains nothing in price and stands the risk of not being able to secure an adjustment in case some unexpected defect should show up in the article bought. The big city cannot be reached with ease. It takes time and gasoline, or time and car fare, to get there and back.

"Santa Ana merchants have built their reputations on a ground work of fair play and honest dealing," said a merchant today, "and that groundwork is never more useful to the buyer than during the holidays. At that time most customers buy things they are not used to buying, and they want to get their money's worth. The thing for them to do is to do their buying where they know the store's policy to be one founded on fairness to all concerned."

GREETING CARDS INTEGRAL PART OF MODERN CHRISTMAS

GREETING cards, with their little message of love and affections, good cheer and good will, numbering into the many tens of thousands will find their glad way into homes of the people of Orange county this year.

These cards have become an integral part of Christmas. Their beauty of design and color are more than matched by their beauty of sentiment.

Santa Anans love beauty; they love affection; they love sentiment. That's why greetings cards have come to hold such a large place in Santa Ana's Christmas time.

And what is true of Santa Anans is equally true of residents of Tustin, Orange, Garden Grove and all the other cities of the county.

A few years ago, greetings were sent to a few close friends and relatives only. There was always the Christmas letter to the old folks, to some son or daughter who was away from home. Those Christmas letters go their way each Christmas now, just as they always have, and no changes in styles of greetings can ever take their place.

Then, half a dozen years ago, it was quite the style to mail postal cards, gaily decorated in tinsel or colors, to one's friends. That custom grew and grew. Some five or six years ago, it was stated at the post office today, postal cards as a means of bearing greetings gradually began to give way to the greeting cards that are mailed inside envelopes.

Clerks at the post office say that postal cards have not disappeared in carrying holiday messages of good cheer, not by any means. Hundreds of them will go through the Santa Ana post office this year, but for every half-hundred of them there will go fully a thousand of the neater, nicer, more attractive cards that are contained in envelopes.

One might interview any one of the fifty-five employees of the Santa Ana post office concerning greetings letters, and from each of them would come the advice:

"Mail your greetings early."

The reason for this advice is that failure to mail them at a proper time may result in delays in delivery.

NO LETTERS FOR SANTA CLAUS HERE

No letters have as yet been received at the local postoffice addressed to Santa Claus, according to employees at this place. It is somewhat too early for the acute desires of children to be expressed in this way, the employees say. Letters sent to the good old saint are turned over to the Elks' club for consideration and investigation.

INGENIOUS USE OF MATERIALS

Said a woman one day, "There was a time when the word 'Christmas' signified 'doing without' or 'making spare,' but since I have begun housekeeping, the word has taken a wider meaning, the intelligent use of materials and now I view the results of my economy with pride." Here are a few details of how she effected her Christmas economies.

Some time ago, she sent, among other things, for a bundle of linen remnants from a noted linen warehouse. The bundle contained two large piece of very wide linen sheeting, with one small flaw in each. After careful measuring, she was able to make them into a linen bedspread, using thick white insertion for joining them, and thus cutting out the flaws. Laid over a cover of pale rose, which showed through the insertion, this spread had a very pretty effect.

White linen is all very well for summer, but when washing has to be considered it is not quite so suitable. The most easily washed are the net and embroidery spreads, which one sees so much on the Continent, but those in the shops seemed rather expensive. One day, however, as this woman stood and gazed at them, the idea came to her to make one out of lace motives and plain net.

Where, however, was she to look for lace motifs which were large enough? It was not until sale time that she found what she wanted, and then it was in the curtain department. There were piles of odd short curtains, about a yard in length. This was the counter that veiled the large center motif for the bedspread. Remnants of fine net were also picked up a few smaller motifs.

The oblong curtain, which had a lacy, all-over pattern was placed in the middle of the bed and the net and motifs put in various ways around it until the best arrangement was arrived at. A search through the lace box was rewarded with lengths of fine insertion for joining and lace for edging. With the help of the sewing machine, the bedspread was finished next day. The soft cream net had a dainty appearance over the rose-colored under coverlet, and it had the advantage of never looking crumpled and of being easily washed.

For the same bedroom this woman contributed a duchesse set out of cream silk handkerchiefs. They were beautifully embroidered in cream silk and in the first place had come from India. Being too small for cushion covers and too elaborate for handkerchiefs, she had put them away until she discovered a use for them. One day she spread them out on her dressing table, and they looked so rich on the dark mahogany that she decided on the spot that there was the only place for them. Three, joined carefully by hand with fine silky lace, just made a runner to fit. The fourth handkerchief had to be cut in halves in order to complete the set. One-half made an oblong mat and the other, edged with tiny lace, formed two squares, on which to put the glass candlesticks.

ANAHEIM FAMILIES WILL GET BASKETS

Thirty-five Anaheim families will receive Christmas baskets according to a plan outlined by Mrs. J. W. Price at the head of the welfare department at the Anaheim city hall. A dinner that will make the day a happy one will be packed and delivered to these families who would otherwise have none at this time.

CARDS ARE PART OF MODERN CHRISTMAS

ready to do more than its share in seeing that Christmas mail is properly dispatched and properly delivered. All we ask of the many hundreds of patrons of our office is that they keep in mind that there are certain difficulties that can be greatly lessened by those who are sending postal cards and greetings letters.

"Clerks find it very difficult to distribute greeting cards that are merely addressed 'Santa Ana.'"

During the rest of the year post-offices have a great deal of trouble with mail that is not definitely addressed to street and number or to postoffice box or rural route and rural box number. However, business houses in general appreciate the need of accurate addressing.

"Along comes Christmas time. Hundreds of busy women and men prepare their lists of those to whom they will send their good wishes. Care has been used in selecting the cards, and stamps are put on at an expense. Then, in haste, comes the addressing."

"Where do the Smiths live?" asks the wife.

"On Flower street somewhere," replies hubby.

"No, they moved from there out southeast somewhere," declares the wife. "What's the use of bothering. Just put it Santa Ana, and let the post office look it up."

"And when there are ten thousand other letters of that kind addressed to Smiths, Joneses, Browns and hundreds of others with no definite address, just Santa Ana, it is easy to see that there is likely to be delay."

The postmaster urged that this year everybody sending out greetings use a bit more care than usual in getting proper addresses.

"And," said he, "greetings should be in the mails early. Better by far that they be in Wednesday or Thursday before Christmas than on Monday. If they are not mailed until Monday, with Christmas coming Tuesday, they almost certainly will not be delivered until after Christmas. My suggestion is that they be mailed not later than Friday noon before Christmas."

VAN ANTWERP'S

LIBRARY FOR CHILDREN IS XMAS HAVEN

CHRISTMAS has come at the children's library and the children themselves helped to bring the spirit of the holiday season into the rooms, Saturday morning, when they helped the librarian, Miss Mary Bowyer, built a miniature home in the front of which two carol singers stand in bright coats and with musical instruments in their hands.

The winter scene brings back pleasant memories of snowy Christmas days to the children who have lived in the east and north, says Miss Bowyer, and recalls to Californian children, happy hours spent in the mountains at Christmas time.

The home, which is the central point of the scene, is surrounded by pines and on the chimney is perched a tiny Santa Claus with a well filled pack. The ground is covered with sparkling snow which is drifted in a realistic way.

Inquiries for "Three Wise Men," a silhouette of the three wise men and their camels, which have been used on the south wall of the west room for the past three years, are already being made by the children, Miss Bowyer says.

Christmas poems, stories and plays are greatly in demand for

MAKING DIPPED CANDLES

A tearoom manager had a telephone call that a group of old college friends wanted a table for a Christmas luncheon. Her policy had always been to have something different for special luncheons and she wanted to decorate the table with the college colors, blue and white. There were no blue candles on hand, only one or two stub ends of the shade of blue needed; there wasn't time to purchase candles, so in desperation she lighted the stub end of the blue candle and let the colored wax drip over a fresh white candle until it was covered. She turned and twisted the white candle as she worked, letting the warm wax drip where it was most effective. The result was surprisingly pretty, and the candles made the luncheon.

Delighted with the success of her first venture, she soon began to try out dipped candles in all colors. As her skill increased she found it well to scrape the white candle with a coarse grater to roughen the surface before beginning to decorate it, and to chill it frequently in a jar of cold water to set the colored wax drips church entertainment and affairs being planned by the local lodges. Christmas stories have been in circulation for the past week or more and two of the most popular books on Christmas are "Yuletide in Other Lands" and "Christmas in Many Lands." The latter is a history of Christmas from the early days of the festival to the present time.

quickly and keep them round. Care was taken not to wet the wick.

To give the better finish to the candle she made a varnish by dissolving in alcohol amber sealing wax and painting with a brush a thin coating over the completed candle. Crystalline sifted over the candle before the varnish had hardened was sometimes used to give another variety to the surface.

As many color combinations can be tried as there are candles in solid colors. Among those that were particularly effective were rose and green, green and blue, rose, blue and pink, green, tan, and orange.

A child doesn't have to be a budding artist to enjoy making things. And the training he gets, in working out his simple ideas in crafts, will always be valuable to him. There is nothing so pitiful as a grown-up who doesn't know how to use his hands.

When Christmas comes, the youngster will want to try his hand at making gifts. In this he should be encouraged, and advice and materials given him. A goodly supply of patience and alertness will be needed by mother or auntie, she who is guiding the young fingers, but employing these qualities, she will find the labor worth it.

Supervision by Grown-Ups

A youngster intent on his work, does not observe the paint can near the edge of the table, and the possibility of it being knocked off—nor yet does it occur to him that his water color brush must not be dipped in the glue. Many minor accidents can be headed off by alert supervision of the grown-up in charge of activities.

A little book containing a set of good transfer pictures suggested a number of ideas to one, interested in Children's work. With a little practice even quite a small child can learn to dampen and print the transfer picture neatly on paper or wood.

An oblong of fairly stiff white board with neat group of flowers and a butterfly, printed from the transfer pictures can have a small calendar added and it will make a pretty gift.

Paint Unfinished Wood Boxes

Unfinished wood boxes offer a number of possibilities. The box can be painted with a bright dye—the transfer pictures scattered about top and sides, and the whole shellaced. Painted with bright enamel, such a box would be very attractive, with fruit in an interesting group, on its cover, or flowers prettily arranged.

A can or two of enamel paints, and a yard of black pebbled oil cloth will supply materials for several useful gifts. Son can make mother a table runner or a shelf covering, and other things besides.

A table runner with scalloped edges is not hard to make. A jelly glass can be used for the scallops. Trace a semi-circle with the glass on the the wrong side of the oil cloth, close to the edge and cut out the scallops with sharp scissors. Paint a daisy or some simple flower in each scallop. This will make a very practical gift. A shelf runner should be made to fit a particular shelf and the scallops should run on the side instead of the ends.

Oil Cloth for Cook Book

The black oil cloth will make a pretty cover for a cook book, with a floral decoration. A case for stationery can be constructed that will be durable and very desirable to one who is traveling. A box of stationery will be needed, preferably of standard size, so that once the case is emptied, it can be easily filled again.

It will be well for the child to make a paper pattern so he will know exactly what he is to do, when he cuts the oil cloth. Arrange stiff boards for the backs, and bring flaps over the edges, so that the envelopes are held on one side and the paper on the other.

And be sure to allow enough space in the center of the back for the thickness of the envelopes and stationery together. This is a point a child will easily overlook. The flaps holding either side do not need to be deep, because paper and envelopes must be easily slid out.

Patterned paper or wall paper can be used to line the case, gluing it down neatly over the boards to hold them in place. The oil cloth flaps are glued together so that they hold the envelopes on one side and the letter paper on the other. And, of course, a pretty design must be planned for the cover, and be all painted with enamels.

Boxes for Gifts

In a shop where foreign goods were received many small boxes accumulated. These suggested several gifts. If a box with a lid was found it was sandpapered to take off all rough edges and corners. When painted, and decorated, such a box could be used to hold packs of cards, cigarettes, or could be used on a dresser.

Several boxes were available that had no lids. These were sawed off so that each made a small tray. When sandpapered, painted and decorated with a neat design, a tray of this kind would be an acceptable gift to anyone.

Basket of Goodies

If a child is interested in one who is shut-in, a number of pleasant gifts can be contrived. A basket of home-made goodies would seem especially nice, with each article wrapped separately. The child could make candy and cookies, and tie up one of mother's small glasses of jelly in a bright colored paper. Nuts would go in a separate package and one or two small amusing toys.

A shut-in would appreciate a scrap book very much. If for a youngster make a picture scrap book. If a grown-up, have mother select magazine articles of especial interest to that dear one and paste in neatly, with funny stories and cartoons scattered through the book. Make sure you are selecting things that the invalid has not already seen.

These modern days, business needs lots of "pepping up." The Register Classified Ads furnish the right dope. Phone 87.

OLD FASHIONED XMAS RECALLED IN STORY HOUR

By MARJORIE HOWE DIXON

Walden had been standing at the window for fully five minutes watching the drops slide down the window pane. Horrid old rain! Why did it have to rain? The snow was so lovely the day before and now it was rapidly turning to slush, under the steady downpour.

Christmas was over. His heart's desire, a new sled and hockey skates, had been fulfilled. But, shucks, what good were they in the rain! It just spoiled everything. Mother saw, as she always did, just what a state he was in. Drops were going to slide down his cheeks instead of the glass in another moment, if something weren't done immediately.

"Walden, dear—please come over by the fire! It's been such a happy week, hasn't it? We aren't going to spoil it with gloom now, are we? You and Lum-dum draw up your little chairs and I'll read a little further. I think it will suggest a game to you. You listen hard and see if it doesn't?"

Objected to Baby Name

Lum Dum having arrived at the age of six, sometimes objected to her baby name, and insisted on her own "Ruth Ann" with dignity. This time she didn't care. She had dressed her favorite doll at least fourteen times that morning and undressed her and put her to bed as many times. She felt quite willing that Vivian Rose Violet Lily should sleep awhile in peace, now that other amusement was offered.

Mother had read them a bit about Maggie and Tom in "The Mill on the Floss," before. The morning of the snow she had read to them the beginning of the chapter "The Christmas Holidays" because it was just that kind of a day she said. "Fine old Christmas with snowy hair and ruddy face." She began again and went on:

"Snow lay on the croft and river bank in undulations softer than the limbs of infancy—Old Christmas smiled—for he meant to light up home with new brightness, to deepen all the riches of indoor color and give a keener edge of delight to the warm fragrance of food."

Passes Box of Candy

Walden began to brighten up when Mother read this last part, and glanced around at the fire-light and the pleasant room as if seeing them for the first time. He went over very quietly, so as not to disturb the reading to get his box of candy and pass it around. The two children nibbled in silence as Mother read on.

It was Ruth Ann who interrupted suddenly, "Mother! We can play we are them—He'll be Tom and I'll be Maggie. And we'll trim my doll house with holly like it says they did. What does it say—Windows and mantle pieces and picture frames? Tom, you drag out the Doll house. And I'll cut some little holly from some of the Christmas wrappings. And we'll have the dolls be Aunt and Uncle Moss and the seven children. And they can all go to church and everything."

Walden had been studying the next paragraph at his mother's shoulder. "Tom and Maggie must have been in bed when they heard 'Singing under the windows at midnight,' so we'll be the singers and you pick out some more dolls to be Tom and Maggie."

Wants to Be Maggie

Lum Dum bustled over to the doll's bed in her most important manner. "Well, I declare! Vivian Rose Violet Lily has just waked up and she wants to be Maggie, she says."

"She's much too big," said Walden, absently, trying to decide which doll would be Tom, and reconcile in his somewhat practical mind the fact that the toy village was much smaller than the doll's house; and how were the miscellaneous assortment of dolls ever to get in the church which was about two inches high?

Mother had gone over to her desk to write thank you letters to her friends and New Year cards to the people she had forgotten to send Christmas cards to. She listened to see how this difficulty would be straightened out.

"There's just two boy dolls to choose from, for Tom, and they both are crazy," said Walden. "Tom was a big boy." Walden was holding out a fat smiling infant in rompers and a doll made of gum drops and tooth picks.

Poor Gum Drop!

Lum Dum looked over, "You've eaten one arm and one foot off the gum drop boy, so he won't do," she said. "My darling Patrick Henry—give-me-liberty-or-death will have to be Tom. Come here. Patrick, if you are going to church you must put your hood on. And shame on you for a big boy wearing a hood!" She giggled.

Walden laughed too and Mother returned to her letters peacefully knowing that things were starting well.

She looked up again. "Mother, how did Tom get home from school?" Walden was asking. "I'd like to have him come on my railroad train. Did they have trains those days?"

Mother opened to the previous chapter. "Oh here it is, 'The happiness of seeing the bright light in the parlor at home, as the gig passed noiselessly over the snow covered bridge.'"

"What is a gig?"

"It's a carriage, dear."

Must Go Around Switch

"Well, we'll play it is short for engine. I haven't any bridge, so it will have to go around by the switch."

Mother watched them with interest as the chubby doll, larger than the car itself, was trundled about the tracks and received with many kisses and much enthusiasm

HOLIDAY PLANS FOR HOME COMERS

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

Mother Dear—

Only eight days left, and then home, good old home, at last. And you, best of all, you and Dad, I can hardly wait to see you and tell you all the news—when does old Fritz get in? And how many does he expect to bring?—I've asked Gretchen, her folks are abroad, and she shouldn't have to be lonesome at Christmas, should she?

And Madge's uncle is in the east so she's to be with us—do write Fritz to bring two perfectly adorable chaps—they'll need to be, won't they—to be as nice as he is. Paul—he might bring him, I should think—but don't you dare say I suggested him, will you? Fritz is a regular brother and he does tease most cruelly, drat him!

Excited Over Homecoming

There, isn't that a most mixed up start? Well, you understand, you old honey bunch. I just get so excited over getting home, and seeing you and bringing the girls to see my home, and that reminds me—I have the loveliest plan for this Christmas, dearie. We are to do the work and planning and fussing around, and you and Dad are to be the guests and be waited on.

Gretchen and Madge think it is a peach of an idea, and have bought themselves the cutest bungalow aprons in which they expect to wave a wicked soup ladle—and then you see, dearie, we don't want you to be all worn out when we leave. So you are to have breakfast in bed—that will be a novelty for you.

But you must submit with the best grace you can summon, if I have to send Fritz up to choke the alarm clock and hold you in bed till we arrive with the breakfast. Never mind, we will get Dad off in time—you see if we don't. Maybe the coffee will be fried and the oat meal too strong, but think how he will appreciate your sweet breakfasts when we get back to college again.

She Plans a Dance

Let me see, we will want to have a dance one evening, of course—where's my calendar? And the big country club dance is New Year's by Ruth Ann, who was Mrs. Tulliver for the time being.

"Oh mush!" said Walden, "Tom was twelve or thirteen years old, Ruth Ann. He'd hate being kissed like that!"

"Him's my darling boy, come home to his dear mother," cooed Ruth Ann who wanted to see that justice was done to a scene, in which she could properly shine.

"I was glad I had remembered that chapter on Christmas in 'The Mill on the Floss,' because it gave them something new to think about. I'll have to write and tell grandmother all about it. I must go and do it right away, too, before I forget that remarkable sermon. Dear, if you only could have seen him, looking so solemn and (mischievously glancing at her husband) so exactly like his Dad."

At this point Mother fled and turning at the doorway wrinkled her nose at him. Then she went on upstairs to write Grandmother.

50 CLEAR CHANNELS IS CALDWELL'S AIM

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. — Fifty cleared channels would be far better than the present 40, says Federal Radio Commissioner Caldwell. He adds:

"Some of the commissioners felt that 25 cleared channels for the entire country would be sufficient, but the engineers called into consultation strongly advised 50 cleared waves. I agree with the engineers' recommendation that 50 stations operating on exclusive channels without interference will greatly improve broadcasting service in the United States.

"If we can get 50 cleared waves we can clear up the WGY part-time arrangement and give that station an exclusive channel instead of ordering it to close at sunset on the Pacific coast, when KGO at Oakland goes on the air.

Eve, so let's have ours Monday night. Well, to go back to the beginning. Why ever do folks start there? It's so much more fun to start in the middle.

We'll get in on the twenty-third on that 4:30 train, and get our packages ready on the twenty-fourth, and take care of your distribution of baskets to the submerged tenth if that's what you call 'em.

And of course, a big feed Christmas Day, to run true to form. And dancing afterwards if its possible. You'll ask all the old crowd to our dance dear, won't you? Would do it myself, but there won't be time fater we get there. Monday we'll be busy with decorating the house and getting our best things all ready for the evening. Then the the Big Splash!—well folks always have a good time at our parties, and this time is to be no exception.

Sing at Tea Time

Let's see, I forgot church, Sunday, didn't I? And a little sing at home at tea time would be nice, wouldn't it?

Tuesday will be pretty well a loss for we'll be resting I think, and we can keep Tuesday and Wednesday evenings open for bids to other folks' homes. We'll be riding and we can get in one or two hikes, maybe.

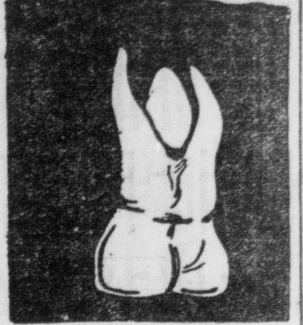

Then the Country Club dance on New Year's Eve, and then back to the grind again Monday. There, I don't mean that, because I sure am having the grandest time at school, as you perfectly well know, dear heart. But I do have such a good time at home, I can't bear to think of going back—and this is to be the best time ever—sin't it?

Shopping All Done

Have all my shopping done, and most of the packages mailed—and oh, wait, till you see what I've made for you—but there you mustn't guess. Lots of love and kisses from your own little Sugar Pie.

How's that for sentimental?

Your own Mary Lee.

COLLINGS PUTS HIS SPIRIT INTO RADIO PROGRAM

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Those impressive strains of music that mark the announcements of the Columbia system apart from others also reveal the workmanship of one of America's greatest music masters.

He is F. Channon Collinge, father of Patricia Collinge, the famous actress, and one of the best known figures in the musical world centering about the American theater. Collinge is in charge of the technical part of the musical production work of the Columbia Broadcasting system.

In this capacity he may be credited with the production of such outstanding radio programs as the Sunday afternoon Cathedral hour and the United Choral Singers, with the theme songs of the True Story Hour, the NR Millionaires, the Ceco Couriers and the Buccaneers chorus and the special music for other Columbia programs.

That is quite a job for a single individual, but Collinge makes it even more difficult by his insistence on producing only a perfect program for which he is responsible. Therefore, when the United Coral Singers, for instance, are booked for a program, he personally directs them in rehearsal and before the mike.

Intricate Preparations

First Collinge compiles the program of music from an elaborate library and from a knowledge of the music field such as few others have. Then there is a rehearsal of several hours duration, which he personally conducts.

After the rehearsal there is a three-hour coaching period when Collinge takes the singers individually in hand. Finally, on the day of broadcast, Collinge directs a "dress rehearsal" with the large symphony orchestra accompanying the singers. And only after this is he prepared to put his program on the air.

Collinge is just as scrupulous with his other programs. Even the musical background during intermissions does not escape his strict attention. As a result, the Columbia programs seem to have a unity that mark them as unique in radio broadcasting.

Early Musical Start

For this achievement, Collinge has had many years of musical preparation and success behind him. Born into a wealthy English home, he took early to music as a diversion. It was a large for him to become a choir boy in Halifax, England, and then to apprentice himself to the organist.

His reward of three-pence, or six cents, an hour for pumping the organ while the organist practiced was so much pin-money for him. But as he entered the Rishworth Grammar school in England he became more seriously interested in music and studied the violin. On completing school he took to music as a profession.

Eventually Collinge toured in concert as solo violinist, later being made an associate member of the Royal Academy of Music.

Shortly after, Collinge settled in Ireland where he became professor of music and art at Navin Seminary, Dublin. Later he became organist and choirmaster in the Church of the Three Patrons in Dublin. This was in 1900, and it started his run of fame through the British Isles as conductor of several important orchestras.

Composed at Age of 10

During this time he composed musical pieces of his own. In fact, he has been composing since the age of 10, starting with the composition of choruses for school children.

He came to America in 1906, the year his "Seminary Girl" was produced here. Since then he has seen many other of his musical comedies and operettas on the American stage.

For many years Collinge has been the aid of practically every producer in America, writing special music for them, orchestrating special compositions and in general putting the finishing touches to many musical shows. He has also written all kinds of musical works in their entirety, ranging from grand opera to innumerable songs, ballads and instrumental numbers.

Among his works are the grand opera "Grace Darrell," a comic opera "Botheby Hall" and "The Seminary Girl," which ran for two years in this country. Among his operettas are "When Men Were Bold," "Good Fellowship," "The New Star," "The Enchanted Garden," "The Buccaneer" and "The Gay Musketeer."

Glossary Of Radio Terms

Inductive Coupling: The association of one circuit with another by means of inductance common or mutual to both.

(This term when used without modifying words is commonly used for coupling by means of mutual inductance, whereas coupling by means of self-inductance common to both circuits is called "direct inductive coupling.")

Inductive Reactance: That part of the impedance which is due to the presence of inductance in the circuit, and which is equal to $6.28 \times \text{frequency} \times \text{inductance}$.

Input Reactance of a Three-Electrode Tube: The reactance of an electron tube to its input circuit, due to its electrode capacities. (See reactance.) The ratio of an alternating sine-wave input voltage to the portion of the resulting input current which is an alternating sine-wave current of the same frequency as the input voltage and ninety degrees out of phase with it.

Input Resistance of a Three-Electrode Tube: That part of the resistance of the input circuit of an electron tube which is due to the presence of the tube in the circuit. The ratio of an alternating sine-wave input voltage to that portion of the resulting input current which is an alternating sine-wave current of the same frequency as the input voltage and in phase with it.

Inductor: A conductor having inductance, usually a coil of wire.

PLAN XMAS TREE FOR HEALTH CAMP

A Christmas fund that was started in a unique way has formed the basis of the money to be used for the Christmas tree which the children of the Orange Health camp will enjoy the day before Christmas.

On Armistice Day the children of the camp were dressed as South Sea islanders and little five year old Frank was dressed in the costume of a monkey and given a tin cup to carry.

All along the route of the parade, those who watched the procession pass, dropped pennies and nickels in the cup. When the camp was reached there was $1.65 in the receptacle and Frank declared his intention of using the money to buy his mother a dress. Later it was suggested that the money be used to start a Christmas tree fund for the camp and this was done.

A bottle was placed on a tree near the camp and visitors have dropped in small change until the fund is now nearly five dollars. The camp children have written letters to Santa Claus and plans are being made for beautiful big tree.

The writers of the letters asked Santa not to forget their mothers, brothers and sisters in asking for gifts. Gifts that were requested ranged from Bibles to "B B" guns dolls and watch chains ten inches long.

SILK AND GOLD PENCIL

An exquisite accessory for a woman's writing desk and a beautiful Christmas gift, is a pencil decorated at one end with the tiniest of silken bouquets.

Buy an ordinary black lead pencil having a rubber eraser on the end. Dig out the rubber with a pen knife, fill the space with strong fresh glue from a newly-opened bottle, and into it stick three tiny silk flowers and three of the tiniest possible green silk leaves, or any other tiny artificial flowers and leaves which can be produced.

To Make the Flowers

For the flowers use silk ribbon a little less than 1/2 inch wide. Cut a length of 1 1/2 inches, and run a thread close to one edge. Pull up the thread and with the fingers arrange the silk so as somewhat to resemble the general shape of a rose, drawing raw edges underneath, then fasten the thread. Instead of ribbon, silk may be used by cutting it twice the width needed and folding it over. The gathering thread must then be run close to the doubled cut edges. This produces a heavier looking flower, and must be glued in well. One flower may be rose color, one blue and the third lavender—or any harmonizing colors can of course be chosen. The leaves are simply tiny points of green silk. The bouquet will and should look tightly compact.

When inserting the flowers and leaves, with a penknife or the eye-end of a large darning needle press the center of each flower and one end of each leaf down into the glue. It may be necessary to hold them in position for a few minutes until the glue begins to harden. A bit of the lower edge of each flower may also be glued onto the side of the pencil for further security.

Gilding the Rose

After the glue has hardened and the bouquet is firm, gild the edges of flowers and leaves, letting the gold run well up into the flower centers. Bring the same gold down on the sides of the pencil itself, either solidly so as to make the pencil resemble a gold one, or else just put it on lightly here and there, letting the black show through a little. Gold paint that does not rub off can be bought at paint stores, and only this kind should be used. Just a bit of the gold paint will be sufficient for the pencil, because as all who have used gold paint know, a very little will cover a good deal of surface.

Such a pencil is not only charmingly luxurious in appearance, but is, of course, just as serviceable as any other kind.

NEW RULES TO CURB ROWS AT BRIDGE GAMES

By PAUL W. WHITE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(UP)—With the praiseworthy purpose of settling a lot of auction bridge arguments a committee of the American Auction Bridge League today handed down a set of laws for the two forms of the game that perhaps are more commonly played than any other—pivot and progressive.

Progressive bridge, as you probably know, is the kind wherein you no sooner get accustomed to your partner's whimsical conventions than someone says, "Oh, that makes four hands. Now where do we go?" The game is a modified marathon and usually you get a lot of exercise standing up and sitting down.

Pivot bridge is that merciful game wherein four people can play three rubbers and only in one of the three is a husband paired with his wife, thus minimizing bloodshed and acrimony.

But it seems there have been no official rules of these games. Scoring and means of progression were disputed and hostesses insulted guests and guests insulted hostesses and things were in an awful mess. So Milton C. Work of New York, Walter F. Wyman of Boston, and Frank E. Bruehlheide of Minneapolis, decided to correct this dreadful situation. The laws are now announced in the Auction Bridge Magazine.

In the old days when one set of partners made 500 points in progressive and the other 700, the former pair wrote down "500" on their tallies and the latter pair "700." Well, that won't do any more. No, sir, it was unfair because the "500" side was the loser and yet probably had more points than many of the winning pairs at other tables.

Higher Mathematics

So now, the winners, in the case described, will give themselves a plus 200 and the losers a minus 200. A new score card should be provided for each person so that he can put his minuses on one side and his pluses (is that the way to spell it?) on the other. Of course, the new system means that players will have to be able to subtract as well as add and that, heaven knows, will be a hardship. But fairness must triumph over mathematical difficulties.

The new laws also prescribe definite practices for the starting of play, for the advancing of players from one table to the next one and all of such similar mechanical practices. For instance, the winners are the ones who advance and they do NOT play together at the next table.

A feature of the new scoring provides a bonus of 100 points for each couple progressing. In case of a tie each side gets 50 points and they cut to see who advances.

For the first time, in both pivot and auction, the practise of giving 125 points for game in one hand is legalized. Whether to pivot after every four games, hands or rubbers is left optional.

Unfortunately the new regulations, at least from a cursory examination, do not outline the proper procedure when in progressing you find yourself the partner of a player who leads away from an ace in a suit bid or doubles on "hunches."

ADVISE PRISON FOR WOMEN IN MERCED COUNTY

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 3.—(UP)—Santa Ana judges may soon have their choice of sending women criminals to the county jail or to a new state prison for women to be erected at Delhi, in Merced county.

That is, if the coming legislature acts favorably upon a plan to be submitted by the state commission empowered to investigate and recommend a site for such a prison.

At present, women lawbreakers are sent to San Quentin prison, where they are housed in a separate annex.

Accordingly, women thieves, narcotic peddlers, bootleggers—even vagrants—may be committed to this new institution by various cities and counties, under plans of the commission.

Life won't be entirely pleasant after they get there, according to Mrs. Ernest Wallace, of Alhambra, chairman of the commission. It will be a "workhouse" in every sense of the word. The convicts will be kept busy eight hours a day at some useful industry. Such kindergarten work as flag making, basket weaving or sewing will be taboo.

"There's nothing so stimulating and conducive to rehabilitation as genuine hard work," Mrs. Wallace said. "And that is the principle upon which this new prison will be built. It will not be grinding, slave-driving work, but carefully planned to train the inmates in some useful pursuit by which they may find a place for themselves in society after they are discharged."

The report will be in the hands of Governor Young about December 3, it is reported. It will contain a complete program for reorganizing the state's penal system to care for women offenders, as well as a design for the prison and the recommended location at Delhi.

Legislation looking to the establishment and financing of such an institution will be made part of the report, and will be introduced in the 1929 legislature as part of the administration's program.

ATTACKS HOSIERY DISPLAY

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Artificial legs for the display of silk stockings in shop windows are a menace to public morals, in the opinion of the Rev. P. Y. Knight, Vicar of the village of Ryehope, near Sunderland. When the Vicar gazed upon a display in the shop of the local draper, he paid the draper the price of the legs, on condition that they be taken from the window and burned.

Holds Up Pants And Ends Holdup

BIGGS, Calif., Dec. 3.—(UP)—His dignity was more important to him than his life, and it earned a severe beating for Chris Comos, local restaurant man.

Summoned to the door of his cafe at a late hour by bandits, he had no time to adjust his suspenders.

When the bandits ordered "hands up," the pants slipped down, and so did his hands. One bandit rapped him over the head with a revolver butt to the crisp command, "keep them up."

The affair was repeated with minor variations, until Chris yelled so loudly that the bandits fled.

Circus Poster Is Basis Of Lawsuit

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—(UP)—Under a suit for $5000 on file here a judge must decide if the

Whiskers Feature Annual Cat Show

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—(UP)

—A whiskerino contest will feature the eighteenth annual show of the Pacific Cat club here December 6 and 7.

The longest whiskers, regardless of purity of breed, will win. Since the wild, or alley variety, cat grows the longest whiskers, the cross breeds will be rated as favorites for this award.

Entries for the show have closed, with more than 500 aristocrats of the feline world entered from all parts of the west.

Christmas Cookery

In some homes, special little cakes for Christmas are an established custom. If there is a Swedish grandmother about the place, she will be busy for weeks before Christmas with her cooking. If one can find a Danish friend somewhere, one can learn to make the delicious Danish pastry. From the French one can receive instructions in making the dainty little cakes that are "made in France."

We always wanted to know what Petit Fours were. See if they sound good:

Take small circles of sponge cake, split and fill with peach jam. Roll in fondant, roll again in chopped brazil nuts. It would make anyone hungry just to listen to the recipe.

Pleasing Change

That's a sample of French cakes. A French menu for a meal would offer a pleasant change from the accepted roast turkey and cranberries that is so typically American. The main dish in this menu—Chicken Souffle—might be a little less expensive to serve, with turkey usually so high-priced around the holidays. Here is the menu:

Cream of Asparagus Soup
Hors d'Oeuvres
Chicken Souffle
Halibut Steak Saute
Hearts of Lettuce
Chocolate Charlotte
Cheese—Coffee

Chicken Souffle Recipe

For chicken souffle, you will need 1 1-2 cupsful of cold chicken,

1 cup cooked rice, 2 eggs. Add the chicken cut in small pieces, to the rice while hot. Season with butter and salt and chicken gravy. Add well-beaten egg yolks, then stiffly beaten whites. Bake in glass dish until the top is nicely browned.

The fish course may have to be changed to whatever can be bought at the time. The salad course, too, should be left to the hostess' discretion.

Chocolate charlotte made in a mold, then turned out and decorated with whipped cream, will look more like Christmas, with holly atop its mound, and a small Santa to guard it. This would be served on a puff paste in France—but it does very nicely without it.

Chocolate Charlotte

You make chocolate charlotte with whipped cream and gelatin. You will need 1 quart of heavy cream, sugar, 1 teaspoon of vanilla and 3 teaspoons of gelatin; two squares of bitter chocolate will flavor this.

Whip the cream, sweeten and add the vanilla. Dissolve the gelatin with cold water, set in pan of hot water to melt. Add to this the melted squares of chocolate. Cool. Set the cream in a pan of ice water and stir in the gelatin gradually. When it begins to stiffen, pour in a mold. Use whipped cream and holly to garnish it, when serving.

A Swedish Christmas menu is distinctly individual. It starts with a cold fruit soup—certainly that has a foreign sound, hasn't it?

Ice Cold Fruit Soup, Croutons
Wiener Schnitzel—Mashed Potatoes
Carrot Pudding Salad
Apple Meringue

Coffee Pepperkorn
It's a Swedish Cake

If the last "Pepperkorn" is not spelled right, any Swedish housewife will know what is meant—little cakes that are so important a feature of Swedish holiday celebrations.

Since space is limited, the recipes for the main dishes, only, will be given.

Cold Fruit Soup

3 pints of water, 2 cups of orange juice, 2 tablespoons potato starch, 1 cup sugar, 2 oranges. Bring the water and juice to a boil and add sugar to taste. Dissolve the starch in cold water and thicken the mixture. Let boil three minutes. Add the two oranges sliced thin, and let cool. Serve with whipped cream and croutons of fresh bread, fried golden brown in butter.

Wiener Schnitzel

(Breaded veal patties) — Two pounds veal steak, 3 tablespoons salt, 2 cups water, 1 cup grated bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons of flour, 18 small boned anchovies, 1 lemon sliced, 2 tablespoons capers. Wipe the meat with a hot cloth. Cut into patties 3 inches square and pound. Mix the salt and water. Dip the meat in and dry on

Country Club Members Plan Many Affairs For Holidays

Santa Ana's very small folk will have an opportunity to visit with Santa Claus on the afternoon of Friday, December 21, and tell him of their plans for Christmas day when he will visit the Santa Ana Country club where a special party for the children will be held under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. McGilvray.

All of the things to eat of which boys and girls are most fond will be there—candy, ice cream, cake, red apples, oranges. And Santa Claus will be there to enjoy every moment of it with the young guests.

On Christmas day itself another gala event will take place at the country club when an informal dance will be held for members of the club and their guests. Excellent music has been provided for the affair which will be one of the most interesting of the season.

Members wishing dinner will be served from noon until 8 o'clock on Christmas day, according to Mrs. McGilvray.

Other activities planned for the month of Christmas at the country club will be the monthly bridge party Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The party will be preceded by a luncheon which will be served in the solarium from 12:30 o'clock until 2 o'clock. Appropriate prizes have been selected for the winners of the afternoon's game. Members have been requested to make reservations for the occasion and to state whether they are for bridge or for both the bridge and the luncheon.

On December 14 the monthly evening bridge party will be held. A delightfully planned dinner will be served from 6 o'clock until 8 o'clock when playing will start. Punch and wafers will be served during the evening. Members have been asked to phone in their reservations as early as possible.

DEATH VALLEY SCOTTY TALKS ON OWN PHONE

TONOPAH, Nev., Dec. 4.—(UP)—For the first time, Death Valley Scotty's famous ranch in Grapevine canyon is hooked up with the outside world by telephone.

"It's mighty convenient," says Scotty. "Not long ago my favorite mule was sick and if the phone had been working I would have had a specialist out from the coast. I nearly lost the best animal in my string."

When the Bullfrog railroad recently abandoned its line between Goldfield and Beatty, Albert Johnson, the Chicago multi-millionaire, who is building a million dollar "shack" on the ranch and installing a $35,000 pipe organ to entertain Scotty and his mules, purchased the wire and poles and established a phone service from the ranch to Goldfield, where it connects with long distance.

Johnson divides his time between Chicago and the ranch and he says "I need it when I am away to confer with Scotty on important matters."

Johnson has already spent a million dollars on the "shack" and other improvements, including miniature lakes, pipe lines, electric power and lights, a palace for the mules, ice plant and costly furniture for the "shack" brought in from all parts of the world, and is well started on the second million.

What it is all for is as much a mystery today as it was three years ago. Both Johnson and Scotty declare it is not a money-making scheme.

MOVIE EXTRAS AT HOLLYWOOD GET OVERTIME

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—(UP)—In their ceaseless search for fame, Hollywood girl movie extras have found that long hours before the cameras bring something else besides Kleig eyes, Will J. French, director of the department of public relations told Gov. C. C. Young. In response to an order by the State Industrial Welfare commission, movie studios have agreed to pay women extras overtime for work which extends beyond eight hours. Male extras have been extended the same payments, French reported.

The daily round from studio to studio also has been largely eliminated through a free employment agency, French said.

PARROT WARNS PASSERSBY OF SAFE BURGLAR

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 4.—(UP)—"Hello! Hello! Ha, ha, ha! Lookie!"

And with such a hub-bub from the favorite parrot in a Portland bird store two clerks stopped work to look. They saw a man going through the store safe evidently searching for valuables.

While the parrot screeched applause the clerks went into action and overpowered the prowler. The police were called and the man was taken to jail.

The clerks explained to officers that the stranger came into the store several times to admire the parrot and finally paid a small amount down on the bird, agreeing to return with the remainder.

According to the story of the clerks he returned to visit the safe rather than his "installment" parrot, which turned burglar alarm.

HANDICRAFTS MORE FUN THAN PLAYING BRIDGE

By FLORENCE LAGANKE

In this day of bridge tournaments it takes quite a bit of courage to write about handicrafts. Handicrafts presume the use of leisure time, and any one who has a moment to spare—and many who have none—spend their time at the bridge table.

But nevertheless there may be a few benighted souls like myself who have not succumbed to the lure of the game. We still like to do other things with our hands. It is for that sort of person that I write today.

I want to talk about two books that have recently come to my desk. The first one is called "Metalcraft and Jewelry." The author is Emile Kronquist and the publisher is the Manual Arts Press.

To those of you who have been in educational work that publisher's name is significant. You know that the book has an appeal for the amateur, the sort of person who elects some handwork in school.

The book discusses work with gold, silver, brass and copper. Rings, brooches, pins, fobs, bowls, trays and desk sets are planned in detail.

The one point that especially appealed to me was the simplicity and detail of instruction. I liked, too, the definite information which was given regarding the purchase of materials.

I had the feeling, as I read the book that I would like to try my hand at some of the designs. Wouldn't you like to make some book ends, or a platter with cut work, or a tall slender bud vase?

Camp Counsellors.

This book ought to be popular with camp counsellors. Handicrafts are usually taught at summer camps. Here is a simple, easy and authoritative book on the subject.

I remember the fascination that handicraft shops at Chautauqua used to have for me. I played around with tooled leather but never progressed to the point of metal work. This book makes me feel that I might be able to do something with it.

But just about the time I was sure that I would have to send for a jeweler's catalog and lay in a supply of flat nose pliers, gravers with handles, silver solder, sulphuric acid pickle pan, not to mention silver and gold, I came across another book called "How to Decorate Textiles." The author is Zelda Branch and the publisher is Dodd, Mead & Co.

And after I had read that I decided that I was going to apply for a month's vacation and stay at home and play with textiles. Because I am more familiar with a needle than a graver I confess that the book interested me mightily.

The reading of it gave me another argument against becoming a bridge fan. I could have such fun decorating textiles if only I had the leisure.

Painted Fabrics

Painted fabrics are much the rage at the present time. She tells us how to create the design, stretch the material and apply the paint. She tells a way in which the lovely colored designs on imported wall paper may be transferred, colors and all, to georgette crepe, flat crepe, crepe de chine, woolens and deep pile velvets. The name of the commercial product which is used is given. I have decided that that is going to be my first venture.

Do you remember spatter work, and have you ever seen a seed picture? Do you recall those crocheted afghans that had small squares of gay color joined with a frame of black? All of these old time decorations are discussed in the books. I must confess that I prefer to read about them rather er than to create them. Were they ever artistic enough to warrant a return? I doubt it.

The book is intensely practical. There is much more information in it than appears on the surface. The English is a bit involved, but there are few waste words. So often a book of this type is two-thirds words and one-third information. This is not true of Miss Branch's book.

What with the book on metalcraft and on textile craft, I am going to have a gay time in my spare hours. I don't know whether the house will have blossomed like a rose when I have finished or whether it will be more like a sunflower, but at any rate I will have had the fun of creating something. And what more can one want?

Annual Dance For Ebell Young People Always Enjoyable

Among the many delightful Christmas affairs which have become an annual custom is the dance which is held during Christmas week for the Ebell young people by their parents, and the afternoon party which precedes it for the children.

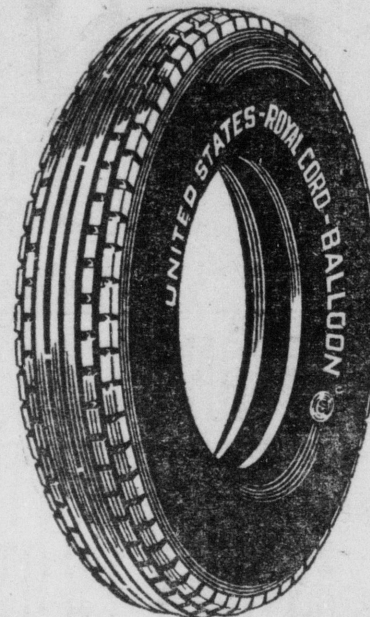

This charming custom was started in 1924 when Mrs. Terry Stephenson was president of Ebell and it proved such a success that year that it has become one of the most looked-forward-to events of the season.

Patrons and patronesses at that first dance included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar, Mr. and Mrs.

W. H. Haddon, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Cruickshank, Mrs. E. E.

College Folk Center of Social Activities At Christmas

Now that the sycamores have shed their leaves and the mistletoe is visible clinging to graceful gray limbs and the scarlet berried holly of California is to be seen on all of the hills and newspapers publish the number of days until Christmas, the thoughts of society turn toward the many joyous affairs that always mark the holiday season here.

The college folk returning from various institutions of higher education located the length of the Pacific coast, bring a joy of living and bubbling enthusiasm with them which is expressed in a the more venturesome spirits wander off in search of a dance or an entire party may attend the theater either here or in Los Angeles.

An dthen there are the afternoon affairs sacred to femininity.

Many college girls plan delightful luncheons or teas for the holiday season. At this time engagements are announced, guests are honored, or the parties are merely a happy means of spending an afternoon.

There are motor trips to Lake Arrowhead, Big Bear valley, Los Angeles playgrounds, Forest Home and other places where winter sports may be enjoyed. And those who do not care for the snowy country visit the desert where the sandswept wastes and miles of desert sage always appeal to the sercher for the beautiful.

Some of these gay young people are interested in hiking and in horseback rides and they visit our own Santa Ana mountains for this sport where the hills are already turning a faint green following the fall rains.

There are dinner parties planned by the mothers of the younger social set who are willing to go to great length that their offspring may enjoy their always too brief vacations. These dinners are followed by bridge or

JUDGE DISCOUNTS DOGS' CARESSES

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—(UP) A San Francisco divorce court judge balanced up a case here and reached the decision that caressing seven daschunds each morning was more to be tolerated than kissing another woman.

Briant H. Hutchins and his wife,

Freda, were before Judge Thomas F. Graham with charges and counter charges.

"She made me say good-bye to seven dogs every day," protested Hutchins. "They were daschunds and got hair on my clothes." The husband maintained his wife thought more of the pups than she did of him.

Mrs. Hutchins countered with the accusation that she saw her husband kiss another woman and that he "thought more of this woman than he did of me."

A BOX FOR THE DRESSING TABLE

An Ideal Xmas Gift

One of the loveliest ornaments for the dresser is a box to contain jewelry, handkerchiefs, or odds and ends. It also makes an ideal Christmas gift. Choose if possible, a wooden box with a cover. A pasteboard box, such as candy or stationery comes in, will do but is less permanent. The best size will depend on the purpose, but one 5 inches wide by 6 1/2 inches long is always useful.

First, paint all the inside of the box with any desired color of enamel paint, as turquoise-blue, orchid, pea-green. If the articles among which the box is to be placed have any definite color scheme, the box should harmonize with them. If in doubt, however, choose black.

Making the Flowers

Now make a dozen little silk flowers, thus: Take a piece of silk one and one-quarter inches long and three-quarters of an inch wide. Fold this in the center, the long way. Run a shirring thread through it close to the doubled edges, then draw the thread tight and fasten. With the fingers shape the silk somewhat to resemble a rose. Tuck the ends of the silk under so they will not show.

The roses may be made of any scraps of silk. They should be of several colors. For instance, if out of the dozen three are of delicate pink, two of deep rose-pink, two scarlet, two orchid, and two light blue, the predominating effect will be pink. If one wishes the predominating effect to be orchid, have five of the flowers of shades of orchid and lavender, two light blue, two light yellow, and three in shades of pink.

With thread catch these little flowers all together, first sewing two together from the back, then a third, and so on. Arrange them so they will lie flat, or one may allow the center ones to stand out just a trifle, bouquet fashion. When all are caught together with thread put some good fresh glue, that has been warmed a little over the stove, on the top of the box lid, in the very center. Put more glue on the backs of the flowers and stick them in place. Press them down very gently to make them stick, taking care not to crush the flowers. Leave them for at least 24 hours to dry. While they are drying, cover the rest of the outside of the box with the same enamel paint as has been put inside. Bring the enamel up close on to the borders of the flower mat, as it will help keep its edges down.

Now purchase a little gold paint or metallic paint in a deep gold color. A little of the latter goes a long way. With it the dealer will furnish a special liquid to mix with the dry powder to make it stick on. When buying gold for this kind of decorative work, always get the darkest shades, rather than a light shade. The metallic paint comes in a great variety of colors, as silver, bronze, blue, red, lavender, etc., all richly-glowing hues, and any of them may be used instead of the gold if preferred. Gold, however, is always satisfactory.

When the enamel on the box is dry, cover the lid of the box with the gold, bringing it up onto the flowers that border the flower mat. Also lightly gild the uppermost petals of most of the silk flowers. This is so they will seem a part of the box itself, rather than look like "something stuck on." It is better to have too much gold on them than not enough, but put it on thin so the colors shows through.

Open the box and paint the inside of the lid with the gold, also let it extend an inch down the sides. In putting on the gold over the enamel, don't try anywhere to conceal the color beneath; but let the color show here and there just a little. This gives a much more artistic effect.

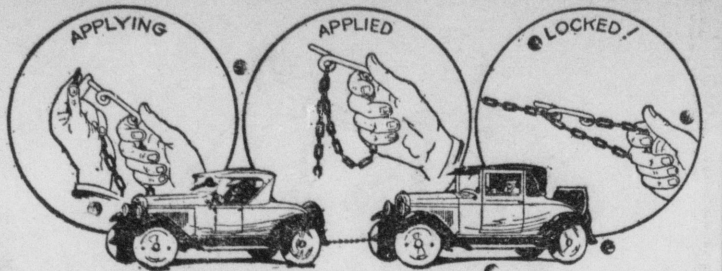

If the lid has a little "catch" to fasten it, leave that in the plain enamel color. If it has nothing, stick a large brass-headed tack into the lid in the front edge, letting its head stand out far enough to be grasped.

Other boxes, instead of having one large flower decoration in the very center, may have two small ones, one at each end of the cover; and a very tiny box may have just a few flowers glued in one corner.

Napkin Rings

The same kind of decoration is used with charming effect on napkin rings. Some seen recently at a fashionable jeweler's, were rather high-priced, but they could a towel. Roll in crumbs and fry in butter, both sides. Place the patties on a platter. Make a brown gravy by pouring boiling water into the frying pan. Pour the gravy over the patties. On each patty place 1 slice of lemon, 2 halves of anchovy and add a few capers. Garnish the platter with mashed potatoes.

Carrot Pudding

Two small bunches of carrots, two eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon grated fresh breadcrumbs, 2 tablespoons butter. Beat the eggs, add salt, milk, crumbs and carrots, partly cooked and grated, and melted butter. Butter a baking dish and line with crumbs. Place the mixture in this and put in a moderate oven. Cook until thoroughly set and crumbs are brown.

Apple Meringue

12 to 15 apples, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 1 1-2 tablespoons of butter, 1-2 a lemon, juice and rind, 2 egg whites, 5 tablespoons of sugar, 1-2 cup almonds. Pare apples, cut in eighths and remove cores. Place apples in pan over the fire, adding butter, sugar, lemon juice and rind.

Heat slowly until apples are soft. Beat egg whites stiff, adding sugar gradually. Butter the baking dish and place apples in it. Put egg whites on top. Blanch almonds, cut in strips and stick in eggs. Bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned. Serve with cream.

Variety to the Menu

With these unusual and tempting dishes, from other countries, you can vary the Christmas menu. With these suggestions and your own traditional cakes, candies and breads, if you have such, your family will call your name blessed. As for tradition, you can always start one—if for instance, you are a bride and beginning your career as a housewife. And there is a distinct advantage in starting a tradition—you can arrange it exactly as you please, while those that are handed down—well, they may not prove satisfactory.

Herewith our very best wishes for your Christmas cookery!

Synchronization Plan Opposed As Being Wasteful

WASHINGTON Dec. 4.—The commission designated for hearing four applications of the Continental Broadcasting corporation, of New York City, for the use of high frequencies as a means of synchronizing stations.

The engineering division of the commission has recommended against granting these applications because of the wasteful use of high frequencies which this particular system involves, it apparently being necessary to use two high frequencies for every broadcasting frequency on which synchronization is to be attempted.

Scarf clasps and rings of imitation jade, carnelian, lapis lazuli and amber are worn with the new scarves and are an important accessory of this vogue.

The ring itself may be made of a strip of thin pasteboard, 2 inches wide and 7 1/2 inches long, which allows one-half inch for lappings the ends to make a firm joining. Glue the lapped ends together, slipping paper fasteners or wire clothes pins over both edges to hold them in place until dry. Over this lapped part glue a small mat of roses like those just described, for the box, but make them a little smaller in size and do not have so many of them.

If the pasteboard is white to start with, no foundation paint need be used. Just go over the entire ring, outside and inside, with bronze paint, then over that here and there put on patches of dark gold, so as to give a mottled effect. Don't forget to touch up the roses also with both the bronze and the gold, and put it on heavily around the edges.

This kind of work is very easy and simple to do, and take very little time; but the effect is very smart and lovely indeed.

Copies of Reboux's latest model in draped turbans are made of transparent velvet to harmonize with the velvet frocks.

The scarf is given more prominence than ever in fashion's realm and is being worn on all occasions. A wide range of fabrics are used. One of the newest creations in this line is the bat wing scarf of velvet.

Small hats continue to lead in the millinery vogue. Brims are for the most part irregular, with cutout sections, lapped ends and swaggering dips.

Can a Woman Have a Bag Too Many?

If there is an affirmative voice, it will be lost in the overwhelming rumble of the negatives.

For present day fashions decree a bag for every costume. A bag, sometimes, to match the shoes. This season's bags are a little larger and a shade flatter, with elaborate fastenings, and intended to be worn under the arm. Really very smart—and procurable in a number of fine, soft leathers.

A handbag selected at Beisel's is a wise choice for your Christmas gift—a safe choice!

This store planned its selection of Christmas handbags many months ahead of the holiday season. These bags interpret the newest vogue; they harmonize perfectly with the season's costume and are offered in the finest selection of leathers, materials, colors and designs.

MANY ARTICLES ARE USED FOR CHRISTMAS TREE ORNAMENTS

By LYDIA LEBARON WALKER

The mother who is planning to have a Christmas tree, and who finds her supply of ornaments must be bought, often has to do a good bit of calculating in order to have enough for the tree to look gaily decked out. It is wise to begin to make some of the decorations now, or at least to lay aside articles that can be transformed into ornaments. It takes but little work, and practically no outlay to make some of the articles.

Big sparkling glass ornaments can be fashioned from old electric light bulbs. Metal paint will supply a sheen, or ordinary oil paint (house paint will do) varnished afterwards. Or the paint while wet can be dusted with gold, or silver "snow" in powdered form. Wire can be wound about the metal top of the bulb and brought up on two opposite sides, then twisted together and shaped into a hook by which to hang the ornament evenly from the tree. For these sparkling ornaments old bulbs must be saved,—and perhaps gathered from one's friends to increase the supply.

Brilliant Balls

Save tin foil in any and all colors. It can be formed into balls of small or large size, a wire thrust and looped through them which wire should have the other end made into a hook to put over some twig of the tree. Or the foil can be cut into shreds for "snow" to be tossed over the branches and lie glittering and gay.

Smart tassels can be fashioned from spools and tissue paper. Put the spools into a dye pot, or paint them with stain, dye or paint. Have them of many colors for variety's sake. These form holders for the tassel portions of narrow strips of tissue paper. Cut these strips either 1-8 or 1-4 inch wide which when doubled through the center over a wire leave strands 4, 6, 8 or more inches long, according to the size of the particular spool for which they are intended. The bigger the spool the longer the strand should be, of course.

Spool Pompons

Tiny spools for sewing kits or such as buttonhole twist comes on, can have double tassled ends short and fluffy coming from each side of the spool. In this case suspend the ornament by a bit of colored tape, very narrow, such as comes for tying up bundles, or by short lengths of baby ribbon, otherwise useless, or by fancy paper Christmas ribbon. Tie the ribbon or tape about the spool where the silk was wound, leaving ends so long that they can be tied about twigs of the tree. It is not essential that these spools be colored for they are concealed by the ribbon.

Modernistic grape clusters or bunches of cherries can be made from fancy envelope linings. Put a wee ball of wad of cotton batting on a circle of lining paper, glue a length of string to the edge of the paper, and touch the tip of the string with glue and press it on the wadding. Draw the paper edges just touched with the glue along the inside over the wad, to form a ball as big as the size of the paper will permit.

Clusters

When a number of these balls have been made, gather the ends of string together making big balls hang low and small ones high like a bunch of grapes. Cut green paper into grape leaf shape and wire to the top of the bunch. Thrust a length of wire through the knotted string ends as a fastener by which to suspend the grapes from tree branches. Wire hairpins can be used for all uses for wire mentioned.

Many of these ornaments children can make, and they delight in cutting and pasting narrow strips of fancy paper together to make gay chains to fasten on trees.

In Pittsburgh a man went to sleep in some newly mixed concrete and police were forced to cut off part of his clothing and hair to rescue him.

SCALLOPS POPULAR

HERE'S HOW TO GIVE XMAS BAZAAR

Among artists a certain tone of red and a certain green are called "Merry Christmas" and they studiously avoid these colors. That's all right for artists, but when it's Christmas—one just can't get away from red and green altogether. They belong, and one has to use them.

In arranging for a Christmas Bazaar—it would be quite possible to have a number of other colors besides red and green. Why not start with the rainbow for your color scheme and carry that out, assigning to each booth one color and permitting white to be combined with it. The red and green would take their place in this plan, but not side by side.

Pictures a Church Room

A pleasant large room in one church comes to mind. It has a wide fireplace in one corner, and along the wall is a sort of counter over which things can be passed to and from the kitchen.

The entrance is opposite.

If one were to start with violet for the candy booth, blue for the I by booth, green would be the color for the group around the hearth. Then would come yellow which might be assigned to a Box Booth, then orange for the embroidery. Red could be used for cakes and preserves and pink for household wares. We have purposely omitted indigo and have substituted pink.

Idea Shows Even Booths

There, that is a sort of general color plan with seven booths suggested. Now to go further. Some booths could carry out their color all through the main decoration on the booth itself. Others could use their color for a background for a varied color scheme. But the effect on entering the room would be very good, also very homelike, for the hearth—well let's walk right over to the hearth.

You see, we've just come in from out-of-doors and it's pretty cold outside. And the hostess at the hearth says tea and cakes are ten cents and we will just have that, while we are looking around. Tables and chairs would belong to the hearth for serving. And green and white would be so pretty for its decoration, with pine boughs if they are available, and simulated snow crystals. Tiny sprays of holly might be on sale here, for button holes to wear, or to tie on one's Christmas packages.

And speaking of packages, there is that awfully interesting Box Booth with its yellow and white trimmings, next to us, as we sip our tea, and we must go there at once, and examine those fascinating boxes. There are large boxes decorated with wall paper on the floor outside and piled up are smaller holiday boxes.

Set on One's Dresser

There are painted wooden boxes, one or two with mirrors inside the cover. The mirror boxes have hinged lids and are to set on one's dresser. Then there is no end of adorable small boxes and even a tray or two. Well, we will be back because after we've selected a few gifts, we will have to have pretty boxes for sending them in.

Next comes the Embroidery with a pleasant background of orange. How pretty the linens look against it, and the black sateen aprons and house dresses! Beside all the linens, bridge sets, lunch sets, guest towels and tea towels, there is a pile of bags for every possible use. And what do these gay bright colors, in felt compose. Oh, to be sure, it is a holder for a hot handle on a tea pot. The shape is a parrot and he has fine red wings and a green tail, with a yellow head and shoe buttons for eyes. The parrots will not last long for every one is buying them.

Cakes and Preserves

As we pass to the next booth we grow hungry again for here are cakes and preserves, with red and white for their background color. Small jars of preserves are arranged in a box for a gift, each with its white cap, and label! A basket for an invalid is a good idea, with fruit cake in a gay tin box, small jars of preserves, a box of fancy cookies and some candied fruit, all nicely wrapped. And the cakes, well, you know how thrilling Dickens can write of food—well only Dickens could do justice to these cakes.

Next, we come to the Household booth, where all sorts of novelties are for sale. There are ever so many serviceable articles made of pebbled oilcloth with painted designs.

There are aluminum treasures of all kinds—a painted salt and pepper set, painted spice sets, a crumb tray and scraper, measuring spoons, cookie cutters, well—surely one can select gifts for most any member of the family at this booth. Orange has been festively used for the booth, with bows and streamers and you have no idea how frivolous a cake tin feels with an orange sash tied about its waist, with flying ends.

Hungry Once More

This brings us back to the entrance, but we have no intention of leaving. For just beyond is the candy booth and we are hungry again. So we will buy some to eat, and some to send away. Violet is the color used most effectively.

HOW TO GIVE XMAS BAZAAR

tively. Everyone has brought out their favorite recipes and most delicious confections have resulted. The boxes to send away have been thoughtfully arranged, and if truth were told, some of these bought with the best sort of gift intention, will never get farther than home, and there at home—well, it is strange the trick candy has, of evaporating.

There is wild excitement next door and we must see why. There's a grab bag for the youngsters, that's one reason, and toy balloons are being sold, that's another. Blue is the official color for this booth, but balloons just had to be different, and we like the way they have been tied to the top of the booth, and are flying about in a most carefree manner.

Booth of Baby Things

At one end of the booth is a section for baby things and the other end sells toys. We shall have to see all the cunning baby things, tiny dresses, bibs, knitted jackets, and, of course, all kinds of rattles, quite properly made of eatable materials (that is, the paint will come off). Baby will like best of all to sample that interesting object that rattles so fascinatingly.

A plan for a bazaar can include many more booths, and other ideas for things that will sell quickly. This plan is a rather simple one through which the Yuletide spirit must freely run, to make it that success it should be.

An innovation in umbrellas has a large parrot head at the end instead of at the handle. The silk cord is also placed at this end so that when the umbrella is closed it may be carried on the arm. This is quite a novel arrangement, as it gives the impression of having a parrot sitting on the arm. The covers are in red and brown with a red parrot of pyralin and other composition. A tiny parrot of the same material also forms the handle.

A new offering in gloves for sports wear is a suede gauntlet designed by Worth. The cuff is seamed to give it flare and is trimmed with a row of little buttons.

ARTISTIC NOTE IN GIFT BOXES IS EXPLAINED

At Christmas time, an artist in the family is quite an asset, and is ever so handy at suggesting little new ways to wrap the packages and may even be induced to design an individual card. Then again the artist may be more of a nuisance than a help with his original ideas.

For instance, stringing gum drops on the ends of pieces of yarn may make a package look quite different when it starts. But if the post office department lets it lie too close to a radiator somewhere in transit, so that the gum drops melt and make the nice bright red paper run,—on that lovely hand-embroidered chemise you were sending Aunt Evelyn, why then—you see—Aunt Evelyn wouldn't care so much about your artist and his ideas, would she? I think it more than likely that the artist would neglect to replace the chemise, too.

Doing It Properly

If you find a department in a store where wrappings and ribbons are all set awaiting your choice, you really will be safer. Because the people who plan these things for you do not dare make mistakes or experiment in the lovely free way common to artists. (It is permitted that one poke a little fun at his own avocation, is it not?)

There at the store you may find gay new colors and designs in the papers offered. Some firms are showing folded sheets in separate transparent envelopes. The sheet is ready any time to use and is dust-proof.

A thoughtful gift to a friend would be a number of kinds of paper, sent well before Christmas—or would the friend think you were suggesting he had not wrapped his packages attractively in the past? It is a delicate matter to decide.

Tinsel Cord of Colors

With the wrapping paper you will find many suggestions for tying packages. Raffia is used. Tinsel cord of many colors, tinsel ribbons, red, green and white, silken ribbons, holly ribbons are there. Seals, stickers and pretty cards are all spread out too, making any sort of selection from them positively difficult.

Besides all these practical "aids to an attractive gift package" there are tricky methods of tying them shown you. There is the double diagonal tie, across the box twice, and not so easy to do. Then there is the usual around once lengthways, around once the narrow way, ending with a pretty bow in the center of the package.

An unusual effect may be achieved with two colors of paper arranging the folds so that the inner color is shown prettily. This can be done diagonally too, but just between you and me, it looks just a trifle too professional for us to attempt.

Home-made Holiday Cards

To return to that artist in the family. The individual Christmas card designed by him may not be original, but it is sure to be "different." This is not always as desirable as it might be, as in the case of the lady who ordered two dozen cards from her artist friend—printed from hand-cut linoleum blocks. When they arrived, both she and her husband decided they were "different," undoubtedly, but they could not be mailed out.

You see, the artist had wanted to be "different" and had chosen to present three ladies—in what might be called "comparative anatomy"—the artist of course, declining to be held down by generally accepted notions of what is true or beautiful.

Perhaps it is for this reason that engravers and printers have taken pity on the innocent old public and have prepared special cards that can be adjusted to the family needs without calling in an artist.

How more appropriately could we end than:

Our best wishes to you all for the happiest of holidays!

The woman who must wear eye glasses all the time will welcome the new shell rim spectacles with short temples, which fit close to the head without disarranging the coiffure or pushing up the hat.

Lest You Forget!

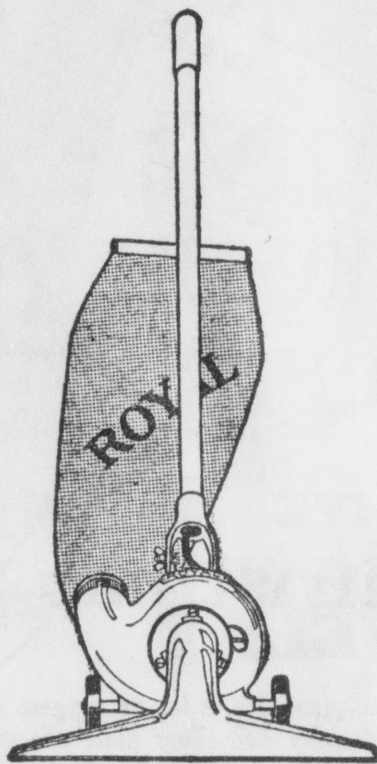

We wish to remind you at this time that we can transplant that Christmas tree after it has displayed its novelties during Christmas.

KIDDIES GIVE XMAS SHOPPING NEW INTEREST

"Darling!" exclaimed a mother, in that tone of patient exasperation one hears sometimes, "you must not touch!"

And the gently unscrambled a fat, brown rhinoceros from the child's blond hair. The counter with the circus animals was a little high for daughter to reach, but she had managed to bring one animal down—into her hair, as it happened!

To enjoy visiting a toy store, one must take a child along. The more imagination the child possesses, the better. A little girl, who started the day pleasantly by inventing a game of her own—of counting all the blue velvet coats she saw—was a great help. She had one objective—a doll—the price to be within a dollar. She wanted a small doll, anyway, she said, so she could make clothes for it.

Do Your Shopping Early

This sort of excursion must be conducted early in the season to be truly enjoyable. One couldn't have near so much fun later, when the aisles are crowded and the salespeople are weary.

After stopping to admire some very beautiful little music boxes that tinkled little bell-like tones, and a glass case with a village, and a whole railroad system in it, switches, a station, street lights, a stop and go sign, and a train, of course, it was decided to go and visit the dolls immediately.

There were just ever so many dolls to choose from, even if one's purchase was limited to one precious dollar. They ranged in size from a tiny person who could hide under a stamp—at least under a Special Delivery stamp, all dressed, too, in a crocheted costume, to a large fat baby doll with a mild blank expression, all of twelve inches high—which was marked "Special, 95 cents."

Take Your Choice in Dolls

There were just a few dressed dolls—most of them were waiting for a small, loving mother to clothe them. How very difficult to choose! There were ever so many sizes of small, jointed dolls, some with eyes that shut and opened, real hair and little painted shoes and stockings.

Here again a careful selection must be made—dark hair or light—blue eyes or brown—four little costumes to choose from. Having chosen a sweet little brown-eyed girlie with a white hat and a red dress, and white shoes and stockings, then, that important matter being settled, one could visit the other dolls at one's leisure.

The young lady often was very much interested in some lovely dolls from Italy. They had pretty "character" faces, fluffy hair, cunning full dresses with bits of bright felt for trimming, and carried most animated expressions. Then there were other American dolls, in quite modern dresses, pretty little corn colored organdie frocks with hand work on the front and tiny, fitted hats to match. The organdie costume came also in rose and apple green.

Dolls From the Funnies

There were the cartoon dolls, too—characters from the funnies, made of stamped, pebbled oilcloth, that should last for some time, even with the most energetic handling.

Oh, yes, there were the doll things to look at. Little trunks that would close and lock. When opened, there was the doll and all her wearing apparel. Some of these supplied brush and comb, and a tiny bar of soap and a wash cloth and towel.

At another place, one could purchase a complete outfit for washing dollie clothes. There was a tub on a little table, a real-for-sure-enough wringer, a clothes basket, a drying stand, and of course, an ironing board and tiny iron would follow.

Come in All Colors

There are only a few that one might call static toys. It is a demand of childhood with all its store of energy, that a toy do something. For the tiny folks—and even they enjoy rattles—there are soft toys to cuddle. Pale pink or blue plush animals of all sizes are waiting in the shop for them. Velvet creatures come in all colors—lavender pups, a fat blue pig and a charming kitten in tan, all ready to spring on a mouse.

But as soon as she or he starts to toddle about, the toy must be capable of more action, to hold the little one's attention. Then come the push toys, with a slender rod attached, so the toy may march ahead. A little boy would like a black bear who struck a drum and clashed cymbals as he was pushed ahead. There are other wooden toys that are to be pulled on a string, instead of being pushed ahead. These are varied from cartoony creatures to a fat duck that strikes her head into a pan, making a lovely rattle-bang every time she moves.

Things for Older Children

For the older children there are activities of many kinds suggested by the playthings. A boy can be an archer, one day after Christmas, and use his bow and arrows.

Another day he can run a bus line for his sister's new dolls. Besides a fine looking bus, there may be a handsome coal truck to engage his attention. These gifts are all constructive. He can be an engineer and construct buildings. He may even find an elaborate concrete mixer below the Christmas tree, ready for his industrious hands.

The Other Fellow's Christmas

By LOUISE STEPHENSON

Remembering that the unfortunate ones has become part of the scheme of things, where Christmas giving is concerned. Perhaps it was the war that brought to our attention those unhappy ones in hospitals and institutions, for whom Christmas would indeed be dismal, did we all forget them.

In one Woman's club, it is a practice to look after disabled soldiers in a nearby hospital at the Yuletide season and plan for their presents and a merry time. Early in December, donations are called for, from members of the club. Christmas boxes are made up and tied with bright ribbons. The contents of each box amount to a dollar in price, so as to keep them uniform. Playing cards, stationery, cigarettes, soap, stamps, toilet water are gifts with which to fill them.

Performers Go to Wards

A Christmas program is planned, groups of performers, going to different wards, to entertain the boys. It is sometimes possible to have a small tree at each bed side—and then again a large tree for each ward is arranged.

In public institutions like county hospitals, poor farms and old people's homes, are many opportunities to arrange for a happy time for others—those whom we might forget.

A bit of real thoughtfulness for one who is shut-in, is a gift of Christmas cards, about a week or two before Christmas, say six to a person, with stamps. He, too, would like to give at Christmas time, and will be especially grateful to be able to remember his friends and loved ones.

Division of the Program

If several clubs were in the vicinity of a single institution, say an old people's home, the Christmas work and planning might be divided among them. One club could see that cards were distributed well ahead of Christmas. Another group could see that those who were able to make things were supplied with materials. For instance the women who could knit might be supplied with yarn and so on.

Another club could take care of a Christmas program, and another the Christmas tree—trees if more were necessary. Another group could take care of seeing that each individual received a present, and arrange for the distribution of these.

In a large hospital, where disabled veterans were placed, a gift of phonograph records was deeply appreciated. Those they had were worn out, from long and hard use, and new ones were indeed welcome.

Green House of Interest

In this same place, it was noticed that gardening was a matter of deep interest to the boys in the summer months, and that a green house would mean a great deal to them, during the winter. That winter the clubs got together and assisted in paying for a green house, so that the boys might continue their joy in growing things through the cold season. This was the Club's Christmas gift and it was indeed a joy to those whom time must drag heavily.

An old fashioned novel wore a title that even now can be considered, especially at the Christmas season, "Put Yourself in His Place" it was called. And a visit by a committee, with this advice in view, to the institution, will reveal many new ideas and ways of helping those who find themselves there. The committee can then report to its club as to the best way of helping and the most urgent need.

It is a custom for some clubs to take a settlement house in charge. At Christmas, the workers in the settlement house are asked for advice, and the club co-operated with them in caring for needy ones. Soap and stockings were the great demand one year—all kinds of soap and any size stockings. These two would not occur to one as being the things most wanted, but investigation revealed this interesting fact.

Is not a Christmas that is shared, the merriest one?

WIDE VARIETY OF GIFTS FOR MEN SUGGESTED

By MARJORIE HOWE DIXON

When the Christmas season approaches and the advertisements everywhere are permeated with gift suggestions, it seems as though every known article of merchandise is offered as a gift—by the advertiser at least.

This year one fully expects to see some advertiser extolling the merits of his plum colored sink (plum being the favorite color of plumbers) and showing a wife accepting it with pleasure from her beaming husband, the faucets being tastefully decorated with holly. Not that we object to mauve or heliotrope sinks! Not in the least. And of course there are wives here and there (no survey has been made as yet) who would prefer a new sink to any other gift they might receive! However, when gifts for women predominate in the gift shops why choose a sink?

Logical Gifts for Men

Appropriate gifts for men are much harder to find. There are always things in leather, and ash trays, galore. But he really can't carry more than seven bill folds, and if he doesn't smoke, what then? Why, then you must strive to find

The Above Means Much to Goodman Customers

A.— Y.— D.—

WE inaugurated as part of this rapidly growing business a service intended to be an aid of the first class to our customers. It is AYD... at your door... and without a penalty of a higher price being charged for it.

The quality of the work is just as good as you can secure from the repair shop... simply because it is road service does not mean in the Jess Goodman organization that the quality of workmanship or materials is cheapened because of the low prices charged for this type of service.

You get the best of everything that we can buy or employ because we have made the AYD Service a highly specialized department.

AT YOUR DOOR

THAT is just exactly what we mean. A. Y. D.—right where you want service. We bring our service to you and moreover it is of the best. A can of glue, some patches, a truck and some one to drive it, constitutes most road service. The AYD SERVICE of JESS GOODMAN is in charge of an expert tire repair man. He is honest in his opinion of just what he can do for you. It is a complete job when a Jess Goodman AYD man leaves. You may know that if he tells you that with normal usage the tire or tube will wear so many miles—it will do it. The AYD man's job is to give you AYD service and not to sell you tires or tubes. We maintain two complete stores and points of securing AYD SERVICE. The Santa Ana store is at 114 N. Main and the phone is 2854. Fullerton AYD service is obtain at 414 S. Spadra, phone 58. GIFT MAKING IS IMPORTANT XMAS FEATURE Gifts to make for Christmas start best with materials at hand. One homely friend, a pot of glue, can start a number of gifts. If you think over the empty boxes there are, and the rolls of material you have laid away, several combinations will suggest themselves.

A pretty gift for girl's room is a hight hat-box—an empty card board box covered with cretonne, with a black bow on top. A desk set in cretonne for her room can be constructed of card-board, glue, time, patience and an ink well.

Gift of Portfolio

Portfolios are lovely and useful gifts. Two heavy card-board covers with a cloth back make the basis. If you have a small-patterned or plain fabric, a pretty picture will improve the cover. If the pattern is large, omit the print. Line the inside with a thinner material and tie a folded blotter into the center with a silk cord.

Such a portfolio can be given to a man if made with a plain cover, or to a woman if designed in cretonne. Pebbled oil cloth may be used for this purpose very nicely and can be decorated with a painted design.

Children love to help make Christmas gifts. On winter days they can be busy and happy with the joy of constructing gifts. A little girl will enjoy making a squirrel dress for a gift. A design for a squirrel about four inches high can be traced from a magazine picture and with a sheet of carbon paper can be transferred to the material. A grey squirrel on a lavender dress, or a brown squirrel on a tan dress would be a good arrangement.

Button hole stitch would do to applique the design on the dress. A leaf with an acorn could finish the shoulder. She could finish the dress if it were kept simple—with rick rack braid for binding. If this is too much for her small fingers, perhaps Auntie or grandma could finish the seams and binding on the sewing machine.

Let Children Assist

Children would enjoy assisting in making a gift to some one dear, of a miniature garden. A large deep die tin is used, or a a gift that fits in with his pet hobby,—his office, or his bridge game. For the latter, are suggested imported cards. A pack of these is of great interest. Instead of the conventional kings, and jacks, each face is different and as fascinating as a portrait. The queens are especially pleasing, with faces of rare loveliness.

For a man's desk there are many desk sets. The new fountain pen holders come in a great variety of design and material. Among the new gift suggestions is a combination calendar pad and diary. This has a fine tooled cover with gold on morocco. The pad within is bound into the cover, and the lower edge of each sheet sticks out below and is perforated at the edge of the cover. Each day is dated and may be torn off.

Books On Open Shelves

Open shelves for books as in a library are becoming a feature of some of the new offices. Besides books, one or two objects d'art may be used appropriately. Should your friend perchance collect pewter, or candlesticks, or old ivory, or clocks, why not place part of his collection on the shelves of his office? Where does the gift come in? Well, you can add to his favorite collection, can you not? Or buy him a lamp that will show off his treasures.

Lamps deserve a complete story in themselves. In the modern art style, a lamp seems to fit very nicely into the formalities of office furniture and furnishings. This is one of the few places where the modern art fits without jarring on its surroundings. In some libraries lamps in this style are good too.

Fine Designs in Lamps

It is quite possible to fit very modern pieces and antiques together as some decorators have already shown us. But it takes skill and knowledge to do this. When it comes to lamps, however, there are so many lovely ones designed, in Italian pottery, Spanish, Colonial, Venetian, that one need not despair.

Before one leaves the subject of gifts for men, there is one line of gifts that is comparatively new,—if you have plenty to spend. This line includes radio cabinets. One of these was of carved oak in Gothic design with appropriate bronze hinges, a lock and door pulls. Another one of interest was covered entirely with petit point. One can imagine it fitting in beautifully in some homes.

Suggestions in Wrought Iron

Where a man and wife have a mutual interest in, say, gardening, the problem of giving to them is simplified. For their indoor garden, there is a number of new suggestions in wrought iron. Flower stands in all sorts of paints and finishes are offered. These hold one, two, three,—six pots or more. One stand resembles a wrought iron gate in its general flat appearance. Here and there on it are arranged pots for trailing vines.

Fancy pottery jars to hold plants are imported from other countries. These are gay and modern in design and color. A number of them are especially designed to hold cactus. If your friend is not collecting cactus you can offer him another variety. There is a clever imitation cactus in pale green velvet that is most deceptive in its pretty little flower pot. Even the spines are imitated.

Breakfast Set for Two

A useful present for a young couple who are starting house-keeping would be a breakfast set for two. Plates, butter plates, cups, egg cups, cereal bowls in pairs, a toast rack, a coffee pot, a hot water jug and the usual sugar and creamer, constitute one set. These are a cheerful buttercup yellow in English china with bright flowers dashed on the sides.

If one were to consider gifts in the electric department there are ever so many that are practical and decorative, too. Waffle irons come in more attractive designs; every year. Percolators too, wear new coats,—new designs. Toasters do everything but think. We haven't found one yet that will ring a bell to remind one's husband (who is reading his paper at the breakfast table and told to "mind the toast") that the toast is done. Ours always finds that out, when it is burned to a crisp. He is so surprised. Even unto the fourth crisp at the same meal.

Electric Grills Useful

The electric grills offered to you these days are enough to convince any bride that a range is quite unnecessary. You can poach eggs, fry bacon, toast and cook a few other things all at the same time,—why buy a range?

Right here, we remember our plum colored sink. And we know this year's advertising will invite the fond husband to buy one of these butter colored ranges, for the little woman for her Christmas. (The color is especially recommended not to show splashes.) It has always seemed to us to be a bit hard on Santa to deliver a range,—with chimneys the way they are new, and all,—but then, perhaps he doesn't mind. We think we will ask him some day. (Note, liberal allowances, say ten dollars, allowed on the old range.)

Throughout the Christmas buying season we are going to offer many special values and new styles in shoes.
These new styles at attractive prices alone are worth coming to see. But we want your dollars to do double duty here. You can actually get a practical gift in the form of a pair of shoes, and a surprise present for your children, at little more than the price you would ordinarily pay for the shoes alone.

Brownbilt shoes make excellent Christmas presents and you may also need a pair of shoes for the holiday.

"Twas the night before Christmas (1927), and all through the house" a murmur arose from father, mother, daughter, and son that the shopping for gifts should have been done earlier, before the stores were so crowded and stocks depleted.

And, simultaneously, these four shoppers resolved that next year they WOULD shop early.

Well, it is still three weeks till Christmas and time to carry out that resolution.

For variety, price and quality we believe Santa Ana stores are best.

WORLD SENDS ITS GIFTS TO S. A. SHOPPERS

The markets of the world have been combed for Christmas gifts for Santa Ana shoppers. The snow-clad wastes of the far north and countries that lie athwart the equator—far off Australia, the Philippines, Europe, Asia and Africa have all contributed gifts that will be taken from their dainty wrappings when Christmas morning dawns.

While the staple stocks of the merchants here represent American made gifts, in almost every store are to be found beautiful addments from foreign lands. From Persia come shawls and rugs that will find their way into Santa Ana and Orange county homes. China makes a contribution of rugs and china. One of the novelties from this country this year are the Chinese skirts, covered with elaborate embroidery which are used for piano scarfs. The sleeve bands which come with these skirts are used for dollies.

Furs that will please many a girl and her mother this year were brought from Siberia, Russia, Alaska and Canada. Embroideries of colorful designs have been made in Bulgaria, laces and perfumes, in France. While watches are nearly all made in America some of foreign make are carried in the stocks of jewelers here. Rings are all of American make but are made from Paris designs, says a Santa Ana jeweler.

Even the father of the family who receives his annual supply of handkerchiefs and neckties at Yule tide may find among his gifts, ties woven in France and Switzerland and fashioned in this country, golf socks from Scotland, handkerchiefs from Ireland, fine madras shirts from Austria and hand rolled handkerchiefs from France.

Silverware for the home, radios, automobiles, furniture, musical instruments and all the larger articles that will bring joy in many homes will be of home manufacture.

Christmas tinsel is American made as is the Christmas rain but the shining balls of silver, gold, green and red are made in Germany. The red and green paper wreaths and the red and green streamers of the same material are made in Japan.

Pottery comes from Czechoslovakia, damasks are brought here for Christmas gifts from Denmark and Ireland. Beads and costume jewelry are also from Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Christmas gifts in the stores make a cosmopolitan array that the average shopper will find hard to resist.

Silk and rayon lace is being used extensively for both afternoon and evening gowns by many New York designers. These are in brown, beige, ecru and black. The patterns are for the most part small and the gowns are made quite smart by clever drapings or by a combination of lace and chiffon.

Evening slippers of black moire with rhinestone buckles are being featured by many of the shops.

GIFT MAKING IS XMAS FEATURE

special tray is made. Rocks and moss are arranged to hold dirt in interesting forms. A small pan can be inserted for a pool. Its edges can be cleverly hidden with pebbles and plants.

Some of the plants suggested are these,—Kenilworth ivy with its little orchid-colored blossom, Chinese primroses,—blue and pink forget-me-not, tiny ferns, violets, tiny cedars and a dwarf maple or two. Lycopodium, a moss of delicate fern-like quality, is excellent for its habit of climbing down, around, and over.

Such a lovely garden would afford endless pleasure to a shut-in. It could be arranged and rearranged. Tiny bridges and stepping stones could be added. Birds and animals of pottery,—small size, could be added from time to time.

Gifts in Needlework

Needle workers have ever at their finger tips, beautiful gift possibilities. A suggestion for them is the use of bright wools, on organdie. Gay dashes of color on an apron, a little lace and there you have a pretty gift for any feminine friend.

A set of pieces for a bed room might consist of a band of embroidery for a valance and a pair of bright bands for curtain tie-backs. A lamp shade to match these in pastel tints with avoils of embroidery would complete an unusually lovely gift.

If a person is clever at cutting linoleum blocks in simple or fanciful design, printing of these in oil paint on natural colored pongee is recommended. Bags, table runners for library tables, portfolio covers, cushion tops suggest themselves.

Here Are the Directions

Suppose you decide to print a dragon y across a bag in two rows. Cut your pongee carefully by drawing threads, to the size you want, allowing for seams and a wide hem, part of which is to hold the drawcords. Pin the pongee on a padded board. (Cover a board with a smooth thick material). To print neatly stretch a dark thread across the material and anchor it with tacks.

Mix enough paint to finish the printing. Browns and purples are suggested for pongee. Burnt orange would be good. Brush the paint evenly over the block and try it on an extra piece of cloth. Lay it at, face down and hit it a single blow with a hammer. This trial print will show you whether or not it has been cleanly cut, and also will show you places that catch the paint and will make daubs where you do not want them.

Without actually laying the block on the pongee measure roughly to see how many times you will be able to print it. Then work from the center out, painting the block after each impression. Results from this are quite fascinating. Children with a little supervision can handle this quite successfully.

Ideas in Unpainted Furniture

Unpainted furniture offers almost unlimited possibilities for gifts. The smaller pieces, magazine racks, sewing tables, clothes hampers, small sets of shelves are always suitable gifts. Directions for using enamel may be had at any paint store these days. To add a final touch there are stencils all cut and ready for use. Or you may choose from a most interesting catalogue a pretty decalcomania that will be the very thing for your purpose. Directions for using these come with them. Fruit, flowers, figures in silhouette are offered you.

Among other gift suggestions for your garden enthusiast is one that would have to be started early. If you collect seeds from your own garden throughout the summer, you can make up gift packets from these. You will probably send your friend fresh seed that he may not be able to obtain from the green houses.

Use of Colored Envelopes

Bright colored envelopes will help the appearance of this kind of gift. These can be tied together with a pretty ribbon or arranged in a box. Flower suggestions will come to you to use. Colored illustrations from your catalogues may be used to decorate the individual envelope or the box.

Whatever you decide to make, to paint, to embroider or to print,—do not neglect its final appearance,—the package in which it is sent. Any gift is valued chiefly for the kindly and loving thought it represents, and this must be displayed in the wrapping of it as well.

MODERN HELP FOR CHRISTMAS

The minds of most of us are on our relatives and our friends at this Christmas time. We are wondering what we can do and what we can give to show our appreciation and regard for them.

We cannot by searching our imagination or trying to recall something that we have not seen, bring to our thought anything that will be helpful to solving the problems that confront us. It is fortunate, indeed, that the merchants of our communities place before us, through the pages of our daily paper, all of the suggestions from every friend and within such limitations as to meet the demands of the slimmest purse as well as that of the largest one.

More and more people are saving themselves from the jostle and push of going through the stress on aimless errands of examination and chance. Rather are the people searching the pages of the papers in the quietness of their homes, and there determining pretty well by picture and description, if not of price, just what they will procure to give that friend. Whether it be a gift personally, or for the home, or for their welfare, for culture, for entertainment, or for comfort they are all spread before the readers as a feast is spread on the table before the diners.

So bear in mind this is a service which is being rendered for you by the merchant. To be sure, he receives his reward, for service is always rewarded, but it is a service never-the-less.

Read the paper carefully with this thought in mind, and if you do not find it in today's issue, watch tomorrow's, and the day following, for it will appear. The merchant who has a message of service for you will give that message and you can depend upon him. The modern up-to-date method is through the printed page, supplemented by the attractive window and the counter display.

We are all children after all. Grown-ups, a few years more upon us, but we enjoy the same character of a thing today that we did in our childhood. Some of us even enjoy identically the same thing. The pretty glass jar of candy, the bright or the mechanical toy, and many things that we were denied in childhood which the children of today possess still have their attractions for the older ones. To be sure, our minds are set more on the useful and the lasting.

We would not over-emphasize the idea of gift because the gift without the giver, to be sure, is bare. But after all there must be some method to show good-will and if we possess it and do not show it, the one toward whom it is extended does not appreciate it. To be remembered is a wonderful thing in life. Sometimes we almost think we are not. It is fine that the Christmas period comes which causes us to deliberate, and, knowingly and intentionally, plan for the joyous hours of another.

One of our great inspirational writers says you naturally have confidence in the person who grasps your hand with a firm, even pressure when introduced to you and holds it a long time but it works just the other way with us and we always suspect he's another candidate.—Ohio State Journal.

CHRISTMAS IS FOR ALL

Maybe there are some people whose hearts are heavy because they feel they have too little money to spend for Christmas gifts. It would be unfortunate for them to harden their hearts toward manifestations of the Christmas spirit because of such a barrier. Much of the beauty and joy of Christmas arises from the tradition of each one doing his or her utmost to express their love and joy in their relationship and contacts with those about them.

Those around a postoffice are better aware than the rest of us of the amount of Christmas spirit conveyed by means of things of small intrinsic worth. It is really wonderful. The pessimist should visit the postoffice. There are many humble packages literally heavy with Christmas spirit. There are thousands of packages of so little actual material value that the sender did not consider them worth insuring, others are insured for only small sums but from this city they travel forth, carrying the messages of good-will and loving thoughtfulness throughout the nation, and some even go into foreign countries.

Truly the important thing is not the money spent but the spirit which has prompted the people to learn and make and gather together the pretty things and the useful things and the things that serve to evidence a happy thought for a household far away.

The Christmas Tree

I pray Thee, Lord, that Thou wilt let me see,
Today, the meaning of the Christmas Tree:

The fadeless green, that speaks of love divine,
Forever changeless as the living pine
Deep rooted in firm earth and rock,
Unshaken by storm's stress and shock—

The lighted candles, symbols of that glowing star
That summoned humble shepherds from afar
To find that purer, holier, sweeter light
That dawned for mortals on that sacred night—

Those branches, laden full with gifts of love—
A love reflected from that heart above
Which knows no bounds, no race, no creed,
But moves in power to meet each human need.

Oh, let my deepest heart forever be
Green with that love that has its sources in Thee.
May Thy pure, holy light unceasing shine
Reflected in this life of mine.
And may my gifts to others ever be Like those Thou has bestowed on me!

—Willis Garland Brown (Christian Science Monitor)

THE LINDBERGH INFLUENCE

"Is it a tough job?" the plumber was asked.
"Naw," said he, "we ought to get it done in two-three hours."
"We?" You and your assistant?"
"Me and me assistant, hell!" answered the plumber. "Me and me WRENCH!"
And he went back to his shop for it.

PROSPECTS

Aunt: So you're going to college? I suppose you will start in as a freshman.
Nephew: Freshman nothing. My Pa nearly owns that college. He ought to be able to get me a position as vice-president of the football association.

SHE UST STOOD THERE

Mopsy: How are you getting along with those golf lessons of yours?
Barbara: My dear, when that odd Pro told me to address the ball I actually couldn't think of a word to say—can you beat it?

OF COURSE

Now that balance and matched sets of golf clubs are in general use, we may expect dialogues like the following to occur wherever the game is played:
"Hey, oe, what did you make it in today?"
"Shot a 96."
"Way off your game, eh?"
"No. I've got to take my clubs to the service station and have them properly tuned."
—Bill Sykes.

UST AROUND THE CORNER

"Button, button, who's got the button?" chanted the teacher.
"The laundry," replied the sophisticated child.

MAIL YOUR PARCELS EARLY

While we are shopping early to save ourselves, and to save the clerks, and to get the pick of the stock in the stores, let us not overlook what is probably the most important reason for shopping early, which is in order to mail early and to ease the last day burdens of the postoffice employees and carriers.

It requires a great heart indeed to fully appreciate Christmas joy when late December days mean long hours sorting and weighing parcels and delivering heavy packages. The only way the post office employees could get their fair share out of all the Christmas spirit they are burdened with would be to get extra pay for every letter, Christmas card or package handled. In that case, the more they had to carry or sort, the bigger their own Christmas would be. As it is now, much of their Christmas is in inverse ratio to what other people have.

New York Times

During the past year forty thousand gloves were left in underground or tube trans in London. The right-hand glove is hastily removed while the passenger digs into his purse for a coin. The discarded glove slips to the floor and in the owner's scurry to get off at the right station is forgotten.

In thrifty European style, a business has grown up for selling single gloves to match these mateless relics. At this rate, the life of a pair of gloves in London should be a long one, for there are special shops also for rethumbing old gloves, or setting in a new finger when one digit has worn out before its time.

A story is going the rounds here of a New Yorker who dropped one glove as he was stepping into a train at Grand Central. As the train pulled out of the station, he realized his loss and quickly threw the remaining glove out of the window. To his staring seatmate he explained that one was of no use to him, and somebody might as well benefit by having the pair. In London such an action would be not only eccentric but downright extravagant.

Another Thought for the Youngsters

Sacramento Bee

Some people are worried by the fact that the average city-dwelling child of today knows all about automobiles, radios and airplanes, but often can not tell a horse from a cow.

It is not at all certain that this is a just cause for worry.

For better or for worse, the world is rapidly being almost completely merchandized. In such a world mechanical knowledge is considerably more useful than knowledge of how to hitch up a horse and buggy.

There is, however, one phase of the matter that may require a little deploring. Some times one wonders if the kids nowadays have as much real fun as they did before everything was ready-made for them and most things, including music, were taught to live in cans.

Chicago Wants Ark of Ancient Noah

Pasadena Star News

Chicago is noed for being more or less modest in its claims to distinction. It blushing will admit, if pressed, that it is just about the best city on earth, and that sooner or later it will be the largest city on earth. Chicagoans are willing that the state of Illinois should have a few townships outside of Chicago's corporate limits. But for all around enterprise and the ego-getting quality, Chicago damits no superior and precious few—if any—equals among the cities to earth.

Here comes Chicago now with an ambitious plan to send an expedition to Mount Ararat to search for Noah's Ark—not the motion-picture, but the real ark, built by the real Noah, that rode out the real flood away back yonder beyond the memory of the oldest inhabitants. And what do you think Chicago plans to do with this ark, should it be found? Nothing less than this—to bring it to Chicago for the World's Fair in 1936. Now, isn't that just like Chicago? Enterprising to a degree beyond which there is no other degree. If any part of the earth as a curio, or an antiquity, or something to excite general interest, that part of the earth should rivet down its attraction and keep its doors locked. For Chicago is going forth in quest of novelties for 1936—and what Chicago seeks, it oftentimes gets.
